LAND REVENUE

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 5 AND 6]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This is a new section shewing the details of land revenue receipts and expenditure. Five years' figures have been given in each table for each province.

The total land revenue, which represents nearly a quarter of the total revenue of India, is made up, on the average of the last 5 years, chiefly of receipts under the following heads :—

Ordinary land revenue	about 90 per cent
Assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents	„ 3 per cent
Capitation tax	„ 3 per cent
Fisheries and miscellaneous revenue	„ 4 per cent

Receipts from the sale of proprietary right, waste lands, etc., and recovery of survey and settlement charges amounted to less than 1 per cent. Land revenue due to irrigation amounts to over a crore of rupees and represents about 4½ per cent of the total land revenue, but is deducted therefrom to arrive at the net land revenue.

The ordinary land revenue amounts to over 26 crores, of which about 6 crores are contributed by Madras and the United Provinces each, 4 crores by Bombay, 3 crores by Bengal, 2½ crores by the Panjab and Burma each, and a crore and a half each by Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Central Provinces and Berar. This head of revenue is not of rapid growth as the permanent settlement system obtains over the greater part of Bengal, nearly a third of Madras, some districts of the United Provinces, and other scattered tracts.

In 1904-05 there was a general rise in land revenue, the increase being most marked in the Panjab as a result of improved irrigation. Madras and Bombay recorded, however, a small decrease owing to partial failure of the rains.

In 1905-06 the failure of the monsoon produced a sinister effect on the revenue in the Panjab. The injury due to the rabi crop in the United Provinces by frost also affected the revenue in that province.

The year 1906-07 was a normal year and land revenue rose by over 1·80 crores, of which Bombay contributed 63 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 44 lakhs, Madras 43 lakhs, the United Provinces and the Panjab 28 lakhs each. Bengal shewed a falling-off of 34 lakhs.

The falling-off of 1·62 crores in 1907-08 is attributable to the suspensions and remissions which were sanctioned on a very large scale consequent on the prevalence of famine. The remissions and suspensions were largest (viz., a crore) in the United Provinces. Bombay comes next with 34 lakhs, and the Panjab and the Central Provinces account for 20 and 11 lakhs respectively.

Bombay contributes over 96 per cent of the receipts from assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents, and the Panjab about 2 per cent, while the share of Bengal is below 1 per cent.

Nearly the whole of capitation tax is derived from Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam being the only other province which contributes towards this head to the extent of 2 per cent.

Burma is responsible for more than a half of the fisheries and miscellaneous revenue. Bombay, the Panjab, the United Provinces, and Madras contribute from 5 to 8 lakhs each; Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Central Provinces and Berar follow with shares varying from 2 to 4 lakhs each.

Land revenue due to irrigation is derived chiefly from Madras, the Panjab, Bombay, and the United Provinces.

The expenditure on land revenue (including district administration), which shews a gradual tendency to increase from year to year, is about 16 per cent of the receipts and represents 4 per cent of the total expenditure.

The detailed items on the five years' averages are :—

Charges of district Administration	45 per cent
District charges	23 per cent
Allowances to district and village officers	12 per cent
Survey and settlements	11 per cent
Commissions on collections	5 per cent
Management of Government Estates and grazing lands	2 per cent

The expenditure on district administration is the highest in Madras and the United Provinces, both of which are answerable for 38 per cent in equal ratios. Bombay comes next with a share of 15 per cent. Bengal and Burma each account for about 11 per cent, the Central Provinces and Berar for 6 per cent, and Eastern Bengal and Assam is responsible for 5 per cent.

Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Madras, and the Panjab share almost equally over 66 per cent of the expenditure on survey and settlements, the Central Provinces and the United Provinces being jointly debited to the extent of 12 per cent only.

The United Provinces lead with a share of 30 per cent of the expenditure under district charges. Bombay comes next with 20 per cent, Madras is answerable for 16 per cent, the Panjab 12 per cent, and the Central Provinces and Burma about 6 per cent each.

Madras spends nearly 63 per cent in "Allowances to district and village officers," Bombay 20 per cent, and the Central Provinces 16 per cent.

FORESTS.

[TABLES 1 TO 9, PAGES 9 to 32]

(Compiled from the annual Reviews of Forest Administration in British India by the Inspector General of Forests)

This is a new section compiled for this issue of Statistics of British India.

The forests under the direct control of the State are classed as "Reserved," "Protected," and "Unclassed" or "Public" forest land.

The "Reserves" are forests intended to be maintained permanently for the supply of timber, fuel, and other produce, or for the protection of the water-supply or other similar reasons.

The "Protected" forests may be either in a state of transition to Reserves or intended to remain permanently in the second class. In the former case it has been found necessary to prohibit within these areas certain acts harmful to the forest until such time as careful examination permits of a decision whether more stringent rules shall be enforced; and in the latter the object in view has been to provide for the more beneficial exercise of rights by local communities.

The "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands are those given over with even fewer restrictions (in some cases to the extent of exemption from the operation of forest law) for the use of the public.

Table No. 1 shows all forest lands and proportion thereof to total area in British India in each year from 1887-88 to 1906-07. Out of the 240,138 square miles under State management in 1906-07, which is 24·3 per cent of the total area (987,749 square miles) of British India, 94,037 square miles or 9·5 per cent were reserved, 9,468 or 1 per cent were protected, and the remaining 136,633 or 14 per cent were unclassed.

Table No. 2 shows all forest lands and proportion thereof to whole area in each province in each of the five years ending 1906-07. These provincial statistics show that in 1906-07, the percentage of forest land varied from 1·8 per cent in the North-West Frontier Province and 3·8 per cent in the United Provinces to 31·1 per cent in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 62·1 per cent in the Andamans, and 72·8 per cent in Burma. The largest area of unclassed forests occurs in those Provinces where the population is scantiest; in fact Burma claims 108,965 square miles or 60·8 per cent of the total area under this head, while Eastern Bengal and Assam appropriates the bulk of the balance, i.e., 22,956 square miles or 24·5 per cent.

Table No. 3 shows the progress of working plans in each province and circle in each official year from 1902-03 to 1906-07. Under the Forest Acts the Provincial Government deputes an officer who compiles a working-plan which regulates the amount and removal of outturn and prescribes the other requisite operations, such as sowing, planting, thinning, and cleaning. Working-plans are generally compiled for periods of 20 to 40 years, after which revision or possibly the introduction of an entirely new system of management will be necessary. Statistics for 1906-07 show that 42,468 square miles or a little over 45 per cent of the area of Reserved forests are worked under regular plans.

The direct value of forests to the State may be gauged by the financial results of their working as shewn in tables Nos. 4 to 7. In 1906-07 the gross revenue collected through the agency of the Department amounted to R2·65 crores and the total expenditure to R1·41 crores, the net revenue being R1·24 crores or R52 per square mile of land under the control of the Forest Department. More than 37 per cent of the total revenue is derived from Burma, while next in importance in this respect come the forests of Bombay and Madras and of the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. The sale of timber and fuel produced R2·03 crores, minor produce R19·50 lakhs, and receipts from grazing R22·04 lakhs. The steady improvement in forest revenue is worthy of note. Between 1887—92 it averaged R1·42 crores. By 1896-97 the quinquennial average had risen to R1·72 crores, by 1901-02 R1·87 crores, and by 1906-07 about R2½ crores. During the same period the expenditure had increased from R81 lakhs to R94 lakhs, R106 lakhs, and R129 lakhs, respectively. The proportion of expenditure to gross revenue was in 1906-07 53 per cent, and of this nearly 41 per cent was spent on administration, 53 per cent on working, protection, and improvement, while about 3·5 per cent was expended on the construction of new Reserves by settlement and on the demarcation and survey operations.

The net revenue of the Indian forests has between 1887—1907 risen from R42 lakhs to R124 lakhs, and the yield of the State forests is, as the result of protection and improvement, more than sufficient to meet increased demands on their produce. It may be added here that timber and other produce from State forests is given free (or at reduced rates) in large quantities to the people resident in the vicinity. In 1906-07 the value of these grants amounted to a very low estimate to about 12·9 per cent of the gross revenue collected in the State forests.

Table No. 8 shows the total outturn from the forests under the control of the Forest Department in each province. It is generally, for the sake of convenience, classed under timber including fuel, bamboos, and minor produce including grass and grazing, besides all those numerous products found or manufactured in a forest. The total outturn of timber and fuel from State forests amounted, on an average of the five years ending 1906-07, to 239,773,400 cubic feet, the average outturn per square mile varies considerably in the different Provinces, being dependent on the intensity of working and the density of the population. The yield of bamboos numbered 225,703,200, of these about two-fifths were supplied by Burma; Eastern Bengal and Assam, the Central Provinces, and Madras coming next in the list. The yield of minor produce from State forests was valued in 1906-07 at R65,90,000, the chief items being grazing and grass, caoutchouc, lac and dyes, cutch and gambier, cardamoms, myrabolams, and other tanning materials.

Table No. 9 shows the results of protection of forests from fire and cattle and of grazing. Fire conservancy operations in British India extended in 1906-07 over 41,839 square miles, which is 47·2 per cent of total area of reserves. The area closed to grazing amounted to 39,609 square miles, of which over 17,000 were in Burma, where cattle are few and vast tracts of waste land are still available outside Reserves. The area closed to browsers, principally goats, amounted to 19,559 square miles situated chiefly in Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar. The number of animals grazed were 10,627,000 on payment and 3,145,400 free.

It has also to be noted that there are in India immense forest areas outside the direct control of the British Government, being the property of Native States or of private individuals, the statistics regarding which are not shewn in these tables.

OPIUM

[TABLES 1 TO 17, PAGES 36 TO 58]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts and from special official returns)

BENGAL OPIUM

The region in which the poppy is cultivated comprises ten districts in Western Bengal, situated in the divisions of Patna, Bhágalpur, and Chota Nagpur, and thirty-five districts in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. The former districts are, in respect of opium, under the control of the Bihár Opium Agent, whose head-quarters are at Patna. The latter are under the Benares Opium Agent, whose head-quarters are at Ghazipur. At each of these places there is a Government factory, where the crude opium is manufactured into the form in which it passes into consumption. The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are regulated by Act XIII of 1857 and are under the general control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and the immediate supervision of the Opium Agents. The possession, transport, import, and export of opium are regulated by rules framed under section 5, Act I of 1878 (the Indian Opium Act).

Cultivation is permitted only under license granted under the authority of the Opium Agent. The area to be cultivated is fixed by the license, and the cultivator is bound to sell the whole of his production to the Opium Department at the rate fixed by Government. This rate was fixed in 1894-95 at Rs. 6 per ser of 70° consistency. Advances, on which no interest is charged, are given to licensed cultivators at the time of executing the agreement, and from time to time (though ordinarily not more than two advances are given) until final delivery. In March or April the opium is made over to the officers of the Department and weighed and tested, and as soon as possible afterwards each cultivator's accounts are adjusted, and the balance due is paid to him.

After weighment the opium is taken to the Government factories at Patna and Ghazipur, where it is manufactured in two* forms—

(a) opium intended for export to foreign countries, mainly China and the Straits Settlements, departmentally known as "provision" opium, and

(b) opium intended for consumption in various provinces† (Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, Burma, and, to a certain extent, the Panjab and the North-West Frontier Province), departmentally known as "excise" opium.

Provision opium is made up in the form of balls or cakes, each weighing 3·5 lb, and is packed in chests, each chest containing forty cakes, weighing 140½ lb. Bihár opium is generally of 75° and Benares opium of 71° consistency. Excise opium is made up in cubical packets, each weighing one ser, 60 of which are packed in a case. It is of higher consistence than the "provision opium."

Provision opium is sold by public auction in Calcutta. A notification is published annually, about the month of June, stating the number of chests from each agency which will be put up for sale in each month of the next calendar year, and the quantities so notified are not altered without three months' notice. Sales are conducted month by month by the Bengal Board of Revenue.

The duty levied by the Government on each chest may be taken to be the difference between the average price realised and the average cost.

Under a convention made in 1815, the French Government has the right to purchase not more than 300 chests of opium each year, at the average price realised for the rest of the opium at the sales. This right has been commuted for a money payment, amounting to R8,000 a year, under an agreement which will remain in force until the 31st December 1912. The agreement binds the French Government to take effective steps for the prevention of illicit traffic in opium between French and adjacent British territory.

Excise opium is distributed from the factories, or from the Calcutta warehouse, to the Government treasuries whence it is issued, on payment, to licensed vendors and druggists only. In the accounts, a sum of R8½ per ser out of the proceeds of this opium is credited under Opium as respresenting the estimated cost of production. The remainder of the proceeds is credited under Excise.

Eastern Bengal and Assam is supplied from the opium factories at Patna and Ghazipur through the Bengal Board of Revenue, and issues are made from the district treasuries to licensed vendors. The cultivation of poppy is not permitted in the Central Provinces and Berar and the only licit supply of opium is Bengal excise opium imported from the Ghazipur factory and supplied to district treasuries.

MALWA OPIUM

Malwa opium is almost entirely produced in the undermentioned Native States in the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, also in Baroda and Khairpur (in Sind), where its production is limited to the Khairpur Taluka and the requirements of the State. It is not produced in British territory, except in Ajmer-Merwara.

In these States the British Government has no concern with the cultivation of the poppy or the manufacture of opium or its local consumption; nor has it any concern with the export, except that it levies a duty on opium which passes into or through British territory, either for local consumption in British India, or for export by sea to China and other foreign countries. It is this duty, commonly called pass-duty, which constitutes the British revenue from Malwa opium and is credited to opium revenue when the opium is passed out for export by sea. The pass-duty on Malwa opium destined for consumption in British territory is an excise receipt, and is as a rule R10 per ser equal to R700 per chest.

The Government is enabled to raise this revenue because the States in which the opium is produced have no access to the sea, except through British territory. The import of the opium into, or transport through, British territory is prohibited, except on payment of the pass-duty and under passes granted under the authority of the Opium Agents. The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India, and the Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara, are ex-officio Opium Agents for their respective charges.

For the weighment of the opium, for the issue of necessary passes, and for the recovery of pass fees, Government has established scales maintained by the Opium Agents, the principal scales being located at Indore, Mandisor, Ujjain, and Ratlam in Central India, and at Chitor in Rajputana. There are also scales at some other convenient places, namely, at Ahmedabad in Gujrat, at Dhar, Jaora, and Bhopal in Central India, and at Ajmer and Baran (Kotah) in Rajputana.

The poppy is sown in Malwa in November, the plants flower in the beginning of February, and by the end of March the whole of the opium has been collected by the cultivators and is ready for sale. The village bankers and others, into whose possession the raw opium passes, usually retain it until the end of April. During May and June it is brought by the large dealers, who make it up into balls of about twelve ounces each, and expose it in storehouses to dry for the next two or three months, after which it is ready for the scales. It is ready for export by September; but as considerable dryage takes place during the transport of new opium to Bombay, it is commonly kept back until October. A chest of Malwa opium contains 140 lb in weight. The opium is of 90° to 95° consistency, and is usually packed in half-chests for convenience of carriage.

From October 1897 until May 1904 the rate of pass-duty was R525 at Ajmer, and R500 elsewhere, on each chest of opium weighed for export by sea. This duty has since been increased by one hundred rupees, under Finance Department Notification No. 2930-A, dated the 6th May 1904. A higher rate of pass-duty is levied at Ajmer, because, these scales being situated in British territory, the opium weighed there is not subject to the dues levied by the Native States. Since 1887-88, however, there have been no exports from the Ajmer Agency, except the export of one chest in 1893-94, 9 chests in December 1904 and 4 chests in February 1906.

Opium which has been weighed and passed for export by sea from Bombay may, after arrival at Bombay, be diverted for local consumption on payment of a higher rate of pass-duty of R725 per chest when the pass was granted at Ajmer, and of R700 per chest when the pass was granted elsewhere. When opium is weighed directly for local consumption and not for export by sea, the higher duty is charged at once. This duty is an Excise receipt.

The pass-duty on opium weighed for export is generally levied in the form of hundis, i.e., bills of exchange drawn on Bombay and payable at six days' sight, and these must be cashed before the consignee can obtain delivery of the opium. At the Ajmer Agency and at Ahmedabad the duty is paid in cash, or by hundis, or bills payable at sight drawn on Bombay. After weighment of the opium and delivery of the hundi, the opium is transported by railway to Bombay under cover of the pass, the cost of transit being borne by the owner. In Bombay it is received by the Collector of Customs who is responsible for seeing that it corresponds with the covering pass and who detains it until the hundi has been cashed. The opium is then warehoused, and is at the disposal of the owner for export or for sale locally, subject to the provisions of the Opium Act and the Bombay Opium Rules.

The cultivation of poppy is prohibited in Madras and Coorg (vide the previous page), and the source of supply is Malwa opium. Since the 1st April 1901, the opium required for the Madras Presidency has been obtained from the Government warehouse at Bombay, stored in two storehouses, one at Tondiarpet (Madras) and the other at Rajahmundry, and distributed therefrom to wholesale vendors at a fixed price. It has, however, been decided to supply Madras with Bengal excise opium with effect from the 1st April 1908.

PANJAB

The cultivation of the poppy was permitted until 1897 (under license for each crop) throughout the greater part of the Panjab except in the districts of Delhi, Gurgaon, Rohtak, Hissar, the greater part of Karnal, and part of Ferozpur, where it has long been prohibited. The total area cultivated was usually about 10,000 acres, but there were only five really opium-producing districts—Ambala, Simla, Kangra, Shahpur, and Dera Ghazi Khan. In the remaining districts opium was either not extracted, or, if extracted, only a small quantity became available for sale by licensed vendors, the rest being surreptitiously disposed of; and the produce was consumed, in the shape of a drink called post made from poppy-heads, either illicitly or after passing through the hands of licensed vendors. The Government of India prohibited poppy cultivation in the case of most districts of the Panjab from the 1st September 1897, cultivation being now (1907-08) restricted, so far as opium production is concerned, to the Thaneswar tahsil and Pehowa circle of Karnal, Ambala, the Kotkhai tahsil of the Simla district, the Kulu sub-division of the Kangra district, Shahpur, and two tahsils of Dera Ghazi Khan. Cultivation of poppy, mainly for the production of poppy heads only (though in Lahore some maunds of opium are produced), is also permitted in the districts of Jalandhar, Amritsar, in the greater part of Lahore, and in one tahsil of Hoshiarpur.

An acreage duty is levied on the cultivation of the poppy, at the rate of R2 per acre in the six chief opium-producing districts, in the Pehowa Circle of Karnal the duty being R4 per acre, and at the rate of R4 per acre in the rest of the province.

A cultivator of opium is not permitted to consume any part of the produce himself. He is bound either to dispose of the standing crop to a license-holder, who extracts the opium and sells it to a licensed wholesale or retail vendor, or to dispose of the produce, either as poppy-heads, or as opium extracted by himself, to a licensed retail or wholesale vendor.

Since the 1st April 1896 a duty of R2 per ser has been levied on the importation into the Panjab of all opium other than Malwa, including opium produced in Kashmir, the Native States, or elsewhere. Upon Malwa opium an import duty of R4 per ser has been levied since the 1st April 1898; its import is at present limited to 638 chests (1,088 maunds) per annum, of which a considerable portion is allotted to the Native States in the province. Imports in excess of 638 chests are liable to the payment of a duty of R725 per chest or over R10 per ser. No such excess imports have, however, been in practice ever made.

The question of improving the existing opium arrangements in the Panjab has been for some time under consideration and it has recently (1906) been decided that the Province should in future draw its supply of opium mainly from the Bengal opium agencies, the supply from Malwa being discontinued and the production of opium within the Province being restricted to Kotkhai and Kulu; the only other sources of supply would then be opium obtained from Kashmir and the Hill States in the Panjab.

BARODA

The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are permitted in Baroda, under a State monopoly for consumption in the State and for export to China. The State has, by agreement, assimilated its retail system and selling prices to those in force in adjacent British districts, and prevents the introduction of Baroda opium into British territory and into the territories of adjacent Native States.

AJMER-MERWARA

In these two British districts, which are surrounded by the Native States constituting the Rajputana Agency, the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium were formerly permitted without restriction, except in the three municipalities of Ajmer, Beawar, and Kekri, and the cantonment of Nasirabad. This course was adopted in consequence of the difficulty of preventing smuggling from the surrounding States. In the three municipalities and in the cantonment of Nasirabad, the license of the Collector was required for the cultivation of the poppy, or the manufacture or sale of opium. The absence of control over the production and disposal of opium in the rural areas, and the freedom of import and export from and to adjacent Native States, afforded ground for the belief that Ajmer-Merwara had become a focus of opium smuggling, and in order to check this illicit traffic, revised Opium Rules were enacted, with effect from the 1st April 1901, for providing adequate control over the production, import, export, transport, and sale of opium throughout Ajmer-Merwara. An import duty of R4 per ser has, since the 1st April 1904, been levied on Malwa opium brought into Ajmer-Merwara for consumption and since the 1st April 1905, an excise duty at the same rate on opium produced in the district.

BURMA

Opium is produced in the Shan States beyond British limits, but its cultivation is prohibited throughout Burma, except in the Kachin villages of the districts of Katha, Bhamo, Myitkyina, and Upper Chindwin in Upper Burma. On the drug produced in British territory an excise duty is levied at the rate of 8 annas for each quarter of a pé (one pé=1·75 of an acre) or fraction thereof, on which the poppy is grown. Land under poppy cultivation is measured by the village headman. The area under poppy is not known, because the localities in which the cultivation is carried on are for the most part beyond the sphere of regular administration. The importation of opium by land from the Shan States or from China into Upper Burma is permitted on payment of a duty of R17 per viss (3·65lb avoirdupois). Neither of these classes of opium may be exported to Lower Burma. Shan or foreign travellers of distinction may, however, import into any part of Burma for the personal use of themselves and their attendants, without payment of duty, Shan or foreign opium in quantities not exceeding 5 tolas for each person.

Under an order issued by the Government of India in February 1898, caravans entering the Myitkyina and Bhamo districts from China or the Shan States are licensed to import for personal use Chinese or Shan opium on payment of a duty equal to the retail price of such opium in the districts in which the license is issued.

Bengal excise opium is procured by Government and stored in the district treasuries, whence it is issued to licensed shops where it may be retailed to persons entitled to possess it, namely, medical practitioners, pharmacists, doctors, tattooers, non-Burmans, and, in Lower Burma, only registered Burmans.

NOTE.—The receipts in Bengal include the cost price of opium manufactured for the Excise Department, namely, the figures in the last column of table No. 2 and the corresponding figures for preceding years. There was, however, one exception in 1871-72, when the cost price R15,49,050 was, by special arrangement, credited to Excise revenue

No. 2

NOTE (1).—All opium imported into China reaches it through Hongkong and Shanghai. But smuggling is extensively carried on between Hongkong and the adjacent coast above and below Canton and at other Chinese ports, and the net imports in the Chinese Customs Accounts state imperfectly the consumption of Indian opium

(2) The figures under the head "Sorts" denote Persian and Turkish opium, chiefly Persian, and bolleid opium

All the opium imported into Siam is believed to be Benares opium, brought chiefly from Singapore

SALT

[TABLES 1 TO 21, PAGES 62 TO 79]

(Compiled from figures specially supplied by the Governments of Bengal, Bombay, Madras and Burma, the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue and (for Gwalior) by the Agent to the Governor General in Central India and published in their respective reports on the administration of the Salt Revenue)

Production

The total quantity of salt produced in India in 1907 was 30 millions of maunds (1,102,778 tons). This quantity was supplemented by about 15 millions of maunds (578,139 tons) of imported salt, the total quantity produced and imported amounting to 45 millions of maunds (1,680,917 tons). From two-thirds to three-fourths of the quantity annually consumed is produced in India. Importation is practically limited to salt landed in Bengal and Burma from England, Germany, other countries in Europe, Aden, Muscat, Jeddah, and some Egyptian ports in the Red Sea. There is a trifling import by land by trans-Himalayan routes.

The localities in India where salt is produced, and the quantity produced (maunds) in each of the last three years, are ;

Burma : on the coast from sea-water and in Upper Burma from brine wells	629,699	812,497	817,359

Bombay : on the coast and in the Runn of Kutch	11,571,797	10,631,156	10,492,489
Madras : on the east coast	10,579,718	11,234,984	9,616,725
TOTAL	32,487,007	31,516,161	30,020,055

For some years previous to 1901, and again in 1902 and 1904, the quantity of salt manufactured by Government was less than the quantity produced by private manufacturers. In 1901 and 1903 the quantity manufactured by Government exceeded the quantity manufactured privately. In 1905 the quantities were almost equal. In 1906 and 1907 the quantity of private salt exceeded the quantity manufactured by Government by over one million maunds.

Sea salt on the coast of Burma is produced by artificial heat ; on the coasts of Bombay, Sind, and Madras by solar evaporation. In Rajputana and Central India the salt is obtained by evaporation from brine deposits at Sambhar and other places. In the Panjab and Kohat, rock salt is obtained from the Salt Ranges and at Mandi, and brine salt from the sources at Sultanpur, near Delhi. More than half of the whole production is represented by sea salt evaporated on the coasts of Bombay and Madras.

Consumption and Revenue

The figures below indicate the progress in consumption in the last twenty years :

Administration

The administrative system for the control of production and the collection of the revenue varies in accordance with local conditions and methods of production. Detailed information regarding the salt administration was given in the 13th issue of the volume of Financial and Commercial Statistics.

Burma

Lower Burma.—Salt is made at scattered points along the coast by the boiling of sea-water and, in a few places, of saline earth, in pots and cauldrons. Manufacture is permitted in ten districts only. In seven of these a system of direct taxation is in force, as in India. In the other three, instead of ascertaining the quantity of salt actually produced, the productive capacity of the vessels employed is estimated, and a charge made on each which is supposed to be about equivalent to the duty on imported salt from time to time. The present rate of import duty is one rupee per maund.

In January 1902 the system of direct taxation on output was introduced into the Hanthawaddy and Bassein Districts, the rate of duty being fixed at eight annas a maund. The system was extended to the Myangmya District in 1903, to the Mergui and Tavoy Districts in 1904, from the 1st January 1905 to the Amherst District, and from the 1st January 1906 to the Kyaukpyu District.

Upper Burma.—In Upper Burma in 1890 a composition duty on the pots or cauldrons used in manufacture was fixed in substitution for previous systems. The duty on salt locally produced is less than the duty imposed on imported salt, viz., R1 per maund, and it is believed that it is not possible to level up the former to the latter without killing the local industry.

Bengal (including Eastern Bengal and Assam)

From the creation of the salt monopoly in 1765, a preventive establishment has been employed for the protection of the revenue for the most part separate from, and independent of, the agency controlling the manufacture and sale of salt.

In Orissa the administration of the Salt Department was made over from the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, to the Commissioner of Excise under the Government of Bengal from October 1897. Advantage was taken of the transfer to create a combined preventive establishment for the whole Bengal littoral, and the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, was extended from the 9th April 1898 to the districts of the 24-Parganas, Midnapur, Khulna, Backerganj, and Chittagong, Bengal Act VII of 1864 also remaining in force in them. In March 1901 the Act was extended to the Districts of Howrah and Noakhali. A proposal for the reorganisation of the Salt Department having been sanctioned by His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in February 1905, preventive operations were started in the Chittagong and Noakhali Districts in October 1905 tentatively for three years. They were also inaugurated on an independent footing in Howrah where they had been carried on tentatively since January 1902, by a small party under the Inspector of the Tamluk (Terapakia) Circle in the District of Midnapur. There is no preventive establishment for the District of Backerganj. No salt is produced or manufactured in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Salt educed in the process of manufacture at the saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its suburbs is subject to a duty of R1 a maund since the 20th March 1907. The salt preventive establishments in Chittagong and Noakhali have been left under the control of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, for another year from 1st April 1908.

The following are the descriptions of salt now commonly imported:

Manufactured by solar evaporation: from Bombay, Madras, Ceylon, Jeddah, Muscat, Egyptian Red Sea ports, Aden, and Spain;

Manufactured by boiling: from Liverpool and Hamburg;

Rock salt: from Muscat.

The rate of duty per maund on salt in Bengal has decreased from R3-4 in 1844 to R1 in 1907.

Northern India

The whole Inland Customs Department (now the Department of Salt Revenue in Northern India) is administered by the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, formerly responsible to each of the local Governments and Administrations within whose jurisdictions the customs organisation worked, but now immediately under the Government of India.

The salt works at Sultanpur in the Delhi Division are worked under the supervision of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department which has also the charge of the mines in the salt range in the Panjab, and of a force designated the Internal Branch maintained in Oudh, the Province of Agra, the Panjab, Rajputana, Bihar, and in Calcutta, for the supervision of the saltpetre trade, the levy of duty on salt educed from saltpetre, and the control of the manufacture of other saline substances, such as sulphate of soda and carbonate of soda.

The general rates of duty on Rajputana salt have varied between R3 in 1877 and R1 in 1907.

Salt excavated in the Sind Saugor Doab and the Kalabagh mines is subject to a duty of R1 per maund since the 20th March 1907 as also salt from the Kohat mines.

Salt educed in the process of manufacturing saltpetre has always been subject to the ordinary duty.

Sind

There are three salt sources in Sind from which salt is now issued to the public, namely, the Maurypur works and the Saran and Dilyar deposits. The Maurypur works, where salt is manufactured by solar evaporation, were opened in the year 1878, and from these the greater portion of the province is supplied. The works are situated on the Moach plain adjacent to the end of Karachi harbour, from which by channels the brine is obtained, reaching the storage wells by percolation through a richly saline soil which greatly increases the strength of it. In 1884 a depôt for the storage and sale of Maurypur salt was opened at Sukkur. Maurypur salt is supplied free of duty to the State of Khairpur, local manufacture there being suppressed.

SALT—concluded

The Saran and Dilyar deposits were opened in 1879 and 1882, respectively. The salt is formed in a lake from which, when the water dries, salt is excavated and stored. It is supplied to the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages of the Districts of Thar and Parkar and Hyderabad.

Bombay

Salt is produced in Bombay for local consumption and for export by land to Central India and Rajputana, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and the Nizam's territories, and by sea to the Malabar Coast of Madras and to Calcutta. Under existing arrangements exports, both by land and sea, pay full excise duty in Bombay, with the exception of those to Travancore and Cochin on which a nominal charge of three pies per maund only to cover cost of establishment at the salt pans, is levied in accordance with a trade convention concluded with Travancore and Cochin in 1865.

Except in Guzerat, the excise system is followed, under which licenses are issued for private manufacture at approved places which are guarded, and whence no removals are allowed, except upon payment of duty, or under credit for payment. In Guzerat, where all the works in British territory are the property of Government, the monopoly system was introduced in 1873-74, and manufacture was concentrated at two places—Kharaghora on the borders of the Runn, and Dharásna on the sea coast of the Surat District. At Kharaghora salt in large crystals is made from brine wells under departmental supervision, bought from the manufacturers as made, stored, and sold at the cost and risk of Government. At Dharásna the salt is ordinary sea-salt and Government merely fixes the price at which it is to be sold without taking it over or interfering directly with manufacture. A small quantity of salt is issued annually free of duty from the works at Kharaghora to certain Native States and Chiefs in pursuance of the arrangements for the establishment of the monopoly.

Madras

There are two systems of salt manufacture in the Presidency, under one of which the salt manufactured is sold to Government only and is disposed of by Government to the trade, whilst under the other Government levies an excise duty, plus a small and varying cess to cover interest on capital cost of works, the property of Government and the cost of any repairs effected by it on account of the licensees at the time of removal from the factory, and allows the manufacturers to make such arrangements as they please for the disposal of the salt. In both cases the production of salt is only allowed in well-fenced factories and subject to Government supervision, but, except in matters endangering the revenue, little interference is exercised in the details of manufacture under the excise system. The rate paid by Government for its salt varies, but may be taken roughly at an anna and a half per maund. This is only the bare cost of manufacture and does not include cost of works, storage, transport, etc. The duty on salt is ordinarily payable before the salt is removed from the factory, but six months' credit may be allowed to approved merchants on the deposit of security in Government promissory notes and a few other specified kinds of securities.

In Malabar no salt is manufactured, and that region is supplied by imports from Bombay, Goa, and other places.

By agreement the French Government undertakes to prevent the manufacture of salt throughout its possession in India, and in consideration receives payments annually aggregating R4,41,600, and obtains its supply of salt at cost price. The authorities of the French settlements in Madras indent on the nearest British factories for the salt they require and undertake to sell it at the approximate prices charged in British territory. The correspondence is not complete because they sell by measure and not by weight.

Until 1865 the manufacture of salt was a Government monopoly in Travancore and Cochin, the selling price in Travancore being R1-1 a maund, and in Cochin annas 12. In that year both the States agreed to adopt the British Indian selling price of salt.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Madras Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at cost price (that is, cost plus cost of transport from the factory) were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 136 such yards in 1907-08.

NOTE.—This table states the quantity of salt actually consumed in each province, and the duty thereon calculated at the rate in operation in each province, except that the figures under Bombay include salt exported to the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Central India, the Central Provinces, Mysore, and the Nizam's Territories. From the 18th March 1903 the general rate of duty was reduced from R2½ to R2 per maund, and in the case of salt manufactured in certain Kohat mines the duty was altered from R2 per Lahori maund to R1½ per Indian maund. A further reduction in the general rate from R2 to R1½ per maund took effect from the 22nd March 1905. The general duty was again reduced from R1½ to R1 per maund with effect from the 20th March 1907. In Burma the rate remains unaltered, namely, R1 per maund

(a) The sums entered under Duty include duty on excised as well as on imported salt. The quantity of the former is not entered in the figure under Quantity, only rough estimates being available

(b) Figures for Eastern Bengal and Assam have been excluded from the 1st October 1905. The quantity actually consumed in the province is not available

STAMPS

[TABLES 1 TO 13, PAGES 81 TO 100]

(Compiled from special official returns)

The stamp revenue is derived from two great classes of stamps—judicial or court-fee stamps and non-judicial or revenue stamps. Judicial or court-fee stamps are provided for by the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870; non-judicial stamps by the Indian Stamp Act, II of 1899. Both these Acts have been amended from time to time by subsequent legislation.

The immediate control of the stamp revenue is vested in the local Governments, subject to the general supervision of the Government of India.

The stamps are manufactured in England, the quantities required for consumption being sent to India on annual indents. They are consigned to the Central Stamp depôts at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, and Karáchi, whence supplies are distributed to local depôts and offices on indent. The Central depôts supply the requirements of the different provinces as shewn below:

Calcutta . . .	Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Central India, and the Central Provinces (in regard to stamp for copies).
Madras . . .	Madras Presidency and Coorg.
Bombay . . .	Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), the Central Provinces (except in regard to stamp for copies which, as stated above, are supplied from the Calcutta Depôt), and Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana.
Rangoon . . .	Burma and the Andamans.
Karáchi . . .	Sind, Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, the Panjab, Rajputana (except Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana, which, as stated above, are supplied from the Bombay Depôt), the Residency treasuries in Kashmir, and the Khorasan Agency treasury.

In each province there is an official—the Superintendent or Commissioner of Stamps, as the case may be,—(in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Madras he is a member of the Board of Revenue), who ordinarily combines other functions with the function of administering the stamp revenue. Stamps are sold by certain officials (such as postmasters) and by licensed vendors whose business is conducted under rules framed by the local authorities, and to whom stamps are supplied in quantity at various rates of discount.

Two kinds of stamps—adhesive and impressed—are used to denote the payment of duty on instruments; and impressed stamps are again of two classes, namely, impressed sheets, the paper bearing the impression of stamps of varying values engraved thereon, and impressed labels which are affixed to instruments by Government officers empowered to do so. These officers are required, when affixing the labels, to impress them by means of stamping machine, and also to stamp or write on the face of the label the date of impression, their initials being added when the duty amounts to five rupees and upwards, and their signatures (under the label) when the duty amounts to twenty rupees or more. The centres provided for the purpose of affixing and impressing labels are—the Calcutta, Chittagong, Godavari, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara collectorates; the Moulmein, Akyab, and Bassein treasuries; the office of the Deputy Commissioner of Kamrup at Gauhati; the offices of the Superintendents of Stamps at Madras, Bombay, Lahore, Rangoon, Karáchi, Nagpur, and Aden; and the office of the Commissioner of Stamps, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

The various classes of stamps with their values are—

[TABLES 1 TO 14, PAGES 104 TO 137]

(Compiled from special official returns)

During the ten years ending with 1907-08 the net receipts from the excise duties increased from R5,47,70,443 to R8,89,94,818, the increase being at the rate of 62 per cent. The receipts from opium (consumed in India, not exported) rose from R1,00,06,615 to R1,51,85,697, being at the rate of 52 per cent. The chief increase occurred in the net receipts from liquors and from drugs other than opium (including miscellaneous receipts), which rose from R4,47,63,828 to R7,38,09,121, the increase being at the rate of 65 per cent. This large increase is due, not merely to the expansion of consumption, but also to the imposition of progressively higher rates of duty and the increasingly effective control of the excise administration.

Madras contributes the largest proportion of the liquor revenue, about 31 per cent, Bombay and Bengal contributing 20 and 17 per cent respectively.

The revenue from drugs (excluding opium) has risen in the ten years from R53,08,874 to R88,49,498, the increase being at the rate of 67 per cent.

The sources of the excise revenue, and the gross revenue obtained from each in 1907-08, are :

	R
Beer	6,37,050
Opium	1,51,85,697
Intoxicating drugs, other than opium	88,49,498
Miscellaneous	2,71,409

The incidence in 1907-08 of excise taxation per head of the population (according to the census of 1901) is :

	a.	p.
Bombay	14	1·92
Burma	13	7·04
Central Provinces and Berar	10	4·53
Madras	9	7·93
Bengal	5	4·65
Eastern Bengal and Assam	3	6·79
Panjab	3	0·07
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	2	11·97
North-West Frontier Province	1	11·46

The incidence per head in all British India was 6 annas.

Of the excise revenue of Bengal 23 per cent was obtained in Calcutta. The cities of Bombay and Madras yielded 9 and 8 per cent respectively of the revenue of those provinces :

Below are stated the rates of excise duty on liquors, opium, and other drugs levied in each province during 1907-08 :

EXCISE—concluded

The figures formerly given in these tables were revised in 1905, owing mainly to the inclusion of the duty on Malwa opium realised in the Panjab from 1882-83, the exclusion of certain receipts on account of the Excluded Local Funds in the Central India Agencies from 1893-94, and the inclusion of the license and distillery fees and duties realised in the Military Department from 1897-98 and of the excise revenue for Bangalore from 1900-01, which had hitherto been omitted from the head "India, general."

Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for these provinces have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shown under the head of " spirits " and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out from the year 1878-79, except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available.

The tables which follow have been restricted to twenty-five years. For figures for the years prior to 1883-84, the 1st issue of Statistics of British India—Part IV(b) Finance and Revenue—may be referred to.

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This is a new section compiled for the first time for insertion in this part of Statistics of British India. It gives details of Provincial Rates, which include, amongst others, (1) District Local Fund cess, (2) Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, famine assurances, canals, etc., and (3) cess for village services and patwaris. These three items represent respectively 67, 16, and 13 per cent of the total receipts during the quinquennium ending 1907-08. The total receipts are about 3 per cent of the total Indian revenue.

The District Local Fund cesses on land were imposed in most provinces in 1870 and 1871. They are in general collected jointly with the land revenue and rise or fall with it. Madras contributes about 25 per cent of the total collections, the United Provinces 22 per cent, Bengal 16 per cent, Bombay 11 per cent, and the Panjab, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Burma between 7 and 8 per cent each.

Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, etc., are mostly levied in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam; and cess for village services and patwaris is chiefly collected only in Madras and the Central Provinces and Berar.

The so-called famine cesses levied in the United Provinces, the Panjab, and the Central Provinces were remitted during 1905-06, and the remissions were partly compensated for by enhanced receipts in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

During 1906-07 the patwari cess in the United Provinces, the Panjab, Ajmer, the Central Provinces, and the Sambalpur district of Bengal was repealed, and the ryotwari village service cess in Madras, the village service cess in Coorg, and the zamindari dâk cess in Bengal and Eastern Bengal were abolished.

In 1907-08 the proprietary estates village service cess was extended to Madras.

The expenditure on account of establishment and other charges is about 5 lakhs and is incurred in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Burma, and Bombay.

CUSTOMS REVENUE

[TABLES 1 TO 5, PAGES 142 TO 152]

(Compiled from Official returns and the customs circulars published by the Government of India)

The first two tables of the series state the amount of duty collected each year, and the others state the rate of duty imposed on all principal articles of merchandise by the schedules of the various Tariff Acts passed since 1882 and thus constitute a history of the legislation respecting customs duties since that year. For the rates for sarlier years, the 1st issue may be referred to.

Import duties. —From 1859 to 1864 the general rate of import duty was 10 per cent, this heavy rate having been imposed as one of the means of redressing the financial position which had been seriously affected by the mutiny of 1857. The rate was found to be so high as to operate in restriction of consumption, and in 1864 it was reduced to 7½ per cent. That rate was allowed to remain until 1875 when it was reduced to 5 per cent. In 1882 the import duties were repealed, the only articles left on the tariff schedule being liquors, arms, opium (the latter giving a nominal revenue, as the duty is meant to be prohibitory), and salt. The last-named article appears at the foot of the first table, but the collections are not included in the total of the Customs revenue, as the entire revenue from imported and Indian salt is credited in the public accounts to a separate head (Salt) and is dealt with in another section of this part.

Between 1882 and 1894 the following changes were made in the tariff: the duty on liquors was increased in 1887 and again in 1890, and the duty on salt was increased in 1888; a duty was imposed on petroleum in 1888, and on dry and wet salt-fish imported into Burma from any place beyond the limits of British India in 1893.

In March 1894 the tariff was re-established much as it had stood in 1875: imports generally were subjected to duty at the rate of 5 per cent, but the duty on most classes of iron and steel was fixed at 1 per cent, and a few articles remained exempt from duty, the most important being food-grains, machinery, railway material, coal, and cotton yarn and manufactured goods.

In December 1894 cotton yarn of a certain fineness and cotton manufactures containing such yarn were made dutiable at the general rate of import duty (5 per cent), but a further change was made in February 1896, when cotton yarn and cotton sewing thread were exempted from duty, and the rate of duty on all other cotton goods irrespective of fineness was reduced to 3½ per cent. The imposition of a duty on imported cotton goods was accompanied by the imposition of an equivalent excise duty on cotton goods woven in the Indian mills.

In 1896 the exemption of machinery was restricted to machinery required for certain specified industries, and from time to time additions were made to the list of industries. In 1899 the restriction was removed and all machinery was exempted without reference to the industry for which it was required. In the same year sugar imported from countries which grant bounties on export was charged with an additional duty equivalent to the bounties, and in June 1902 an amendment of the Tariff Act, VIII of 1902, authorised special duties being imposed on sugar produced in countries where the difference between the rate of duty or other taxation to which foreign sugars are subject and that imposed on the home product exceeds 6 fr. per 100 kilos for refined sugar and 5 fr. 50 centimes for other sugar, the duty being limited to half such excess. Such special duties were imposed from time to time by notifications on sugar produced in Austria-Hungary, Germany, France, Denmark, the Argentine Republic, and Russia. Section 8-B of the Act, in pursuance of which these special duties were imposed, expired on the 31st August 1903 but an amending Act passed on the 28th August 1903, authorised the continuance, until the 31st March 1904, of the duties which had been imposed under that section. By a further Act passed on the 25th March 1904, the same section was revived and continued in force with effect from the 1st April 1904 and the special duties are still chargeable on sugar imported from Denmark, the Argentine Republic, and Russia. The additional and special duties were however remitted by notification in respect of sugar produced after the 31st August 1903, in countries which had adhered to the Brussels Sugar Convention of 1902. These countries are Belgium, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. The duties have also been remitted in respect of sugar produced in Russia with effect from 1st September 1908.

By Act I of 1906 the rates of import duty on ordinary spirits were raised from R6 to R7 per imperial gallon, on liqueurs from R6 to R10, and on perfumed spirits from R8 to R11.

By Act II of 1908 the rate of duty on ale, beer, porter, cider, and other fermented liquors was raised from one anna to two annas per imperial gallon.

Export duties.—The general rate of export duty from 1859 to 1867 was 3 per cent. Many articles were subject to taxation in 1859, but the list was gradually reduced until, in 1867, it consisted of cotton manufactures, indigo, rice, wheat, and other grains, tanned and dressed hides and skins, lac, oils, seeds, spices and shawls. The list was then further gradually reduced, until finally rice alone remained in 1882, this being the only dutiable export at present, besides rice-flour, which has been subject to duty since August 1893.

A customs duty at the rate of a quarter of a pie (one forty-eighth of an anna) per pound has also been levied, from the 1st April 1903, on all tea produced in India and exported from any customs port to any other

Customs revenue.—The revenue from the import and export duties in the three quinquennial periods ending 1896-97, 1901-02, and 1906-07, and in the year 1907-08 is stated below (in rupees). The great expansion of the export duties in the three years 1902-03 to 1904-05 is due to the large rice crops in Burma, of which an unusually large proportion was exported to foreign countries, owing to the good harvests in India and consequent smaller demand for Burmese rice.

INCOME TAX

[TABLES 1 TO 11, PAGES 154 TO 161]

(Figures supplied by the Local Governments and Administrations)

The Income Tax Act, II of 1886, came into operation on the 1st April 1886. It took the place of various local Acts under which annual licenses were required for the exercise of trades, dealings, or industries. The net revenue obtained from the taxation imposed under those Acts, which were in force in the provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, and the Panjab, was, in the last year of their existence, ₹47,28,000; in the first year of the operation of the Income Tax Act the net revenue realised was ₹1,27,75,100. The proceeds of the tax increased steadily from year to year at an average rate of 3 per cent annually up to the end of 1902-03. With effect from the 1st April 1903 the taxable minimum of income was raised from ₹500 to ₹1,000 by the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903. The tax is now levied at the rate of four pies in the rupee on incomes of ₹1,000 but less than ₹2,000, and five pies in the rupee on incomes of ₹2,000 and over (2·08 and 2·6 per cent respectively). The proceeds of the tax on incomes of ₹500 but less than ₹1,000 was, in 1902-03, 37 lakhs of rupees or 18 per cent of the total. The net decrease in the proceeds of the tax in the year 1903-04 was 14 per cent. The revenue obtained from incomes of each of the descriptions specified in the Schedule of the Act, and the proportion of each, were in 1905-06, 1906-07, and 1907-08 :

I.—Salaries and Pensions	56,93,396	= 28·97 per cent	59,76,597	= 28·23 per cent	63,18,130	= 28·15 per cent
II.—Profits of Companies	19,34,073	= 9·84 „	26,98,565	= 12·74 „	28,24,574	= 12·59 „
III.—Interest on Securities	10,18,747	= 5·18 „	10,51,655	= 4·97 „	10,99,250	= 4·89 „
IV.—Other sources of Income	1,10,07,282	= 56·01 „	1,14,44,822	= 54·06 „	1,22,02,060	= 54·37 „
TOTAL	1,96,53,498	=100	2,11,71,639	=100	2,24,44,014	=100

The variations in these proportions since the Act came into force have been small.

The total collections comprise the actual tax collected in the year and the arrears of previous years. Refunds are not deducted from the figures shewn as "collections" in these tables. They amounted to ₹61,320 in 1905-1906, ₹64,304 in 1906-07, and ₹82,675 in 1907-08, being about one-third of 1 per cent on the total collections. The figures for each province are as follows :—

Burma	5,816	4,022	4,432
Assam (Eastern Bengal and Assam)	1,445	1,778	1,231
Bengal	8,999	5,153	6,754
United Provinces	6,148	7,332	5,323
Panjab	6,235	6,442	11,495
North-West Frontier Province	1,499	634	1,680
Bombay	2,715	4,143	15,507
Central Provinces and Berar	6,786	12,826	11,507
Madras	21,677	21,974	24,746

The total number of persons assessed to the tax has always been a very small fraction of the total population. In the first year it amounted to 354,594. In 1902-03 it was 507,041. The result of the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act of 1903 was to reduce the total number of assessees to 237,673 or 47 per cent of the number assessed in 1902-03. In 1905-06 the number rose to 252,910, in 1906-07 to 261,981, and in 1907-08 to 265,328. The number of persons assessed to income-tax, exclusive of Government servants assessed on their salaries, in the principal Provinces in 1907-08 and the incidence of the tax per head of population were as follows :—

	Number	Incidence per head of population
Bombay	44,723	3	9·9
Burma	16,653	2	5·94
Bengal	45,472	1	5·96
Madras	43,339	1	0·79
Panjab	21,723	0	10·67
North-West Frontier Province	1,791	0	8·08
Central Provinces and Berar	7,925	0	7·59
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	29,322	0	7·40
Eastern Bengal and Assam	16,442	0	5·96

The collections of the tax in 1907-08 classified according to the amount of annual income were in classes I to IV (annual incomes of ₹1,000 to ₹2,000) ₹45 lakhs, and in classes V to XIII (annual incomes of ₹2,000 and upwards) ₹179 lakhs. The first four classes, that is, those paying the rate of four pies in the rupee, contain 170,053 assessees or 65 per cent of the total and return only 20 per cent of the total collections. The other nine classes contain 90,784 tax-payers who pay 80 per cent of the total collections. The total income on which the tax was assessed, calculated from the amount of tax paid, was in round figures 9,004 lakhs of rupees, equivalent to about £60,000,000. The annual income of the tax-payers in the first four classes is 2,148 lakhs of rupees making an average of ₹1,263 for each assessee. The total income of the tax-payers in the nine higher classes was 6,856 lakhs of rupees which gives an average of ₹7,553 for each assessee.

NOTE.—(1) The figures in these tables do not exactly correspond with those of the Finance and Revenue Accounts, as they are taken from the administration reports, and include in some cases collections made after the close of the financial year

(2) The variations in the figures for 1905-06 of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam are due to the territorial changes in those provinces in 1905

(a) The Act was not enforced in Burma until the 1st April 1888

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This table has been prepared for the first time for incorporation in this part. It shews the details of receipts from Tributes from Native States. The contributions are made chiefly in lieu of former obligations to supply or maintain troops, and form a small return for the duty undertaken by the Supreme Government in ensuring the peace of the country.

The total receipts are less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue. The tributes and contributions amount to over 86 per cent, and those for special military forces are nearly 10 per cent of the total receipts. Fees on succession are on the average about 4 per cent.

Madras contributes about 50 per cent, India, General, which includes the Bhopal, Bundelkhund, Rajputana, and Central India Agencies, 22 per cent, Bombay 17 per cent, and Burma 5 per cent.

INTEREST RECEIPTS

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This is a new section compiled for this issue of Statistics of British India.

These interest receipts do not include interest on public works capital. The most important items included under this head of revenue are the loans and advances made by the Imperial Government to the Presidency Corporations and to Native States, as well as those by the Provincial Governments to moffasil municipalities and cultivators. The amount of the interest accrued on the former comes to about 42 per cent and on the latter 18 per cent of total receipts. This head also includes the interest on the securities held by the Paper Currency Department which contributes over 31 per cent of the total. There are other minor items, such as interest on securities of provincial funds, on arrears of revenue, and on overdrawn capital of guaranteed railways, which are included under this head of revenue.

The total receipts amount to a little over one per cent of the total Indian revenue. India, General, which includes the transactions of the Government of India, contributes a half of the receipts, Bombay about a fifth, Bengal a sixth, and Madras 5 per cent of total receipts.

In 1903-04 an advance payment of interest by the Bombay Port Trust led to an increase under Bombay. In 1905-06 there was a falling off in Bombay on account of the unfavourable season having adversely affected the recoveries of interest on loans granted to cultivators.

LAND REVENUE

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 5 AND 6]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section shews the details of land revenue receipts and expenditure. Five years' figures have been given in each table for each province.

The total land revenue, which represents nearly a quarter of the total revenue of India, is made up, on the average of the last 5 years, chiefly of receipts under the following heads :—

Ordinary land revenue	about 90 per cent
Assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents	„ 3 per cent
Capitation tax	„ 3 per cent
Fisheries and miscellaneous revenue	„ 3 per cent

Receipts from the sale of proprietary right, waste lands, etc., and recovery of survey and settlement charges amounted to less than 1 per cent. Land revenue due to irrigation amounts to over a crore and a half of rupees and represents nearly 5 per cent of the total land revenue, but is deducted therefrom to arrive at the net land revenue.

The ordinary land revenue amounts to over 27 crores, of which about 6 crores are contributed by Madras and the United Provinces each, 4 crores by Bombay, 3 crores by Bengal, 2½ crores by the Panjab and Burma each, and a crore and a half each by Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Central Provinces and Berar. The permanent settlement system obtains over the greater part of Bengal, nearly a third of Madras, some districts of the United Provinces, and other scattered tracts.

In 1904-05 there was a general rise in land revenue, the increase being most marked in the Panjab as a result of improved irrigation. Madras and Bombay recorded, however, a small decrease owing to partial failure of the rains.

In 1905-06 the failure of the monsoon produced a sinister effect on the revenue in the Panjab. The injury due to the rabi crop in the United Provinces by frost also affected the revenue in that province.

The year 1906-07 was a normal year and land revenue rose by over 1·80 crores, of which Bombay contributed 63 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 44 lakhs, Madras 43 lakhs, the United Provinces and the Panjab 28 lakhs each. Bengal shewed a falling-off of 34 lakhs.

The falling-off of 1·62 crores in 1907-08 is attributable to the suspensions and remissions which were sanctioned on a very large scale consequent on the prevalence of famine. The remissions and suspensions were largest (viz., a crore) in the United Provinces. Bombay comes next with 34 lakhs, and the Panjab and the Central Provinces account for 20 and 11 lakhs respectively.

In 1908-09 there was a rise in land revenue by 1½ crores owing mainly to large collection of famine arrears. The largest increase took place in the United Provinces (1·25 crores), Burma and Madras standing next with 22·7 lakhs and 4·15 lakhs, respectively.

Bombay contributes over 96 per cent of the receipts from assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents, and the Panjab about 2 per cent, while the share of Bengal is below 1 per cent.

Nearly the whole of the capitation tax is derived from Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam being the only other province which contributes towards this head to the extent of 2 per cent.

Burma is responsible for more than a half of the fisheries and miscellaneous revenue. Bombay, the Panjab, the United Provinces, and Madras contribute from 5 to 13 lakhs each; Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Central Provinces and Berar follow with shares varying from 1½ to 4 lakhs each.

Land revenue due to irrigation is derived chiefly from Madras, the Panjab, Bombay, and the United Provinces.

The expenditure on land revenue (including district administration), which shews a gradual tendency to increase from year to year, is about 17 per cent of the receipts and represents 6 per cent of the total expenditure.

The detailed items on the five years' averages are :—

Charges of district administration	44 per cent
District charges	23 per cent
Allowances to district and village officers	12 per cent
Survey and settlements	12 per cent
Commissions on collections	5 per cent
Management of Government estates and grazing lands	2 per cent

The expenditure on district administration is the highest in Madras and the United Provinces, both of which are answerable for 38 per cent in equal ratios. Bombay comes next with a share of 15 per cent, Bengal and Burma account for about 12 and 11 per cent, respectively, the Central Provinces and Berar for 6 per cent, and Eastern Bengal and Assam is responsible for 6 per cent.

Bengal leads with a share of 23 per cent of the expenditure on survey and settlements, Madras and the Panjab are responsible for about 16 per cent each; Eastern Bengal and Assam accounts for 12 per cent, while the Central Provinces and the United Provinces are jointly debited to the extent of 11 per cent only.

The United Provinces are responsible for 30 per cent of the expenditure under district charges. Bombay comes next with 20 per cent, Madras is answerable for 17 per cent, the Panjab 13 per cent, and the Central Provinces and Burma about 7 per cent each.

Madras spends nearly 62 per cent in "Allowances to district and village officers," Bombay nearly 22 per cent, and the Central Provinces 16 per cent.

FORESTS

[TABLES 1 TO 9, PAGES 9 to 32]

Compiled from the annual Reviews of Forest Administration in British India by the Inspector General of Forests)

The forests under the direct control of the State are classed as "Reserved," "Protected," and "Unclassed" or "Public" forest land.

The "Reserves" are forests intended to be maintained permanently for the supply of timber, fuel, and other produce, or for the protection of the water-supply or other similar reasons.

The "Protected" forests may be either in a state of transition to Reserves or intended to remain permanently in the second class. In the former case it has been found necessary to prohibit within these areas certain acts harmful to the forest until such time as careful examination permits of a decision whether more stringent rules shall be enforced; and in the latter the object in view has been to provide for the more beneficial exercise of rights by local communities.

The "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands are those given over with even fewer restrictions (in some cases to the extent of exemption from the operation of forest law) for the use of the public.

Table No. 1 shows all forest lands and proportion thereof to total area in British India in each year from 1888-89 to 1907-08. Out of the 237,809 square miles under State management in 1907-08, which is 24·2 per cent of the total area (985,938 square miles) of British India, 94,059 square miles or 9·5 per cent were reserved, 8,853 or 1 per cent were protected, and the remaining 134,897 or 14 per cent were unclassed.

Table No. 2 shows all forest lands and proportion thereof to whole area in each province in each of the five years ending 1907-08. These provincial statistics show that in 1907-08, the percentage of forest land varied from 1·8 per cent in the North-West Frontier Province and 3·8 per cent in the United Provinces to 31·1 per cent in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 62·1 per cent in the Andamans, and 73·9 per cent in Burma. The largest area of unclassed forests occurs in those Provinces where the population is scantiest; in fact Burma claims 107,597 square miles or 60·9 per cent of the total area under this head, while Eastern Bengal and Assam appropriates the bulk of the balance, i.e., 22,675 square miles or 24·2 per cent.

Table No. 3 shows the progress of working plans in each province and circle in each official year from 1903-04 to 1907-08. Under the Forest Acts the Provincial Government deputes an officer who compiles a working-plan which regulates the amount and removal of outturn and prescribes the other requisite operations, such as sowing, planting, thinning, and cleaning. Working-plans are generally compiled for periods of 20 to 40 years, after which revision or possibly the introduction of an entirely new system of management will be necessary. Statistics for 1907-08 show that 45,152 square miles or 48 per cent of the area of Reserved forests are worked under regular plans.

The direct value of forests to the State may be gauged by the financial results of their working as shewn in tables Nos. 4 to 7. In 1907-08 the gross revenue collected through the agency of the Department amounted to R2·59 crores and the total expenditure to R1·45 crores, the net revenue being R1·13 crores or R48 per square mile of land under the control of the Forest Department. More than 33 per cent of the total revenue is derived from Burma, while next in importance in this respect come the forests of Bombay and Madras and of the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. The sale of timber and fuel produced R1·94 crores, minor produce R21·77 lakhs, and receipts from grazing R22·13 lakhs. The steady improvement in forest revenue is worthy of note. Between 1888—93 it averaged R1·52 crores. By 1897-98 the quinquennial average had risen to R1·74 crores, by 1902-03 R1·90 crores, and by 1907-08 more than R2½ crores. During the same period the expenditure had increased from R83 lakhs to R96 lakhs, R108 lakhs, and R156 lakhs, respectively. The proportion of expenditure to gross revenue was in 1907-08 56 per cent, and of this nearly 44 per cent was spent on administration, 51 per cent on working, protection, and improvement, while about 3 per cent was expended on the construction of new Reserves by settlement and on the demarcation and survey operations.

The net revenue of the Indian forests has between 1888—1908 risen from R58 lakhs to R113 lakhs, and the yield of the State forests is, as the result of protection and improvement, more than sufficient to meet increased demands on their produce. It may be added here that timber and other produce from State forests is given free (or at reduced rates) in large quantities to the people resident in the vicinity. In 1907-08 the value of these grants amounted to a very low estimate to about 19 per cent of the gross revenue collected in the State forests.

Table No. 8 shows the total outturn from the forests under the control of the Forest Department in each province. It is generally, for the sake of convenience, classed under timber including fuel, bamboos, and minor produce including grass and grazing, besides all those numerous products found or manufactured in a forest. The total outturn of timber and fuel from State forests amounted, on an average of the five years ending 1907-08, to 237,589, 706 cubic feet, the average outturn per square mile varies considerably in the different Provinces, being dependent on the intensity of working and the density of the population. The yield of bamboos numbered 199,753,565, of these about one-third was supplied by Burma; Madras, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Central Provinces coming next in the list. The yield of minor produce from State forests was valued in 1907-08 at ₹71,39,241, the chief items being grazing and grass, caoutchouc, lac and dyes, cutch and gambier, cardamoms, myrabolams, and other tanning materials.

Table No. 9 shows the results of protection of forests from fire and cattle and of grazing. Fire conservancy operations in British India extended in 1907-08 over 42,577 square miles, which is 49 per cent of total area of reserves. The area closed to grazing amounted to 39,079 square miles, of which over 18,000 were in Burma, where cattle are few and vast tracts of waste land are still available outside Reserves. The area closed to browsers, principally goats, amounted to 20,639 square miles situated chiefly in Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar. The number of animals grazed were 10,448,064 on payment and 4,088,522 free.

It has also to be noted that there are in India immense forest areas outside the direct control of the British Government, being the property of Native States or of private individuals, the statistics regarding which are not shewn in these tables.

OPIUM

[TABLES 1 TO 17, PAGES 37 TO 60]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts and from special official returns)

BENGAL OPIUM

The region in which the poppy is cultivated comprises nine districts in Western Bengal, situated in the divisions of Tirhut, Patna, Bhágalpur, and Chota Nagpur, and thirty-five districts in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. The former districts are, in respect of opium, under the control of the Bihár Opium Agent, whose head-quarters are at Patna. The latter are under the Benares Opium Agent, whose head-quarters are at Ghazipur. At each of these places there is a Government factory, where the crude opium is manufactured into the form in which it passes into consumption. The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are regulated by Act XIII of 1857 and are under the general control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and the immediate supervision of the Opium Agents. The possession, transport, import, and export of opium are regulated by rules framed under section 5, Act I of 1878 (the Indian Opium Act).

Cultivation is permitted only under license granted under the authority of the Opium Agent. The area to be cultivated is fixed by the license, and the cultivator is bound to sell the whole of his production to the Opium Department at the rate fixed by Government. This rate was fixed in 1894-95 at Rs. 6 per ser of 70° consistency. Advances, on which no interest is charged, are given to licensed cultivators at the time of executing the agreement, and from time to time (though ordinarily not more than two advances are given) until final delivery. In March or April the opium is made over to the officers of the Department and weighed and tested, and as soon as possible afterwards each cultivator's accounts are adjusted, and the balance due is paid to him.

After weighment the opium is taken to the Government factories at Patna and Ghazipur, where it is manufactured in two* forms—

(a) opium intended for export to foreign countries, mainly China and the Straits Settlements, departmentally known as "provision" opium, and

(b) opium intended for consumption in various provinces (Madras, Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, Burma, Baluchistan, and, to a certain extent, the Panjab and the North-West Frontier Province), departmentally known as "excise" opium.

Provision opium is made up in the form of balls or cakes, each weighing 3·5 lb, and is packed in chests, each chest containing forty cakes, weighing 140 lb. Bihár opium is generally of 75° and Benares opium of 71° consistency. Excise opium is made up in cubical packets, each weighing one ser, 60 of which are packed in a case. It is of higher consistence than the "provision opium."

Provision opium is sold by public auction in Calcutta. A notification is published annually, about the month of June, stating the number of chests from each agency which will be put up for sale in each month of the next calendar year, and the quantities so notified are not altered without three months' notice. Sales are conducted month by month by the Bengal Board of Revenue. In 1911, 31,440 chests will be sold.

The duty levied by the Government on each chest may be taken to be the difference between the average price realised and the average cost.

Under a convention made in 1815, the French Government has the right to purchase not more than 300 chests of opium each year, at the average price realised for the rest of the opium at the sales. This right has been commuted for a money payment, amounting to ₹8,000 a year, under an agreement which will remain in force until the 31st December 1912. The agreement binds the French Government to take effective steps for the prevention of illicit traffic in opium between French and adjacent British territory.

Excise opium is distributed from the factories, or from the Calcutta warehouse, to the Government treasuries, whence it is issued, on payment, to licensed vendors and druggists only. In the accounts, a sum of ₹8½ per ser out of the proceeds of this opium is credited under Opium as representing the estimated cost of production. The remainder of the proceeds is credited under Excise.

Eastern Bengal and Assam are supplied from the opium factories at Patna and Ghazipur through the Bengal Board of Revenue, and issues are made from the district treasuries to licensed vendors. The cultivation of poppy is not permitted in the Madras Presidency, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Baluchistan, and the only licit supply of opium is Bengal excise opium. In the Central Provinces and Berar and in Baluchistan this drug is imported from the Ghazipur factory and supplied to district treasuries, while in the Madras Presidency it is issued to wholesale vendors, at a fixed price, from two central storehouses, one at Tondiarpet (Madras) and the other at Rajahmundry.

* A small quantity of opium for medical purposes is also made at Patna, and morphia and codeine are made at Ghazipur from opium not fit for other purposes

OPIUM—continued

MALWA OPIUM

Malwa opium is almost entirely produced in the undermentioned Native States in the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, together with the Baroda State. In Khairpur (Sind), it is shown in the Khairpur Taluka but production is limited to the requirements of the State. Of British territory, it is shown in Ajmer-Merwara only.

In these States the British Government has no concern with the cultivation of the poppy or the manufacture of opium or its local consumption; nor has it any concern with the export, except that it levies a duty on opium which passes into or through British territory, either for local consumption in British India, or for export by sea to China and other foreign countries. It is this duty, commonly called pass-duty, which constitutes the British revenue from Malwa opium and is credited to opium revenue when the opium is passed out for export by sea. The pass-duty on Malwa opium destined for consumption in British territory is an excise receipt, and is as a rule R10 per ser equal to R700 per chest. An arrangement has been made between His Majesty's Government and the Government of China whereby the importation of the Indian Opium into China has to be gradually diminished, and in pursuance of this arrangement the exports of Malwa Opium to China during the calendar years 1908, 1909, 1910, and 1911 have been limited to 15,100, 13,600, 12,160, and 15,160 chests, respectively.

The Government is enabled to raise revenue from Malwa opium because the States in which the drug is produced have no access to the sea, except through British territory. The import of the opium into, or transport through, British territory is prohibited, except on payment of the pass-duty and under passes granted under the authority of the Opium Agents. The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India and the Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara are ex-officio Opium Agents for their respective charges.

For the weighment of the opium, for the issue of necessary passes, and for the recovery of pass fees, Government has established scales maintained by the Opium Agents, the principal scales being located at Indore, Mandisor, Ujjain, and Ratlam in Central India, and at Chitor in Rajputana. There are also scales at some other convenient places, namely, at Ahmedabad in Gujarat, at Dhar, Jaora, and Bhopal in Central India, and at Ajmer and Baran (Kotah) in Rajputana.

The poppy is sown in Malwa in November, the plants flower in the beginning of February, and by the end of March the whole of the opium has been collected by the cultivators and is ready for sale. The village bankers and others, into whose possession the raw opium passes, usually retain it until the end of April. During May and June it is brought by the large dealers, who make it up into balls of about twelve ounces each, and expose it in storehouses to dry for the next two or three months, after which it is ready for the scales. It is ready for export by September; but as considerable dryage takes place during the transport of new opium to Bombay, it is commonly kept back until October. A chest of Malwa opium contains 140 lb in weight. The opium is of 90° to 95° consistency, and is usually packed in half-chests for convenience of carriage.

From October 1897 until May 1904 the rate of pass-duty was R525 at Ajmer, and R500 elsewhere, on each chest of opium weighed for export by sea. This duty was increased by one hundred rupees, under Finance Department Notification No. 2930-A, dated the 6th May 1904. A higher rate of pass-duty is levied at Ajmer, because these scales being situated in British territory, the opium weighed there is not subject to the dues levied by the Native States. Since 1887-88, however, there have been no exports from the Ajmer Agency, except the export of one chest in 1893-94, 9 chests in December 1904, 4 chests in February 1906, and 20 chests in 1910.

In connection with the restriction of the exports to China it has lately been decided to levy a duty of R800 per chest on certain chests for whose export in 1912 application has already been made. The duty upon the remainder of the exports of the last mentioned and subsequent years will be levied under a system of tenders from the exporting merchants.

Opium which has been weighed and passed for export by sea from Bombay may, after arrival at Bombay, be diverted for local consumption on payment of a higher rate of pass-duty of R725 per chest when the pass was granted at Ajmer, and of R700 per chest when the pass was granted elsewhere. When opium is weighed directly for local consumption and not for export by sea, the higher duty is charged at once. This duty is an Excise receipt.

The pass-duty on opium weighed for export is generally levied in the form of hundis, i.e., bills of exchange drawn on Bombay and payable at six days' sight, and these must be cashed before the consignee can obtain delivery of the opium. At the Ajmer Agency and at Ahmedabad the duty is paid in cash, or by hundis, or bills payable at sight drawn on Bombay. After weighment of the opium and delivery of the hundi, the opium is transported by railway to Bombay under cover of the pass, the cost of transit being borne by the owner. In Bombay it is received by the Collector of Customs, who is responsible for seeing that it corresponds with the covering pass and who detains it until the hundi has been cashed. The opium is then warehoused, and is at the disposal of the owner for export or for sale locally, subject to the provisions of the Opium Act and the Bombay Opium Rules.

The cultivation of poppy is prohibited in Coorg and the source of supply is Malwa opium.

PANJAB

The cultivation of the poppy was permitted until 1897 (under license for each crop) throughout the greater part of the Panjab except in the districts of Delhi, Gurgaon, Rohtak, Hissar, the greater part of Karnal, and part of Ferozpur, where it has long been prohibited. The total area cultivated was usually about 10,000 acres, but there were only five really opium-producing districts— Ambala, Simla, Kangra, Shahpur, and Dera Ghazi Khan. In the remaining districts opium was either not extracted, or, if extracted, only a small quantity became available for sale by licensed vendors, the rest being surreptitiously disposed of; and the produce was consumed, in the shape of a drink called post made from poppy-heads, either illicitly or after passing through the hands of licensed vendors. The Government of India prohibited poppy cultivation in the case of most districts of the Panjab from the 1st September 1897, cultivation being now (1910-11) restricted, so far as opium production is concerned, to the Kotkhai tahsil of the Simla district, and the Kulu sub-division of the Kangra district. Cultivation of poppy, for the production of poppy heads only is also permitted in the district of Jalandhar and in one tahsil of Hoshiarpur.

An acreage duty is levied on the cultivation of the poppy, at the rate of R2 per acre in the two opium-producing hill districts and at the rate of R4 per acre in the two poppy-head producing districts in the plains.

A cultivator of opium is not permitted to consume any part of the produce himself. He is bound either to dispose of the standing crop to a license-holder, who extracts the opium and sells it to a licensed wholesale or retail vendor, or to dispose of the produce, either as poppy-heads, or as opium extracted by himself, to a licensed retail or wholesale vendor.

Since the 1st April 1896 a duty of R2 per ser had been levied on the importation into the Panjab of all opium other than Malwa, including opium produced in Kashmir, the Native Hill States, or elsewhere. This rate was raised to R6 per ser with effect from the 1st April 1909. Upon Malwa opium an import duty of R4 per ser was levied until the 31st July 1908; but since that date such imports have been stopped. Apart from locally produced opium and that imported from Kashmir, Afghanistan and trans-frontier territory to the west of the Indus, the only other source of supply is now Bengal opium which is obtained from the Ghazipur factory and issued to licensed vendors from district treasuries.

BARODA

The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are permitted in Baroda, under a State monopoly for consumption in the State and for export to China. The State has, by agreement, assimilated its retail system and selling prices to those in force in adjacent British districts; and prevents the introduction of Baroda opium into British territory and into the territories of adjacent Native States.

AJMER-MERWARA

In these two British districts, which are surrounded by the Native States constituting the Rajputana Agency, the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium were formerly permitted without restriction, except in the three municipalities of Ajmer, Beawar, and Kekri, and the cantonment of Nasirabad. This course was adopted in consequence of the difficulty of preventing smuggling from the surrounding States. In the three municipalities and in the cantonment of Nasirabad, the license of the Collector was required for the cultivation of the poppy, or the manufacture or sale of opium. The absence of control over the production and disposal of opium in the rural areas, and the freedom of import and export from and to adjacent Native States, afforded ground for the belief that Ajmer-Merwara had become a focus of opium smuggling, and in order to check this illicit traffic, revised Opium Rules were enacted, with effect from the 1st April 1901, to provide adequate control over the production, import, export, transport, and sale of opium throughout Ajmer-Merwara. An import duty of R4 per ser was levied from the 1st April 1904 on Malwa opium brought into Ajmer-Merwara for consumption, and from the 1st April 1905 an excise duty at the same rate was imposed on opium produced in the district. Subsequently, from the 1st April 1908, the levy of the Excise duty was restricted to opium consumed within Ajmer-Merwara and the duty on opium removed for export outside the district was remitted. Poppy cultivation was at the same time prohibited in the Ajmer district, and a maximum limit of 2,500 and 400 bighas was imposed upon the cultivation in the Todgarh and Beawar tahsils, respectively.

BURMA

Opium is produced in the Shan States beyond British limits, but its cultivation is prohibited throughout Burma, except in the Kachin villages of the districts of Katha, Bhamo, Myitkyina, and Upper Chindwin in Upper Burma. On the drug produced in British territory an excise duty is levied at the rate of 8 annas for each quarter of a pé (one pé = 1·75 of an acre) or fraction thereof, on which the poppy is grown. Land under poppy cultivation is measured by the village headman. The area under poppy is not known, because the localities in which the cultivation is carried on are for the most part beyond the sphere of regular administration. The importation of opium by land from the Shan States or from China into Upper Burma is permitted on payment of a duty of R17 per viss (3·65lb avoirdupois). Neither of these classes of opium may be exported to Lower Burma. Shan or foreign travellers of distinction may, however, import into any part of Burma for the personal use of themselves and their attendants, without payment of duty, Shan or foreign opium in quantities not exceeding 5 tolas for each person.

Under an order issued by the Government of India in February 1898, caravans entering the Myitkyina and Bhamo districts from China or the Shan States are licensed to import for personal use Chinese or Shan opium on payment of a duty equal to the retail price of such opium in the districts in which the license is issued.

Bengal excise opium is procured by Government and stored in the district treasuries, whence it is issued to licensed shops where it may be retailed to persons entitled to possess it, namely, medical practitioners, pharmacists, doctors, tattooers, non-Burmans, and, in Lower Burma, only registered Burmans.

NOTE.—The receipts in Bengal include the cost price of opium manufactured for the Excise Department, namely, the figures in the last column of table No. 2 and the corresponding figures for preceding years. There was, however, one exception in 1871-72, when the cost price R15,49,050 was, by special arrangement, credited to Excise revenue

NOTE (1).—All opium imported into China reaches it through Hongkong and Shanghai. But smuggling is extensively carried on between Hongkong and the adjacent coast above and below Canton and at other Chinese ports, and the net imports in the Chinese Customs Accounts state imperfectly the consumption of Indian opium

(2) The figures under the head "Sorts" denote Persian and Turkish opium, chiefly Persian, and boiled opium

SALT

[TABLES 1 TO 21, PAGES 64 TO 81]

(Compiled from figures specially supplied by the Governments of Bengal, Bombay, Madras, and Burma, the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue and (for Gwalior) by the Agent to the Governor General in Central India and published in their respective reports on the administration of the Salt Revenue)

Production

The total quantity of salt produced in India in 1908 was about 35 millions of maunds (1,279,940 tons). This quantity was supplemented by about 17 millions of maunds (611,343 tons) of imported salt, the total quantity produced and imported amounting to 51 millions of maunds (1,891,283 tons). From two-thirds to three-fourths of the quantity annually consumed is produced in India. Importation is practically limited to salt landed in Bengal and Burma from England, Germany, other countries in Europe, Aden, Muscat, Jeddah, and some Egyptian ports in the Red Sea. There is a trifling import by land by trans-Himalayan routes.

The localities in India where salt is produced, and the quantity (maunds) produced in each of the last three years, are :

For some years previous to 1901, and again in 1902 and 1904, the quantity of salt manufactured by Government was less than the quantity produced by private manufacturers. In 1901 and 1903 the quantity manufactured by Government exceeded the quantity manufactured privately. In 1905 the quantities were almost equal. In 1906 and 1907 the quantity of private salt exceeded the quantity manufactured by Government by over one million maunds and in 1908 by two million maunds.

Sea salt on the coast of Burma is produced by artificial heat ; on the coasts of Bombay, Sind, and Madras by solar evaporation. In Rajputana and Central India the salt is obtained by evaporation from brine deposits at Sambhar and other places. In the Panjab and Kohat, rock salt is obtained from the Salt Ranges and at Mandi, and brine salt from the sources at Sultanpur, near Delhi. More than half of the whole production is represented by sea salt evaporated on the coasts of Bombay and Madras.

Consumption and Revenue

The figures below indicate the progress in consumption in the last twenty-one years :

	Average annual quantity	Average annual duty
	Maunds	₹
1888-89 to 1892-93	33,431,896	8,02,69,704
1893-94 to 1897-98	34,210,675	8,25,80,982
1898-99 to 1902-03	35,678,602	8,67,59,679
1903-04 to 1907-08	39,597,341	6,15,89,957
1908-09	43,017,024	4,32,64,162

Administration

The administrative system for the control of production and the collection of the revenue varies in accordance with local conditions and methods of production. Detailed information regarding the salt administration will be found in the 13th issue of the volume of Financial and Commercial Statistics.

Burma

Lower Burma.—Salt is made at scattered points along the coast by the boiling of sea-water and, in a few places, of saline earth, in pots and cauldrons. Manufacture is permitted in ten districts only. In seven of these a system of direct taxation is in force, as in India. In the other three, instead of ascertaining the quantity of salt actually produced, the productive capacity of the vessels employed is estimated, and a charge made on each which is supposed to be about equivalent to the duty on imported salt from time to time. The present rate of import duty is one rupee per maund.

In January 1902 the system of direct taxation on output was introduced into the Hanthawaddy and Bassein Districts, the rate of duty being fixed at eight annas a maund. The system was extended to the Myangmya District in 1903, to the Mergui and Tavoy Districts in 1904, from the 1st January 1905 to the Amherst District, and from the 1st January 1906 to the Kyaukpyu District.

Upper Burma.—In Upper Burma in 1890 a composition duty on the pots or cauldrons used in manufacture was fixed in substitution for previous systems. The duty on salt locally produced is less than the duty imposed on imported salt, viz., R1 per maund, and it is believed that it is not possible to level up the former to the latter without killing the local industry.

Bengal (including Eastern Bengal and Assam)

From the creation of the salt monopoly in 1765, a preventive establishment has been employed for the protection of the revenue for the most part separate from, and independent of, the agency controlling the manufacture and sale of salt.

In Orissa the administration of the Salt Department was made over from the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, to the Commissioner of Excise under the Government of Bengal from October 1897. Advantage was taken of the transfer to create a combined preventive establishment for the whole Bengal littoral, and the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, was extended from the 9th April 1898 to the districts of the 24-Parganas, Midnapur, Khulna, Backerganj, and Chittagong, Bengal Act VII of 1864 also remaining in force in them. In March 1901 the Act was extended to the Districts of Howrah and Noakhali. A proposal for the reorganisation of the Salt Department having been sanctioned by His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in February 1905, preventive operations were started in the Chittagong and Noakhali Districts in October 1905 tentatively for three years. They were also inaugurated on an independent footing in Howrah where they had been carried on tentatively since January 1902, by a small party under the Inspector of the Tamluk (Terapakia) Circle in the District of Midnapur. There is no preventive establishment for the District of Backerganj. No salt is produced or manufactured in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Salt educed in the process of manufacture at the saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its suburbs is subject to a duty of R1 a maund since the 20th March 1907. The salt preventive establishments in Chittagong and Noakhali were left under the control of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, till the 31st March 1910.

The following are the descriptions of salt now commonly imported :

Manufactured by solar evaporation : from Bombay, Madras, Ceylon, Jeddah, Muscat, Egyptian Red Sea ports, Aden, and Spain ;

Manufactured by boiling : from Liverpool and Hamburg ;

Rock salt : from Muscat.

The rate of duty per maund on salt in Bengal has decreased from R3-4 in 1844 to R1 in 1907.

Northern India

The whole Inland Customs Department (now the Department of Salt Revenue in Northern India) is administered by the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, formerly responsible to each of the local Governments and Administrations within whose jurisdictions the customs organisation worked, but now immediately under the Government of India.

The salt works at Sultanpur in the Delhi Division are worked under the supervision of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department, which has also the charge of the mines in the salt range in the Panjab, and of a force designated the Internal Branch maintained in Oudh, the Province of Agra, the Panjab, Rajputana, and Bihar, for the supervision of the saltpetre trade, the levy of duty on salt educed from saltpetre, and the control of the manufacture of other saline substances, such as sulphate of soda and carbonate of soda.

The general rates of duty on Rajputana salt have varied between R3 in 1877 and R1 in 1907.

Salt excavated in the Sind Saugor Doab and the Kalabagh mines is subject to a duty of R1 per maund since the 20th March 1907, as also salt from the Kohat mines.

Salt educed in the process of manufacturing saltpetre has always been subject to the ordinary duty.

Sind

There are three salt sources in Sind from which salt is now issued to the public, namely, the Maurypur works and the Saran and Dilyar deposits. The Maurypur works, where salt is manufactured by solar evaporation, were opened in the year 1878, and from these the greater portion of the province is supplied. The works are situated on the Moach plain adjacent to the end of Karachi harbour, from which by channels the brine is obtained, reaching the storage wells by percolation through a richly saline soil which greatly increases the strength of it. In 1884 a depôt for the storage and sale of Maurypur salt was opened at Sukkur. Maurypur salt is supplied free of duty to the State of Khairpur, local manufacture there being suppressed.

SALT—concluded

The Saran and Dilyar deposits were opened in 1879 and 1882, respectively. The salt is formed in a lake from which, when the water dries, salt is excavated and stored. It is supplied to the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages of the Districts of Thar and Parkar and Hyderabad.

Bombay

Salt is produced in Bombay for local consumption and for export by land to Central India and Rajputana, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and the Nizam's territories, and by sea to the Malabar Coast of Madras and to Calcutta. Under existing arrangements exports, both by land and sea, pay full excise duty in Bombay, with the exception of those to Travancore and Cochin on which a nominal charge of three pies per maund only to cover cost of establishment at the salt pans, is levied in accordance with a trade convention concluded with Travancore and Cochin in 1865.

Except in Guzerat, the excise system is followed, under which licenses are issued for private manufacture at approved places which are guarded, and whence no removals are allowed, except upon payment of duty, or under credit for payment. In Guzerat, where all the works in British territory are the property of Government, the monopoly system was introduced in 1873-74, and manufacture was concentrated at two places—Kharaghora on the borders of the Runn, and Dharásna on the sea coast of the Surat District. At Kharaghora salt in large crystals is made from brine wells under departmental supervision, bought from the manufacturers as made, stored, and sold at the cost and risk of Government. At Dharásna the salt is ordinary sea-salt and Government merely fixes the price at which it is to be sold without taking it over or interfering directly with manufacture. A small quantity of salt is issued annually free of duty from the works at Kharaghora to certain Native States and Chiefs in pursuance of the arrangements for the establishment of the monopoly.

Madras

There are two systems of salt manufacture in the Presidency, under one of which the salt manufactured is sold to Government only and is disposed of by Government to the trade, whilst under the other Government levies an excise duty, plus a small and varying cess to cover interest on capital cost of works, the property of Government and the cost of any repairs effected by it on account of the licensees at the time of removal from the factory, and allows the manufacturers to make such arrangements as they please for the disposal of the salt. In both cases the production of salt is only allowed in well-fenced factories and subject to Government supervision, but, except in matters endangering the revenue, little interference is exercised in the details of manufacture under the excise system. The rate paid by Government for its salt varies, but may be taken roughly at an anna and a half per maund. This is only the bare cost of manufacture and does not include cost of works, storage, transport, etc. The duty on salt is ordinarily payable before the salt is removed from the factory, but six months' credit may be allowed to approved merchants on the deposit of security in Government promissory notes and a few other specified kinds of securities.

In Malabar no salt is manufactured, and that region is supplied by imports from Bombay, Goa, and other places.

By agreement the French Government undertakes to prevent the manufacture of salt throughout its possession in India, and in consideration receives payments annually aggregating ₹4,41,600, and obtains its supply of salt at cost price. The authorities of the French settlements in Madras indent on the nearest British factories for the salt they require and undertake to sell it at the approximate prices charged in British territory. The correspondence is not complete because they sell by measure and not by weight.

Until 1865 the manufacture of salt was a Government monopoly in Travancore and Cochin, the selling price in Travancore being R1-1 a maund, and in Cochin annas 12. In that year both the States agreed to adopt the British Indian selling price of salt.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Madras Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at cost price (that is, cost plus cost of transport from the factory) were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 136 such yards in 1908-09.

NOTE.—This table states the quantity of salt actually consumed in each province, and the duty thereon calculated at the rate in operation in each province, except that the figures under Bombay include salt exported to the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Central India, the Central Provinces, Mysore, and the Nizam's Territories. From the 18th March 1903 the general rate of duty was reduced from R2½ to R2 per maund, and in the case of salt manufactured in certain Kohat mines the duty was altered from R2 per Lahori maund to R1½ per Indian maund. A further reduction in the general rate from R2 to R1½ per maund took effect from the 22nd March 1905. The general duty was again reduced from R1½ to R1 per maund with effect from the 20th March 1907. In Burma the rate remains unaltered, namely, R1 per maund

(a) The sums entered under Duty include duty on excised as well as on imported salt. The quantity of the former is not entered in the figure under Quantity, only rough estimates being available

(b) Figures for Eastern Bengal and Assam have been excluded from the 1st October 1905. The quantity actually consumed in the province not available

(MISCELLANEOUS RECEIPTS excluded), in each official year from 1889-90 to 1908-09

[TABLES 1 TO 13, PAGES 83 TO 102]

(Compiled from special official returns)

The stamp revenue is derived from two great classes of stamps—judicial or court-fee stamps and non-judicial or revenue stamps. Judicial or court-fee stamps are provided for by the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870; non-judicial stamps by the Indian Stamp Act, II of 1899. Both these Acts have been amended from time to time by subsequent legislation.

The immediate control of the stamp revenue is vested in the local Governments, subject to the general supervision of the Government of India.

The stamps are manufactured in England, the quantities required for consumption being sent to India on annual indents. They are consigned to the Central Stamp depôts at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, and Karáchi, whence supplies are distributed to local depôts and offices on indent. The Central depôts supply the requirements of the different provinces as shewn below :—

Calcutta	Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Central India, and the Central Provinces and Berar (in regard to stamps for copies).
Madras	Madras Presidency, Coorg, and the treasuries at Bangalore and Travancore.
Bombay	Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), the Central Provinces and Berar (except in regard to stamps for copies which, as stated above, are supplied from the Calcutta Depôt), and Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana.
Rangoon	Burma and the Andamans.
Karáchi	Sind, Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, the Panjab, Rajputana (except Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana, which, as stated above, are supplied from the Bombay Depôt), the Residency treasuries in Kashmir, the Khorasan Agency treasury, and the areas under the jurisdiction of the Political Resident in the Persian Gulf.

In each province there is a Superintendent of Stamps,—(in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Madras he is a member of the Board of Revenue and in the United Provinces, the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue), who ordinarily combines other functions with the function of administering the stamp revenue. Stamps are sold by certain officials (such as postmasters) and by licensed vendors whose business is conducted under rules framed by the local authorities, and to whom stamps are supplied in quantity at various rates of discount.

Two kinds of stamps—adhesive and impressed—are used to denote the payment of duty on instruments; and impressed stamps are again of two classes, namely, impressed sheets, the paper bearing the impression of stamps of varying values engraved thereon, and impressed labels which are affixed to instruments by Government officers empowered to do so. These officers are required, when affixing the labels, to impress them by means of a stamping machine, and also to stamp or write on the face of the label the date of impression, their initials being added when the duty amounts to five rupees and upwards, and their signatures (under the label) when the duty amounts to twenty rupees or more. The centres provided for the purpose of affixing and impressing labels are—the Calcutta, Chittagong, Godavari, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara collectorates; the Moulmein, Akyab, and Bassein treasuries; the office of the Deputy Commissioner of Kamrup at Gauhati; the offices of the Superintendents of Stamps at Madras, Bombay, Lahore, Rangoon, Karáchi, Nagpur, and Aden; and the office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

The various classes of stamps with their values are :—

Unified postage and revenue stamps	Half-anna and one anna
Foreign bill stamps	from 2 annas to 6 rupees
Share-transfer stamps	„ „ „ „ 10 „
Special adhesive stamps	„ „ „ „ 1,000 „
Húndi stamped paper	„ „ „ „ 15 „
Impressed non-judicial stamps	„ „ „ „ 1,000 „
Adhesive court-fee stamps	„ 1 anna „ 6 „
Impressed „ „	„ 10 rupees „ 1,000 „
Stamps for copies	„ 2 annas „ 2 „

EXCISE

[TABLES 1 TO 14, PAGES 106 TO 139]

(Compiled from special official returns)

During the ten years ending with 1908-09 the net receipts from the excise duties increased from ₹5,50,74,589 to ₹8,96,79,251, the increase being at the rate of 63 per cent. The receipts from opium (consumed in India, not exported) rose from ₹1,01,81,048 to ₹1,48,52,141, being at the rate of 46 per cent. The chief increase occurred in the net receipts from liquors and from drugs other than opium (including miscellaneous receipts), which rose from ₹4,48,93,541 to ₹7,48,27,110, the increase being at the rate of 67 per cent. This large increase is due, not merely to the expansion of consumption, but also to the imposition of progressively higher rates of duty and the increasingly effective control of the excise administration.

Madras contributes the largest proportion of the liquor revenue, nearly 34 per cent, Bombay and Bengal contributing 20 and 16 per cent respectively.

The revenue from drugs (excluding opium) has risen in the ten years from ₹55,60,201 to ₹94,06,477, the increase being at the rate of 69 per cent.

The sources of the excise revenue, and the gross revenue obtained from each in 1908-09, are :

Spirits	7,04,54,433
Beer	7,81,308
Opium	1,48,52,141
Intoxicating drugs, other than opium	94,06,477
Miscellaneous	3,15,865

The incidence in 1908-09 of excise taxation per head of the population (according to the census of 1901) is :

	a.	p.
Bombay	14	6·73
Burma	13	4·23
Central Provinces and Berar	8	9·92
Madras	10	7·84
Bengal	5	4·35
Eastern Bengal and Assam	3	8·27
Panjab	3	8·95
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	2	10·46
North-West Frontier Province	2	1·88

The incidence per head in all British India was about 6 annas.

Of the excise revenue of Bengal about 24 per cent was contributed by Calcutta. The cities of Bombay and Madras yielded 9 and 7 per cent respectively of the revenue of those provinces.

Below are stated the rates of excise duty on liquors, opium, and other drugs levied in each province during 1908-09 :

EXCISE—concluded

The figures formerly given in these tables were revised in 1905, owing mainly to the inclusion of the duty on Malwa opium realised in the Panjab from 1882-83, the exclusion of certain receipts on account of the Excluded Local Funds in the Central India Agencies from 1893-94, and the inclusion of the license and distillery fees and duties realised in the Military Department from 1897-98 and of the excise revenue for Bangalore from 1900-01, which had hitherto been omitted from the head " India, general."

Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head " Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for these provinces have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shown under the head of " spirits " and those for opium license fees under the head of " opium." The revision has been carried out from the year 1878-79, except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available.

The tables which follow have been restricted to twenty-five years. For figures for the years prior to 1884-85, the 1st issue of Statistics of British India—Part IV(b) Finance and Revenue—may be referred to.

NOTE.—Until 1903–04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for the United Provinces in Tables Nos. 1, 1—A, 2, 2—A, 3, 3—A, 8—A, 8—B and 14 have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shewn under the head of "spirits" and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901–02 are not available

* Includes Coorg, Central India, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan from 1882-83, and Bangalore from 1900-01. (The figures for Central India have been revised with effect from 1893-94)

† From 1897-98 the figures include license and distillery fees and duties, etc., realised in the Military Department

‡ The increase in 1908-09 is due to the inclusion of receipts in Central India which were credited in former years to the Local Abkari Fund, which was abolished on 1st April 1908

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section gives details of Provincial Rates, which, till 1907-08, included, amongst others, (1) District Local Fund cess, (2) Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, famine assurances, canals, etc., and (3) cess for village services and patwaris. But from 1908-09 onwards the only cess of any importance which is brought into the general accounts is the Public Works cess in Bengal and the Districts of Eastern Bengal. The only other large item included in the total is the amount which the Government of the United Provinces appropriates from local rates for the payment of rural Police in Agra. With a few petty exceptions, all the other rates and cesses named below which formerly appeared under this head are now credited to local funds, having been excluded from the general estimates and accounts of the Empire. The total receipts are now less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue.

The District Local Fund cesses on land were imposed in most provinces in 1870 and 1871. They are in most instances collected jointly with the land revenue and rise or fall with it.

Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, etc., are mostly levied in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam and the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

The so-called famine cesses levied in the United Provinces, the Panjab, and the Central Provinces were remitted during 1905-06, and the remissions were partly compensated for by enhanced receipts in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

During 1906-07 the patwari cess in the United Provinces, the Panjab, Ajmer, the Central Provinces, and the Sambalpur district of Bengal was repealed, and the ryotwari village service cess in Madras, the village service cess in Coorg, and the zamindari dâk cess in Bengal and Eastern Bengal were abolished.

In 1907-08 the proprietary estates village service cess was extended to Madras.

The expenditure in 1908-09 on account of establishment and other charges was nearly R66,000 and was incurred in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

CUSTOMS REVENUE

[TABLES 1 TO 5, PAGES 144 TO 154]

(Compiled from Official returns and the customs circulars published by the Government of India)

The first two tables of the series state the amount of duty collected each year, and the others state the rate of duty imposed on all principal articles of merchandise by the schedules of the various Tariff Acts passed since 1882 and thus constitute a history of the legislation respecting customs duties since that year. For the rates for earlier years, the 1st issue may be referred to.

Import duties.—From 1859 to 1864 the general rate of import duty was 10 per cent, this heavy rate having been imposed as one of the means of redressing the financial position which had been seriously affected by the mutiny of 1857. The rate was found to be so high as to operate in restriction of consumption, and in 1864 it was reduced to 7½ per cent. That rate was allowed to remain until 1875 when it was reduced to 5 per cent. In 1882 the import duties were repealed, the only articles left on the tariff schedule being liquors, arms, opium (the latter giving a nominal revenue, as the duty is meant to be prohibitory), and salt. The last-named article appears at the foot of the first table, but the collections are not included in the total of the Customs revenue, as the entire revenue from imported and Indian salt is credited in the public accounts to a separate head (Salt) and is dealt with in another section of this part.

Between 1882 and 1894 the following changes were made in the tariff; the duty on liquors was increased in 1887 and again in 1890, and the duty on salt was increased in 1888; a duty was imposed on petroleum in 1888, and on dry and wet salt-fish imported into Burma from any place beyond the limits of British India in 1893.

In March 1894 the tariff was re-established much as it had stood in 1875: imports generally were subjected to duty at the rate of 5 per cent, but the duty on most classes of iron and steel was fixed at 1 per cent, and a few articles remained exempt from duty, the most important being food-grains, machinery, railway material, coal, and cotton yarn and manufactured goods.

In December 1894 cotton yarn of a certain fineness and cotton manufactures containing such yarn were made dutiable at the general rate of import duty (5 per cent), but a further change was made in February 1896, when cotton yarn and cotton sewing thread were exempted from duty, and the rate of duty on all other cotton goods irrespective of fineness was reduced to 3½ per cent. The imposition of a duty on imported cotton goods was accompanied by the imposition of an equivalent excise duty on cotton goods woven in the Indian mills.

In 1896 the exemption of machinery was restricted to machinery required for certain specified industries, and from time to time additions were made to the list of industries. In 1899 the restriction was removed and all machinery was exempted without reference to the industry for which it was required. In the same year sugar imported from countries which grant bounties on export was charged with an additional duty equivalent to the bounties, and in June 1902 an amendment of the Tariff Act, VIII of 1902, authorised special duties being imposed on sugar produced in countries where the difference between the rate of duty or other taxation to which foreign sugars are subject and that imposed on the home product exceeds 6 fr. per 100 kilos for refined sugar and 5 fr. 50 centimes for other sugar, the duty being limited to half such excess. Such special duties were imposed from time to time by notifications on sugar produced in Austria-Hungary, Germany, France, Denmark, the Argentine Republic, and Russia. Section 8-B of the Act, in pursuance of which these special duties were imposed, expired on the 31st August 1903, but an amending Act, passed on the 28th August 1903, authorised the continuance, until the 31st March 1904, of the duties which had been imposed under that section. By a further Act passed on the 25th March 1904, the same section was revived and continued in force with effect from the 1st April 1904. The additional and special duties were however remitted by notification in respect of sugar produced after the 31st August 1903, in countries which were parties to the Brussels Sugar Convention of 1902. These countries are Belgium, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. The duties have also been remitted in respect of sugar produced in Russia with effect from 1st September 1908. Special duties are however still chargeable on sugar imported from Denmark and the Argentine Republic.

By Act I of 1906 the rates of import duty on ordinary spirits were raised from R6 to R7 per imperial gallon, on liqueurs from R6 to R10, and on perfumed spirits from R8 to R11.

By Act II of 1908 the rate of duty on ale, beer, porter, cider, and other fermented liquors was raised from one anna to two annas per imperial gallon.

Export duties.—The general rate of export duty from 1859 to 1867 was 3 per cent. Many articles were subject to taxation in 1859, but the list was gradually reduced until, in 1867, it consisted of cotton manufactures, indigo, rice, wheat, and other grains, tanned and dressed hides and skins, lac, oils, seeds, spices, and shawls. The list was then further gradually reduced, until finally rice alone remained in 1882, this being the only dutiable export at present, besides rice-flour, which has been subject to duty since August 1893.

A customs duty at the rate of a quarter of a pie (one forty-eighth of an anna) per pound has also been levied, from the 1st April 1903, on all tea produced in India and exported from any customs port to any other

Customs revenue.—The revenue from the import and export duties in the three quinquennial periods ending 1896-97, 1901-02, and 1906-07, and in the years 1907-08 and 1908-09 is stated below (in rupees). The great expansion of the export duties in the three years 1902-03 to 1904-05 is due to the large rice crops in Burma, of which an unusually large proportion was exported to foreign countries, owing to the good harvests in India and consequent smaller demand for Burmese rice.

INCOME TAX

[TABLES 1 TO 11, PAGES 156 TO 164]

(Figures supplied by the Local Governments and Administrations)

The Income Tax Act, II of 1886, came into operation on the 1st April 1886. It took the place of various local Acts under which annual licenses were required for the exercise of trades, dealings, or industries. The net revenue obtained from the taxation imposed under those Acts, which were in force in the provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, and the Panjab, was, in the last year of their existence, R47,28,000; in the first year of the operation of the Income Tax Act the net revenue realised was R1,27,75,100. The proceeds of the tax increased steadily from year to year at an average rate of 3 per cent annually up to the end of 1902-03. With effect from the 1st April 1903 the taxable minimum of income was raised from R500 to R1,000 by the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903. The tax is now levied at the rate of four pies in the rupee on incomes of R1,000 but less than R2,000, and five pies in the rupee on incomes of R2,000 and over (2·08 and 2·6 per cent respectively). The proceeds of the tax on incomes of R500 but less than R1,000 were, in 1902-03, nearly 38 lakhs of rupees or 18 per cent of the total. The net decrease in the proceeds of the tax in the year 1903-04 was 14 per cent. The revenue obtained from incomes of each of the descriptions specified in the Schedule of the Act, and the proportion of each, were in 1906-07, 1907-08, and 1908-09 :

	R		R		R
I.—Salaries and Pensions	59,76,597	= 28·23 per cent	63,18,130	= 28·15 per cent	65,63,672	= 28·51 per cent
II.—Profits of Companies	26,98,565	= 12·74 „	28,24,574	= 12·59 „	29,87,479	= 12·97 „
III.—Interest on Securities	10,51,655	= 4·97 „	10,99,250	= 4·89 „	11,62,291	= 5·05 „
IV.—Other sources of Income	1,14,44,822	= 54·06 „	1,22,02,060	= 54·37 „	1,23,10,225	= 53·47 „
TOTAL	2,11,71,639	=100	2,24,44,014	=100	2,30,23,667	=100

The variations in these proportions since the Act came into force have been small.

The total collections comprise the actual tax collected in the year and the arrears of previous years. Refunds are not deducted from the figures shewn as "collections" in these tables. They amounted to R64,304 in 1906-07, R82,675 in 1907-08, and R91,022 in 1908-09, being about one-third per cent on the total collections. The figures for each province are as follows :—

	R	R	R
Burma	4,022	4,432	7,136
Assam (Eastern Bengal and Assam)	1,778	1,231	1,247
Bengal	5,153	6,754	8,277
United Provinces	7,332	5,323	6,376
Panjab	6,442	11,495	10,916
North-West Frontier Province	634	1,680	737
Bombay	4,143	15,507	20,896
Central Provinces and Berar	12,826	11,507	6,724
Madras	21,974	24,746	28,713

The total number of persons assessed to the tax has always been a very small fraction of the total population. In the first year it amounted to 354,594. In 1902-03 it was 507,041. The result of the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act of 1903 was to reduce the total number of assessees to 237,673 or 47 per cent of the number assessed in 1902-03. In 1905-06 the number rose to 252,910, in 1906-07 to 261,981, in 1907-08 to 265,328, and in 1908-09 to 280,161.

The number of persons assessed to income-tax, exclusive of Government servants assessed on their salaries, in the principal provinces in 1908-09 and the incidence of the tax per head of population were as follows :—

		a.	p.
Bombay	45,495	4	0·93
Burma	17,399	3	0·94
Bengal	46,317	1	9·29
Madras	44,695	1	2·81
Panjab	23,115	1	1·32
North-West Frontier Province	1,823	0	11·67
Central Provinces and Berar	8,016	0	9·03
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	29,684	0	8·99
Eastern Bengal and Assam	17,163	0	7·4

The collections of the tax in 1908-09 classified according to the amount of annual income were in classes I to IV (annual incomes of R1,000 to R2,000) R46 lakhs, and in classes V to XIII (annual incomes of R2,000 and upwards) R183 lakhs. The first four classes, that is, those paying the rate of four pies in the rupee, contain 173,384 assessees or 65 per cent of the total and return only 20 per cent of the total collections. The other nine classes contain 93,035 tax-payers who pay 80 per cent of the total collections. The total income on which the tax was assessed, calculated from the amount of tax paid, was in round figures 9,238 lakhs of rupees, equivalent to about £61,600,000. The annual income of the tax-payers in the first four classes is 2,205 lakhs of rupees making an average of R1,272 for each assessee. The total income of the tax-payers in the nine higher classes was 7,033 lakhs of rupees which gives an average of R7,559 for each assessee.

* Under the Income Tax Act, II of 1886, the taxable minimum of income was ₹500. By the Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903, this minimum was raised to ₹1,000. Under the original Act the first two classes of incomes were (I) ₹500 but less than ₹750 and (II) ₹750 but less than ₹1,000. On the passing of the amendment Act of 1903 these two classes were left out. The figures from 1903-04 under the old classes represent collections of arrears of Income Tax assessed in 1902-03

(a) Includes ₹1,758 for which the details by classes are not available

(b) Includes ₹9,767 for which the details by classes are not available

(c) Excludes arrear collections ₹15,590 for which the details under each Part are not available

NOTE.—"Other Provinces and Departments of Government" include figures for Ajmer-Merwara, Bangalore, Coorg, Hyderabad, and Port Blair, the collections from the salaries of Government officers in the Military, Marine, Postal, Public Works, and Forest Departments (the last up to 1903-04), and the collections made by the Comptroller, India Treasuries, from the salaries of the officers of the various Departments of Government of India, and from the interest on securities on account of the subordinate treasuries, together with the tax collected by the Public Works Department on account of the profits of certain Railway Companies

(a) These figures represent the number of persons assessed to income tax in 1902-03 from whom arrears were collected in later years.

(b) Includes 126 assessees for Burma and 1,074 assessees for the United Provinces for whom information about classes is not available.

* See note marked (*) at foot of table No. 9. The figures under 'classes I to IV' include the collections under the old classes I and II up to 1902-03 and small arrear collections for these two classes from 1903-04

† The figures in this column differ in some cases from the sums of the figures in the two preceding columns, as explained in the notes (c) and (d). The sum of the totals in the two preceding columns exceed the sum of the figures in the two 'total' columns in table No. 9 by the figures of collections under Part III (Interest on Securities) shown in tables Nos. 1, 3, and 7. Previous to 1908-09, however, some small differences occur

(c) Includes ₹13,245 in 1902-03, being deductions on commission paid to thugyis.

(d) Includes ₹91,396 in 1899-1900, ₹82,339 in 1901-02, and ₹79,505 in 1902-03, on account of collections by employers under section 9 (2) of the Act, the details of which by classes are not available

NOTE.—"Other Provinces and Departments of Government" include figures for Ajmer-Merwara, Bangalore, Coorg, Hyderabad, and Port Blair, the collections from the salaries of Government officers in the Military, Marine, Postal, Public Works, and Forest Departments (the last up to 1903-04), and the collections made by the Comptroller, India Treasuries, from the salaries of the officers of the various Departments of the Government of India, and from the interest on securities on account of the subordinate treasuries, together with the tax collected by the Public Works Department on account of the profits of certain Railway Companies

* See note marked (*) at foot of table No. 9. The figures under 'classes I to IV' include the collections under the old classes I and II up to 1902-03 and small arrear collections for these two classes from 1903-04

† The figures in this column differ in some cases from the sums of the figures in the two preceding columns, as explained in the notes (a), (b), (g), (h), and (i). The sum of the totals in the two preceding columns exceed the sum of the figures in the two 'total' columns in table No. 9 by the figures of collections under Part III (Interest on Securities) shown in tables Nos. 1, 3, and 7. Previous to 1908-09, however, some small differences occur

(a) Includes R10,525 in 1903-04, R6,882 in 1904-05, R6,557 in 1905-06, R5,855 in 1906-07, R6,596 in 1907-08, and R5,499 in 1908-09 being deductions on commission paid to thugyis

(b) Includes R69,915 in 1903-04, R74,772 in 1904-05, R78,918 in 1905-06, R80,643 in 1906-07, R86,894 in 1907-08, and R86,323 in 1908-09, on account of collections by employers under section 9 (2) of the Act, the details of which by classes are not available

(c) Defective in the details

(d) The figures for 1905-06 relate to the provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam as reconstituted in October 1905

(e) Incomplete

(f) Including arrears of previous years realised during the year of report, with effect from 1901-02

(g) Includes R26,364 in 1907-08 and R22,373 in 1908-09 collected on the profits of some railway companies

(h) Includes arrear collections of R594 and R 735 in the Panjab and R 40 and R62 in the North-West Frontier Province in 1907-08 and 1908-09, respectively, the details of which by classes are not available

(i) Excludes arrear collections of R5,910 for which the details under each Part are not available

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The statistics of revenue recorded in the table below represent tributes received from Native States, in several cases as a result of exchanges of territory and settlement of claims, and contributions made chiefly in lieu of former obligations to supply or maintain troops, the latter constituting a small return for the duty undertaken by the Supreme Government in ensuring the peace of the country. The figures do not show any important fluctuations from year to year except for arrears and their recovery and the levy of fees on succession (nazarana) in some cases.

The total receipts are less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue. The tributes and contributions amount to over 87 per cent, and those for special military forces are over 10 per cent of the total receipts. Fees on succession are on the average about 2½ per cent.

Madras contributes about 50 per cent, India, General, which includes the Bhopal, Bundelkhand, Rajputana, and Central India Agencies, 21 per cent, Bombay 16 per cent, and Burma 5 per cent.

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The interest receipts in this section do not include interest on public works capital. The most important items included under this head of revenue are the loans and advances made by the Imperial Government to the Presidency Corporations and to Native States, as well as those by the Provincial Governments to mofussil municipalities and cultivators. The amount of the interest accrued on the former comes to about 40 per cent and on the latter 20 per cent of total receipts. This head also includes the interest on the securities held by the Paper Currency Department which contributes over 30 per cent of the total. There are other minor items, such as interest on securities of provincial funds, on arrears of revenue, and on overdrawn capital of guaranteed railways, which are included under this head of revenue.

The total receipts amount to a little over one per cent of the total Indian revenue. India, General, which includes the transactions of the Government of India, contributes nearly one half of the receipts, Bombay about a fifth, Bengal a seventh, and Madras one-eighteenth.

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 5 AND 6]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section shews the details of land revenue receipts and expenditure. Five years' figures have been given in each table for each province.

The total land revenue, which represents nearly a quarter of the total revenue of India, is made up, on the average of the last five years, chiefly of receipts under the following heads :—

Ordinary land revenue	about 90 per cent
Assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents	,, 3 per cent
Capitation tax	,, 3 per cent
Fisheries and miscellaneous revenue	,, 3 per cent

Receipts from the sale of proprietary right, waste lands, etc., and recovery of survey and settlement charges amounted to less than 1 per cent. Land revenue due to irrigation amounts to over a crore and a half of rupees and represents over 5 per cent of the total land revenue, but is deducted therefrom to arrive at the net land revenue.

The ordinary land revenue amounts to over 28 crores, of which about 6 crores are contributed by Madras and the United Provinces each, 4 crores by Bombay, 3 crores by Bengal, 2½ crores by the Panjab and Burma each, and nearly 2 crores each by Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Central Provinces and Berar. The permanent settlement system obtains over the greater part of Bengal and Eastern Bengal, nearly a third of Madras, some districts of the United Provinces, and other scattered tracts.

In 1905-06 the failure of the monsoon produced a sinister effect on the revenue in the Panjab. The injury done to the rabi crop in the United Provinces by frost also affected the revenue in that province.

The year 1906-07 was a normal year and land revenue rose by over 1·80 crores, of which Bombay contributed 63 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 44 lakhs, Madras 43 lakhs, the United Provinces and the Panjab 28 lakhs each. Bengal shewed a falling-off of 34 lakhs.

The falling-off of 1·62 crores in 1907-08 is attributable to the suspensions and remissions which were sanctioned on a very large scale consequent on the prevalence of famine. The remissions and suspensions were largest (viz., a crore) in the United Provinces. Bombay comes next with 34 lakhs, and the Panjab and the Central Provinces account for 20 and 11 lakhs, respectively.

In 1908-09 there was a rise in land revenue by 1½ crores owing mainly to large collection of famine arrears. The largest increase took place in the United Provinces (1·25 crores), Burma and Madras standing next with 22·7 lakhs and 4·15 lakhs, respectively.

In 1909-10, agricultural conditions were very good on the whole, and land revenue rose by over 2·06 crores, of which Bombay contributed 64·3 lakhs, the Panjab 52·8 lakhs, the United Provinces 41·7 lakhs, the Central Provinces and Berar 22·3 lakhs, Madras 14·1 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 5·8 lakhs and Bengal 4·5 lakhs.

Bombay contributes about 97 per cent of the receipts from assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents, and the Panjab over 2 per cent, while the share of Bengal is below 1 per cent.

Nearly the whole of the capitation tax is derived from Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam being the only other province which contributes towards this head to the extent of about 2½ per cent.

Burma is responsible for more than a half of the fisheries and miscellaneous revenue. Bombay, the Panjab, the United Provinces, and Madras contribute from 5 to 9 lakhs each; Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Central Provinces and Berar follow with shares varying from 1½ to 4 lakhs each.

Land revenue due to irrigation is derived chiefly from Madras, the Panjab, Bombay, and the United Provinces.

The expenditure on land revenue (including district administration) is about 17 per cent of the receipts and represents nearly 5 per cent of the total expenditure.

The detailed items on the five years' averages are :—

Charges of district administration	44 per cent
District charges	24 per cent
Allowances to district and village officers	12 per cent
Survey and settlements	12 per cent
Commissions on collections	5 per cent
Management of Government estates and grazing lands	2 per cent

The expenditure on district administration is the highest in Madras which is answerable for 20 per cent. The United Provinces comes next with a share of 18 per cent, Bombay, Bengal and Burma account for about 15, 12 and 11 per cent, respectively. Eastern Bengal and Assam is responsible for 8 per cent and the Central Provinces and Berar for 5 per cent.

Bengal leads with a share of 22 per cent of the expenditure on survey and settlements, Madras accounts for 17 per cent, and the Panjab and Eastern Bengal and Assam are responsible for about 16 per cent each; Burma accounts for 13 per cent, while the Central Provinces and the United Provinces are jointly debited to the extent of 10 per cent only.

The United Provinces are responsible for 29 per cent of the expenditure under district charges. Bombay comes next with 20 per cent; Madras is answerable for 17 per cent, the Panjab 13 per cent, Burma 8 per cent, and the Central Provinces about 7 per cent.

Madras is answerable for nearly 62 per cent of the expenditure under "Allowances to district and village officers," Bombay nearly 22 per cent, and the Central Provinces 16 per cent.

FORESTS

TABLES 1 TO 9, PAGES 9 to 32]

Compiled from the annual Review of Forest Administration in British India by the Inspector General of Forests)

These tables show statistics regarding State forests only, i.e., lands administered as forests by the Forest Department of the Government of India under legal enactments for the time being in force dealing with forests. There are in British India immense forest areas outside the direct control of the Forest Department, which are managed by district officers, local boards or municipalities, or by the owners themselves, the statistics regarding which are not shown in these tables.

The forests under the direct control of the State are classed as "Reserved," "Protected," and "Unclassed" or "Public" forest land.

The "Reserves" are forests intended to be maintained permanently for the supply of timber, fuel, and other produce, or for the protection of the water-supply or other similar reasons.

The "Protected" forests may be either in a state of transition to Reserves or intended to remain permanently in the second class. In the former case it has been found necessary to prohibit within these areas certain acts harmful to the forest until such time as careful examination permits of a decision whether more stringent rules shall be enforced; and in the latter the object in view has been to provide for the more beneficial exercise of rights by local communities.

The "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands are those given over with even fewer restrictions (in some cases to the extent of exemption from the operation of forest law) for the use of the public.

Table No. 1 shows all State forest lands and proportion thereof to total area in British India in each year from 1889-90 to 1908-09. Out of the 241,774 square miles under State management in 1908-09, which is 24·5 per cent of the total area (986,144 square miles) of British India, 94,561 square miles or 9·6 per cent were reserved, 8,835 or 1 per cent were protected, and the remaining 138,374 or 14 per cent were unclassed.

Table No. 2 shows all State forest lands and proportion thereof to whole area in each province in each of the five years ending 1908-09. These provincial statistics show that in 1908-09, the percentage of forest land varied from 1·8 per cent in the North-West Frontier Province and 3·8 per cent in the United Provinces to 30·9 per cent in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 62·1 per cent in the Andamans, and 76·1 per cent in Burma. The largest area of unclassed forests occurs in those Provinces where the population is scantiest; in fact Burma claims 110,868 square miles or 80 per cent of the total area under this head, while Eastern Bengal and Assam appropriates the bulk of the balance, i.e., 22,703 square miles or 16·4 per cent.

Table No. 3 shows the progress of working-plans in each province and circle in each official year from 1904-05 to 1908-09. Under the Forest Acts the Provincial Government deputes an officer who compiles a working-plan which regulates the amount and removal of outturn and prescribes the other requisite operations, such as sowing, planting, thinning, and cleaning. Working-plans are generally compiled for periods of 20 to 40 years, after which revision or possibly the introduction of an entirely new system of management will be necessary. Statistics for 1908-09 show that 48,639 square miles or 51·4 per cent of the area of Reserved forests are worked under regular plans.

The direct value of forests to the State may be gauged by the financial results of their working as shewn in tables Nos. 4 to 7. In 1908-09 the gross revenue collected through the agency of the Department amounted to R2·54 crores and the total expenditure to R1·47 crores, the net revenue being R1·07 crores or R44 per square mile of land under the control of the Forest Department. More than 36·1 per cent of the total revenue is derived from Burma, while next in importance in this respect come the forests of Bombay and Madras and of the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. The sale of timber and fuel produced R1·92 crores, minor produce, R20·78 lakhs, and receipts from grazing, R22·05 lakhs. The steady improvement in forest revenue is worthy of note. Between 1889—94 it averaged R1·59 crores. By 1898-99 the quinquennial average had risen to R1·77 crores, by 1903-04, to R1·97 crores, and by 1908-09, to more than R2½ crores. During the same period the expenditure had increased from R86 lakhs to R98 lakhs, R113 lakhs, and R141 lakhs, respectively. The proportion of expenditure to gross revenue was in 1908-09 nearly 58 per cent, and of this nearly 46 per cent was spent on administration, 49 per cent on working, protection, and improvement, while 2 per cent was expended on the construction of new Reserves by settlement and on the demarcation and survey operations.

The net revenue of the State forests has between 1889—1909 risen from R73 lakhs to R107 lakhs, and the yield is, as the result of protection and improvement, more than sufficient to meet increased demands on their produce. It may be added here that timber and other produce from State forests is given free (or at reduced rates) in large quantities to the people resident in the vicinity. In 1908-09 the value of these grants amounted on a very low estimate to about 18 per cent of the gross revenue collected from the State forests.

Table No. 8 shows the total outturn from the forests under the control of the Forest Department in each province. It is generally, for the sake of convenience, classed under timber including fuel, bamboos, and minor produce including grass and grazing, besides all those numerous products found or manufactured in a forest. The total outturn of timber and fuel from State forests amounted, on an average of the five years ending 1908-09, to 237,413,610 cubic feet; the average outturn per square mile varies considerably in the different Provinces, being dependent on the intensity of working and the density of the population. The yield of bamboos numbered 196,106,355; of these about one-third was supplied by Burma, Madras, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Central Provinces coming successively next in the rank of importance. The yield of minor produce from State forests was valued in 1908-09 at R69,38,743, the chief items being grazing and grass, caoutchouc, lac and dyes, cutch and gambier, cardamoms, myrabolams, and other tanning materials.

Table No. 9 shows the results of protection of forests from fire and cattle and of grazing. Fire conservancy operations in British India extended in 1908-09 over 44,497 square miles, which is 49 per cent of total area of reserves. The area closed to grazing amounted to 41,188 square miles, of which over 19,000 were in Burma, where cattle are few and vast tracts of waste land are still available outside Reserves. The area closed to browsers, principally goats, amounted to 20,902 square miles situated chiefly in Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar. The number of animals grazed were 11,426,927 on payment and 3,324,677 free.

OPIUM

[TABLES 1 TO 17, PAGES 37 TO 60]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts and from special official returns)

BENGAL OPIUM

The region in which the poppy is cultivated comprises eight districts in Western Bengal, situated in the divisions of Tirhut, Patna, Bhágalpur, and Chota Nagpur, and thirty-four districts in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. Up to the end of the year 1909-10 the former districts were, in respect of opium, under the control of the Bihár Opium Agent, whose head-quarters were at Patna. The latter were under the Benares Opium Agent, with head-quarters at Ghazipur. At each of these places there is a Government factory where the crude opium is manufactured into the form in which it passes into consumption. In 1909-10 the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium were regulated by Act XIII of 1857 and were under the general control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and the immediate supervision of the Opium Agent at Ghazipur. The possession, transport, import, and export of opium are regulated by rules framed under section 5, Act I of 1878 (the Indian Opium Act).

Cultivation is permitted only under license granted under the authority of the Opium Agent. The area to be cultivated is fixed by the license, and the cultivator is bound to sell the whole of his production to the Opium Department at the rate fixed by Government. This rate was fixed in 1894-95 at Rs. 6 per ser of 70° consistency. Advances, on which no interest is charged, are given to licensed cultivators at the time of executing the agreement, and from time to time (though ordinarily not more than two advances are given) until final delivery. In March, April, and May the opium is made over to the officers of the Department and weighed and tested, and as soon as possible afterwards each cultivator's accounts are adjusted, and the balance due is paid to him.

After weighment the opium is taken to the Government factories at Patna and Ghazipur, where it is manufactured in two* forms—

(a) opium intended for export to foreign countries, mainly China and the Straits Settlements, departmentally known as "provision" opium, and

(b) opium intended for consumption in various provinces (Madras, Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, Burma, Baluchistan, the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Panjab and the North-West Frontier Province), departmentally known as "excise" opium.

Provision opium is made up in the form of balls or cakes, each weighing 3·5 lb, and is packed in chests, each chest containing forty cakes, weighing 140 lb. Bihár opium is generally of 75° and Benares opium of 71° consistency. Excise opium is made up in cubical packets, each weighing one ser, 60 of which are packed in a case. It is of higher consistency than the "provision opium."

Provision opium is sold by public auction in Calcutta. A notification is published annually, about the month of June, stating the number of chests from each agency which will be put up for sale in each month of the next calendar year, and the quantities so notified are not altered without three months' notice. Sales are conducted month by month by the Bengal Board of Revenue. In 1911, 31,440 chests will be sold.

The duty levied by the Government on each chest may be taken to be the difference between the average price realised and the average cost.

Under a convention made in 1815, the French Government has the right to purchase not more than 300 chests of opium each year, at the average price realised for the rest of the opium at the sales. This right has been commuted for a money payment, amounting to ₹8,000 a year, under an agreement which will remain in force until the 31st December 1912. The agreement binds the French Government to take effective steps for the prevention of illicit traffic in opium between French and adjacent British territory.

Excise opium is distributed from the factories, or from the Calcutta warehouse, to the Government treasuries, whence it is issued, on payment, to licensed vendors and druggists only. In the accounts, a sum of ₹8½ per ser out of the proceeds of this opium is credited under Opium as representing the estimated cost of production. The remainder of the proceeds is credited under Excise.

Eastern Bengal and Assam are supplied from the opium factories at Patna and Ghazipur through the Bengal Board of Revenue, and issues are made from the district treasuries to licensed vendors. The cultivation of poppy is not permitted in the Madras Presidency, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Baluchistan, and the only licit supply of opium is Bengal excise opium. In the Central Provinces and Berar and in Baluchistan this drug is imported from the Ghazipur factory and supplied to district treasuries, while in the Madras Presidency it is issued to wholesale vendors, at a fixed price, from two central storehouses, one at Tondiarpet (Madras) and the other at Rajahmundry.

* A small quantity of opium for medical purposes is also made at Patna, and morphia and codeine are made at Ghazipur from opium not fit for other purposes

MALWA OPIUM

Malwa opium is almost entirely produced in the undermentioned Native States in the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, together with the Baroda State. In Khairpur (Sind), it is grown in the Khairpur Taluka but production is limited to the requirements of the State. Of British territory, it is grown in Ajmer-Merwara only.

In these States the British Government has no concern with the cultivation of the poppy or the manufacture of opium or its local consumption; nor has it any concern with the export, except that it levies a duty on opium which passes into or through British territory, either for local consumption in British India, or for export by sea to China and other foreign countries. It is this duty, commonly called pass-duty, which constitutes the British revenue from Malwa opium and is credited to opium revenue when the opium is passed out for export by sea. The pass-duty on Malwa opium destined for consumption in British territory is an excise receipt, and stood during 1909-10 at R10 per ser equal to R700 per chest. An arrangement has been made between His Majesty's Government and the Government of China whereby the importation of the Indian Opium into China has to be gradually diminished, and in pursuance of this arrangement the exports of Malwa Opium to China during the calendar years 1908, 1909, 1910, and 1911 have been limited to 15,100, 13,600, 12,100, and 15,160 chests, respectively.

The Government is enabled to raise revenue from Malwa opium because the States in which the drug is produced have no access to the sea, except through British territory. The import of the opium into, or transport through, British territory is prohibited, except on payment of the pass-duty and under passes granted under the authority of the Opium Agents. The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India and the Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara are ex-officio Opium Agents for their respective charges.

For the weighment of the opium, for the issue of necessary passes, and for the recovery of pass fees, Government has established scales maintained by the Opium Agents, the principal scales being located at Indore, Mandisor, Ujjain, and Ratlam in Central India, and at Chitor in Rajputana. There are also scales at some other convenient places, namely, at Ahmedabad in Gujarat, at Dhar, Jaora, and Bhopal in Central India, and at Ajmer and Baran (Kotah) in Rajputana.

The poppy is sown in Malwa in November, the plants flower in the beginning of February, and by the end of March the whole of the opium has been collected by the cultivators and is ready for sale. The village bankers and others, into whose possession the raw opium passes, usually retain it until the end of April. During May and June it is bought by the large dealers, who make it up into balls of about twelve ounces each, and expose it in storehouses to dry for the next two or three months, after which it is ready for the scales. It is ready for export by September; but as considerable dryage takes place during the transport of new opium to Bombay, it is commonly kept back until October. A chest of Malwa opium contains 140 lb in weight. The opium is of 90° to 95° consistency, and is usually packed in half-chests for convenience of carriage.

From October 1897 until May 1904 the rate of pass-duty was R525 at Ajmer, and R500 elsewhere, on each chest of opium weighed for export by sea. This duty was increased by one hundred rupees, under Finance Department Notification No. 2930-A, dated the 6th May 1904. A higher rate of pass-duty is levied at Ajmer, because, these scales being situated in British territory, the opium weighed there is not subject to the dues levied by the Native States. Since 1887-88, however, there have been no exports from the Ajmer Agency, except one chest in 1893-94, 9 chests in 1904, 4 chests in 1906, and 20 chests in 1910.

In connection with the restriction of the exports to China it has lately been decided to levy a duty of R800 per chest on certain chests for whose export in 1912 application has already been made. The right to ship the remainder of the exports of the last mentioned and subsequent years will be sold by auction to the highest bidder at periodical sales to be held by the Collector of Customs in Bombay.

Opium which has been weighed and passed for export by sea from Bombay may, after arrival at Bombay, be diverted for local consumption on payment of a higher rate of pass-duty of R725 per chest when the pass was granted at Ajmer, and of R700 per chest when the pass was granted elsewhere. When opium is weighed directly for local consumption and not for export by sea, the higher duty is charged at once. This duty is an Excise receipt.

The pass-duty on opium weighed for export is generally levied in the form of hundis, i.e., bills of exchange drawn on Bombay and payable at six days' sight, and these must be cashed before the consignee can obtain delivery of the opium. At the Ajmer Agency and at Ahmedabad the duty is paid in cash, or by hundis, or bills payable at sight drawn on Bombay. After weighment of the opium and delivery of the hundi, the opium is transported by railway to Bombay under cover of the pass, the cost of transit being borne by the owner. In Bombay it is received by the Collector of Customs, who is responsible for seeing that it corresponds with the covering pass and who detains it until the hundi has been cashed. The opium is then warehoused, and is at the disposal of the owner for export or for sale locally, subject to the provisions of the Opium Act and the Bombay Opium Rules.

The cultivation of the poppy is prohibited in Coorg and in the Bombay Presidency and the source of supply is Malwa opium.

PANJAB

The cultivation of the poppy was permitted until 1897 (under license for each crop) throughout the greater part of the Panjab except in the districts of Delhi, Gurgaon, Rohtak, Hissar, the greater part of Karnal, and part of Ferozpur, where it has long been prohibited. The total area cultivated was usually about 10,000 acres, but there were only five really opium-producing districts— Ambala, Simla, Kangra, Shahpur, and Dera Ghazi Khan. In the remaining districts opium was either not extracted, or, if extracted, only a small quantity became available for sale by licensed vendors, the rest being surreptitiously disposed of; and the produce was consumed, in the shape of a drink called post made from poppy-heads, either illicitly or after passing through the hands of licensed vendors. The Government of India prohibited poppy cultivation in the case of most districts of the Panjab from the 1st September 1897, cultivation being now (1910-11) restricted, so far as opium production is concerned, to the Kotkhai tahsil of the Simla district, and the Kulu sub-division of the Kangra district. Cultivation of the poppy, for the production of poppy heads only, is also permitted in the district of Jalandhar and in one tahsil of Hoshiarpur.

An acreage duty was levied during 1909-10 on the cultivation of the poppy, at the rate of R2* per acre in the two opium-producing hill districts and at the rate of R4 per acre in the two poppy-head producing districts of Hoshiarpur and Jalandhar. These rates have since been raised.

A cultivator of opium is not permitted to consume any part of the produce himself. He is bound either to dispose of the standing crop to a license-holder, who extracts the opium and sells it to a licensed wholesale or retail vendor, or to dispose of the produce, either as poppy-heads, or as opium extracted by himself, to a licensed retail or wholesale vendor.

Since the 1st April 1896 a duty of R2 per ser had been levied on the importation into the Panjab of all opium other than Malwa, including opium produced in Kashmir, the Native Hill States, or elsewhere. This rate was raised to R6 per ser with effect from the 1st April 1909. Upon Malwa opium an import duty of R4 per ser was levied until the 31st July 1908; but since that date such imports have been stopped. Apart from locally produced opium and that imported from Kashmir, Afghanistan, and trans-frontier territory to the west of the Indus, the only other source of supply was in 1909-10 Bengal opium which was obtained from the Ghazipur factory and issued to licensed vendors from district treasuries.

BARODA

The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are permitted in Baroda, under a State monopoly for consumption in the State and for export to China. The State has, by agreement, assimilated its retail system and selling prices to those in force in adjacent British districts, and prevents the introduction of Baroda opium into British territory and into the territories of adjacent Native States.

AJMER-MERWARA

In these two British districts, which are surrounded by the Native States constituting the Rajputana Agency, the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium were formerly permitted without restriction, except in the three municipalities of Ajmer, Beawar, and Kekri, and the cantonment of Nasirabad. This course was adopted in consequence of the difficulty of preventing smuggling from the surrounding States. In the three municipalities and in the cantonment of Nasirabad, the license of the Collector was required for the cultivation of the poppy, or the manufacture or sale of opium. The absence of control over the production and disposal of opium in the rural areas, and the freedom of import and export from and to adjacent Native States, afforded ground for the belief that Ajmer-Merwara had become a focus of opium smuggling, and in order to check this illicit traffic, revised Opium Rules were enacted, with effect from the 1st April 1901, to provide adequate control over the production, import, export, transport, and sale of opium throughout Ajmer-Merwara. An import duty of R4 per ser was levied from the 1st April 1904 on Malwa opium brought into Ajmer-Merwara for consumption, and from the 1st April 1905 an excise duty at the same rate was imposed on opium produced in the district. Subsequently, from the 1st April 1908, the levy of the Excise duty was restricted to opium consumed within Ajmer-Merwara and the duty on opium removed for export outside the district was remitted. Poppy cultivation was at the same time prohibited in the Ajmer district, and a maximum limit of 2,500 and 400 bighas was imposed upon the cultivation in the Todgarh and Beawar tahsils, respectively. No area was licensed for the cultivation of poppy in the harvest of 1909-10.

* In addition to a quantitative duty of R2 a ser

BURMA

Opium is produced in the Shan States beyond British limits, but its cultivation is prohibited throughout Burma, except in the Kachin villages of the districts of Katha, Bhamo, Myitkyina, and Upper Chindwin in Upper Burma. On the drug produced in British territory an excise duty is levied at the rate of 8 annas for each quarter of a pé (one pé = 1·75 of an acre) or fraction thereof, on which the poppy is grown. Land under poppy cultivation is measured by the village headman. The area under poppy is not known, because the localities in which the cultivation is carried on are for the most part beyond the sphere of regular administration. The importation of opium by land from the Shan States into Upper Burma is permitted on payment of a duty of R17 per viss (3·65lb avoirdupois). Neither of these classes of opium may be exported to Lower Burma. Shan or foreign travellers of distinction may, however, import into any part of Burma for the personal use of themselves and their attendants, without payment of duty, Shan or foreign opium in quantities not exceeding 5 tolas for each person.

Under an order issued by the Government of India in February 1898, caravans entering the Myitkyina and Bhamo districts from China or the Shan States are licensed to import for personal use Chinese or Shan opium on payment of a duty equal to the retail price of such opium in the districts in which the license is issued.

Bengal excise opium is procured by Government and stored in the district treasuries, whence it is issued to licensed shops where it may be retailed to persons entitled to possess it, namely, medical practitioners, pharmacists, doctors, tattooers, non-Burmans, and, in Lower Burma, only registered Burmans.

NOTE.—The receipts in Bengal include the cost price of opium manufactured for the Excise Department, namely, the figures in the last column of table No. 2 and the corresponding figures for preceding years. There was, however, one exception in 1871-72, when the cost price ₹15,49,050 was, by special arrangement, credited to Excise revenue

NOTE (1).—All opium imported into China reaches it through Hongkong and Shanghai. But smuggling is extensively carried on between Hongkong and the adjacent coast above and below Canton and at other Chinese ports, and the net imports in the Chinese Customs Accounts state imperfectly the consumption of Indian opium

(2) The figures under the head "Sorts" denote Persian and Turkish opium, chiefly Persian, and boiled opium.

SALT

[TABLES 1 TO 21, PAGES 64 TO 81]

(Compiled from figures specially supplied by the Governments of Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bombay, Madras, Burma, and the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue and published in their respective reports on the administration of the Salt Revenue)

N.B.—Statistics relating to the production of salt in the Gwalior State which have hitherto been incorporated in this section have been excluded this year in accordance with the decision of the Government of India that the volumes constituting the Statistics of British India should be restricted to a presentation of statistics relating to British India only.

Production

The total quantity of salt produced in India in 1909 was about 32 millions of maunds (1,187,878 tons). This quantity was supplemented by nearly 14 millions of maunds (506,275 tons) of imported salt, the total quantity produced and imported amounting to about 46 millions of maunds (1,694,153 tons). From two-thirds to three-fourths of the quantity annually consumed is produced in India. Importation is practically limited to salt landed in Bengal and Burma from England, Germany, other countries in Europe, Aden, Muscat, Jeddah, and some Egyptian ports on the Red Sea. There is a trifling import by land by trans-Himalayan routes.

The localities in India where salt is produced, and the quantity (maunds) produced in each of the last three years, are :

For some years previous to 1901, and again in 1902 and 1904, the quantity of salt manufactured by Government was less than the quantity produced by private manufacturers. In 1901 and 1903 the quantity manufactured by Government exceeded the quantity manufactured privately. In 1905 the quantities were almost equal. In 1906 and 1907 the quantity of private salt exceeded the quantity manufactured by Government by over one million maunds and in 1908 by nearly two million maunds. In 1909 the quantity of Government salt exceeded the quantity of private salt by 851,461 maunds.

Sea salt on the coast of Burma is produced by artificial heat ; on the coasts of Bombay, Sind, and Madras by solar evaporation. In Rajputana the salt is obtained by evaporation from brine deposits at Sambhar and other places. In the Panjab and Kohat, rock salt is obtained from the Salt Ranges and at Mandi, and brine salt from the sources at Sultanpur, near Delhi. More than half of the whole production is represented by sea salt evaporated on the coasts of Bombay and Madras.

Consumption and Revenue

The figures below indicate the progress in consumption in the last twenty-two years :

	Average annual quantity	Average annual duty
	Maunds	₹
1888-89 to 1892-93	33,431,896	8,02,69,704
1893-94 to 1897-98	34,210,675	8,25,80,982
1898-99 to 1902-03	35,678,602	8,67,59,679
1903-04 to 1907-08	39,597,341	6,15,89,957
1908-09	43,017,024	4,32,64,162
1909-10	43,238,237	4,34,85,142

Administration

The administrative system for the control of production and the collection of the revenue varies in accordance with local conditions and methods of production. Detailed information regarding the salt administration will be found in the 13th issue of the volume of Financial and Commercial Statistics.

Burma

Lower Burma.—Salt is made at scattered points along the coast by the boiling of sea-water and, in a few places, of saline earth, in pots and cauldrons. Manufacture is permitted in ten districts only. In seven of these a system of direct taxation is in force. In the other three, instead of ascertaining the quantity of salt actually produced, the productive capacity of the vessels employed is estimated, and a charge made on each which is supposed to be about equivalent to the duty on imported salt from time to time. The present rate of import duty is one rupee per maund.

In January 1902 the system of direct taxation on output was introduced into the Hanthawaddy and Bassein Districts, the rate of duty being fixed at eight annas a maund. The system was extended to the Myaungmya District in 1903, to the Mergui and Tavoy Districts in 1904, from the 1st January 1905 to the Amherst District, and from the 1st January 1906 to the Kyaukpyu District.

Upper Burma.—In Upper Burma in 1890 a composition duty on the pots or cauldrons used in manufacture was fixed in substitution for previous systems. The duty on salt locally produced is less than the duty imposed on imported salt, viz., R1 per maund, and it is believed that it is not possible to level up the former to the latter without killing the local industry.

Bengal (including Eastern Bengal and Assam)

From the creation of the salt monopoly in 1765, a preventive establishment has been employed for the protection of the revenue for the most part separate from, and independent of, the agency controlling the manufacture and sale of salt.

In Orissa the administration of the Salt Department was made over from the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, to the Commissioner of Excise under the Government of Bengal from October 1897. Advantage was taken of the transfer to create a combined preventive establishment for the whole of Bengal littoral, and the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, was extended from the 9th April 1898 to the districts of the 24-Parganas, Midnapur, Khulna, Backerganj, and Chittagong, Bengal Act VII of 1864 also remaining in force in them. In March 1901 the Act was extended to the Districts of Howrah and Noakhali. A proposal for the reorganisation of the Salt Department having been sanctioned by His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in February 1905, preventive operations were started in Chittagong in October 1900 and in Noakhali in October 1905 tentatively for three years. They were also inaugurated on an independent footing in Howrah where they had been carried on tentatively since January 1902, by a small party under the Inspector of the Tamluk (Terapakia) Circle in the District of Midnapur. There is no preventive establishment for the District of Backerganj. No salt is produced or manufactured in other districts of Eastern Bengal and Assam. Salt educed in the process of manufacture at the saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its suburbs is subject to a duty of R1 a maund since the 20th March 1907. The salt preventive establishments in Chittagong and Noakhali were under the control of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, till the 31st March 1910, when they were made over to the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam.

The following are the descriptions of salt now commonly imported :

Manufactured by solar evaporation : from Bombay, Madras, Ceylon, Jeddah, Muscat, Egyptian Red Sea ports, Aden, and Spain ;

Manufactured by boiling : from Liverpool and Hamburg ;

Rock salt : from Muscat.

The rate of duty per maund on salt in Bengal has decreased from R3-4 in 1844 to R1 in 1907.

Northern India

The whole Inland Customs Department (now the Department of Salt Revenue in Northern India) is administered by the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, formerly responsible to each of the local Governments and Administrations within whose jurisdictions the customs organisation worked, but now immediately under the Government of India.

The salt works at Sultanpur in the Delhi Division are worked under the supervision of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department, which has also the charge of the mines in the Salt Range in the Panjab, and of a force designated the Internal Branch maintained in Oudh, the Province of Agra, the Panjab, Rajputana, and Bihar, for the supervision of the saltpetre trade, the levy of duty on salt educed from saltpetre, and the control of the manufacture of other saline substances, such as sulphate of soda and carbonate of soda.

The general rates of duty on Rajputana salt have varied between R3 in 1877 and R1 in 1907.

Salt excavated in the Sind Saugor Doab and the Kalabagh mines is subject to a duty of R1 per maund since the 20th March 1907, as also salt from the Kohat mines.

Salt educed in the process of manufacturing saltpetre has always been subject to the ordinary duty.

Sind

There are three salt sources in Sind from which salt is now issued to the public, namely, the Maurypur works and the Saran and Dilyar deposits. The Maurypur works, where salt is manufactured by solar evaporation, were opened in the year 1878, and from these the greater portion of the province is supplied. The works are situated on the Moach plain adjacent to the end of Karachi harbour, from which by channels the brine is obtained, reaching the storage wells by percolation through a richly saline soil which greatly increases the strength of it. In 1884 a depôt for the storage and sale of Maurypur salt was opened at Sukkur. Maurypur salt is supplied free of duty to the State of Khairpur, local manufacture there being suppressed.

SALT—concluded

The Saran and Dilyar deposits were opened in 1879 and 1882, respectively. The salt is formed in a lake from which, when the water dries, salt is excavated and stored. It is supplied to the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages of the Districts of Thar and Parkar and Hyderabad.

Bombay

Salt is produced in Bombay for local consumption and for export by land to Central India, Rajputana, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and the Nizam's territories, and by sea to the Malabar Coast of Madras and to Calcutta. Under existing arrangements exports, both by land and sea, pay full excise duty in Bombay, with the exception of those to Travancore and Cochin on which a nominal charge of three pies per maund only to cover cost of establishment at the salt pans, is levied in accordance with a trade convention concluded with Travancore and Cochin in 1865.

Except in Gujarat, the excise system is followed, under which licenses are issued for private manufacture at approved places which are guarded, and whence no removals are allowed, except upon payment of duty, or under credit for payment. In Gujarat, where all the works in British territory are the property of Government, the monopoly system was introduced in 1873-74, and manufacture was concentrated at two places—Kharaghora on the borders of the Runn, and Dharásna on the sea coast of the Surat District. At Kharaghora salt in large crystals is made from brine wells under departmental supervision, bought from the manufacturers as made, stored, and sold at the cost and risk of Government. At Dharásna the salt is ordinary sea-salt and Government merely fixes the price at which it is to be sold without taking it over or interfering directly with manufacture. A small quantity of salt is issued annually free of duty from the works at Kharaghora to certain Native States and Chiefs in pursuance of the arrangements for the establishment of the monopoly.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Bombay Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at 7 annas a maund were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 30 yards in 1909-10.

Madras

There are two systems of salt manufacture in the Presidency, under one of which the salt manufactured is sold to Government only and is disposed of by Government to the trade, whilst under the other Government levies an excise duty, plus a small and varying cess to cover interest on capital cost of works, the property of Government, and the cost of any repairs effected by it on account of the licensees at the time of removal from the factory, and allows the manufacturers to make such arrangements as they please for the disposal of the salt. In both cases the production of salt is only allowed in well-fenced factories and subject to Government supervision, but, except in matters endangering the revenue, little interference is exercised in the details of manufacture under the excise system. The rate paid by Government for its salt varies, but may be taken roughly at an anna and a half per maund. This is only the bare cost of manufacture and does not include cost of works, storage, transport, etc. The duty on salt is ordinarily payable before the salt is removed from the factory, but six months' credit may be allowed to approved merchants on the deposit of security in Government promissory notes and a few other specified kinds of securities.

In Malabar no salt is manufactured, and that region is supplied by imports from Bombay, Goa, and other places.

By agreement the French Government undertakes to prevent the manufacture of salt throughout its possessions in India, and in consideration receives payments annually aggregating ₹4,41,600, and obtains its supply of salt at cost price. The authorities of the French settlements in Madras indent on the nearest British factories for the salt they require and undertake to sell it at the approximate prices charged in British territory. The correspondence is not complete because they sell by measure and not by weight.

Until 1865 the manufacture of salt was a Government monopoly in Travancore and Cochin, the selling price in Travancore being ₹1-1 a maund, and in Cochin annas 12. In that year both the States agreed to adopt the British Indian selling price of salt.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Madras Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at cost price (that is, cost plus cost of transport from the factory) were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 133 such yards in 1909-10.

NOTE.—This table states the quantity of salt actually consumed in each province, and the duty thereon calculated at the rate in operation in each province, except that the figures under Bombay include salt exported to the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Central India, the Central Provinces, Mysore, and the Nizam's Territories. From the 18th March 1903 the general rate of duty was reduced from R2½ to R2 per maund, and in the case of salt manufactured in certain Kohat mines the duty was altered from R2 per Lahori maund to R1½ per Indian maund. A further reduction in the general rate from R2 to R1½ per maund took effect from the 22nd March 1905. The general duty was again reduced from R1½ to R1 per maund with effect from the 20th March 1907. In Burma the rate remains unaltered, namely, R1 per maund

(a) The sums entered under Duty include duty on excised as well as on imported salt. The quantity of the former is not entered in the figure under Quantity, only rough estimates being available

(b) Figures for Eastern Bengal and Assam have been excluded from the 1st October 1905. The quantity actually consumed in the province is not available

(c) Exclusive of 46,706 maunds of salt issued under the credit system

[TABLES 1 TO 12, PAGES 83 TO 99]

(Compiled from special official returns)

The stamp revenue is derived from two great classes of stamps—judicial or court-fee stamps and non-judicial or revenue stamps. Judicial or court-fee stamps are provided for by the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870; non-judicial stamps by the Indian Stamp Act, II of 1899. Both these Acts have been amended from time to time by subsequent legislation.

The immediate control of the stamp revenue is vested in the local Governments, subject to the general supervision of the Government of India.

The stamps are manufactured in England, the quantities required for consumption being sent to India on annual indents. They are consigned to the Central Stamp depôts at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, and Karáchi, whence supplies are distributed to local depôts and offices on indent. The Central depôts supply the requirements of the different provinces as shewn below :—

Calcutta	Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Central India, and the Central Provinces and Berar (in regard to stamps for copies).
Madras	Madras Presidency, Coorg, and the treasuries at Bangalore and Travancore.
Bombay	Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), the Central Provinces and Berar (except in regard to stamps for copies which, as stated above, are supplied from the Calcutta Depôt), and Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana.
Rangoon . . .	Burma and the Andamans.
Karáchi	Sind, Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, the Panjab, Rajputana (except Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana, which, as stated above, are supplied from the Bombay Depôt), the Residency treasuries in Kashmir, the Khorasan Agency treasury, and the areas under the jurisdiction of the Political Resident in the Persian Gulf.

In each province there is a Superintendent of Stamps,—(in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Madras he is a member of the Board of Revenue and in the United Provinces, the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue), who ordinarily combines other functions with the function of administering the stamp revenue. Stamps are sold by certain officials (such as postmasters) and by licensed vendors whose business is conducted under rules framed by the local authorities, and to whom stamps are supplied in quantity at various rates of discount.

Two kinds of stamps—adhesive and impressed—are used to denote the payment of duty on instruments; and impressed stamps are again of two classes, namely, impressed sheets, the paper bearing the impression of stamps of varying values engraved thereon, and impressed labels which are affixed to instruments by Government officers empowered to do so. These officers are required, when affixing the labels, to impress them by means of a stamping machine, and also to stamp or write on the face of the label the date of impression, their initials being added when the duty amounts to five rupees and upwards, and their signatures (under the label) when the duty amounts to twenty rupees or more. The centres provided for the purpose of affixing and impressing labels are—the Calcutta, Chittagong, Godavari, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara collectorates; the Moulmein, Akyab, and Bassein treasuries; the office of the Deputy Commissioner of Kamrup at Gauhati; the offices of the Superintendents of Stamps at Madras, Bombay, Lahore, Rangoon, Karáchi, Nagpur, and Aden; and the office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

[TABLES 1 TO 14, PAGES 103 TO 137]

(Compiled from special official returns)

During the ten years ending with 1909-10 the net receipts from the excise duties increased from R5,66,74,568 to R9,18,62,713, the increase being at the rate of 62 per cent. The receipts from opium (consumed in India, not exported) rose from R1,03,17,621 to R1,48,71,916, being at the rate of 44 per cent. The chief increase occurred in the net receipts from liquors and from drugs other than opium (including miscellaneous receipts), which rose from R4,63,56,947 to R7,69,90,797, the increase being at the rate of 66 per cent. This large increase is due, not merely to the expansion of consumption, but also to the imposition of progressively higher rates of duty and the increasingly effective control of the excise administration.

Madras contributes the largest proportion of the liquor revenue, about 34 per cent, Bombay and Bengal contributing 20 and 15 per cent respectively.

The revenue from drugs (excluding opium) has risen in the ten years from R59,13,399 to R98,85,760, the increase being at the rate of 67 per cent.

The sources of the excise revenue, and the gross revenue obtained from each in 1909-10, are :

	R
Spirits	7,21,21,776
Beer	7,49,989
Opium	1,48,71,916
Intoxicating drugs, other than opium	98,85,760
Miscellaneous	3,96,378

The incidence in 1909-10 of excise taxation per head of the population (according to the census of 1901) is

	a.	p.
Bombay	15	1·65
Burma	13	2·72
Madras	11	3·35
Central Provinces and Berar	9	2·27
Bengal	5	3·57
Eastern Bengal and Assam	3	9·98
Panjab	3	4·83
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	2	10·95
North-West Frontier Province	2	4·78

The incidence per head in all British India was about 6 annas.

Of the excise revenue of Bengal nearly 24 per cent was contributed by Calcutta. The cities of Bombay and Madras yielded 9 and 7 per cent respectively of the revenue of those provinces.

Below are stated the rates of excise duty on liquors, opium, and other drugs levied in each province during 1909-10 :

The figures formerly given in these tables were revised in 1905, owing mainly to the inclusion of the duty on Malwa opium realised in the Panjab from 1882-83, the exclusion of certain receipts on account of the Excluded Local Funds in the Central India Agencies from 1893-94, and the inclusion of the license and distillery fees and duties realised in the Military Department from 1897-98 and of the excise revenue for Bangalore from 1900-01, which had hitherto been omitted from the head "India, general."

Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for these provinces have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shown under the head of "spirits" and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out from the year 1878-79, except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available.

The tables which follow have been restricted to twenty-five years. For figures for the years prior to 1885-86, the 1st issue of Statistics of British India—Part IV(b) Finance and Revenue—may be referred to.

NOTE.—Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for the United Provinces in Tables Nos. 1, 1—A, 2, 2—A, 3, 3—A, 8—A, 8—B and 14 have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shewn under the head of "spirits" and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out, except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available.

* Includes Coorg, Central India, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan from 1882-83, and Bangalore from 1900-01. (The figures for Central India have been revised with effect from 1893-94)

† From 1897-98 the figures include license and distillery fees and duties, etc., realised in the Military Department

‡ The increase in 1908-09 is due to the inclusion of receipts in Central India which were credited in former years to the Local Abkari Fund, which was abolished on 1st April 1908

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section gives details of Provincial Rates, which, till 1907-08, included, amongst others, (1) District Local Fund cess, (2) Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, famine assurances, canals, etc., and (3) cess for village services and patwaris. But from 1908-09 onwards the only cess of any importance which is brought into the general accounts is the Public Works cess in Bengal and the districts of Eastern Bengal. The only other large item included in the total is the amount which the Government of the United Provinces appropriates from the local rates for the payment of rural Police in Agra. With a few petty exceptions, namely, the cess levied in Indore at one rupee per chest of Malwa Opium in transit to Bombay and the assessment on Wards' Estates for establishment charges in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the United Provinces, and the Panjab, all the other rates and cesses named below which formerly appeared under this head are now credited to local funds, having been excluded from the general estimates and accounts of the Empire. The total receipts are now less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue.

The District Local Fund cesses on land were imposed in most provinces in 1870 and 1871. They are in most instances collected jointly with the land revenue and rise or fall with it.

Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, etc., are mostly levied in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam and the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

The so-called famine cesses levied in the United Provinces, the Panjab, and the Central Provinces were remitted during 1905-06, and the remissions were partly compensated for by enhanced receipts in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

During 1906-07 the patwari cess in the United Provinces, the Panjab, Ajmer, the Central Provinces, and the Sambalpur district of Bengal was repealed, and the ryotwari village service cess in Madras, the village service cess in Coorg, and the zamindari dâk cess in Bengal and Eastern Bengal were abolished.

In 1907-08 the proprietary estates village service cess was extended to Madras.

The expenditure in 1909-10 on account of establishment and other charges was about ₹74,000 and was incurred in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

‡ The amount credited to this head has been excluded from the general finance with effect from 1908-09. The total receipts under this head amounted to R2,37,33,578 in 1908-09 and R2,45,86,292 in 1909-10

The first two tables of the series state the amount of duty collected each year, and the others state the rate of duty imposed on all principal articles of merchandise by the schedules of the various Tariff Acts passed since 1882 and thus constitute a history of the legislation respecting customs duties since that year. For the rates for earlier years, the first issue may be referred to.

Import duties.—From 1859 to 1864 the general rate of import duty was 10 per cent, this heavy rate having been imposed as one of the means of redressing the financial position which had been seriously affected by the mutiny of 1857. The rate was found to be so high as to operate in restriction of consumption, and in 1864 it was reduced to 7½ per cent. That rate was allowed to remain until 1875 when it was reduced to 5 per cent. In 1882 the import duties were repealed, the only articles left on the tariff schedule being liquors, arms, opium (the latter giving a nominal revenue, as the duty is meant to be prohibitory), and salt. The last-named article appears at the foot of the first table, but the collections are not included in the total of the Customs revenue, as the entire revenue from imported and Indian salt is credited in the public accounts to a separate head (Salt) and is dealt with in another section of this part.

Between 1882 and 1894 the following changes were made in the tariff: the duty on liquors was increased in 1887 and again in 1890, and the duty on salt was increased in 1888; a duty was imposed on petroleum in 1888, and on dry and wet salt-fish imported into Burma from any place beyond the limits of British India in 1893.

In March 1894 the tariff was re-established much as it had stood in 1875: imports generally were subjected to duty at the rate of 5 per cent, but the duty on most classes of iron and steel was fixed at 1 per cent, and a few articles remained exempt from duty, the most important being food-grains, machinery, railway material, coal, and cotton yarn and manufactured goods.

In December 1894 cotton yarn of a certain fineness and cotton manufactures containing such yarn were made dutiable at the general rate of import duty (5 per cent), but a further change was made in February 1896, when cotton yarn and cotton sewing thread were exempted from duty, and the rate of duty on all other cotton goods irrespective of fineness was reduced to 3½ per cent. The imposition of a duty on imported cotton goods was accompanied by the imposition of an equivalent excise duty on cotton goods woven in the Indian mills.

In 1896 the exemption of machinery was restricted to machinery required for certain specified industries, and from time to time additions were made to the list of industries. In 1899 the restriction was removed and all machinery was exempted without reference to the industry for which it was required. In the same year sugar imported from countries which grant bounties on export was charged with an additional duty equivalent to the bounties, and in June 1902 an amendment of the Tariff Act, VIII of 1902, authorised special duties being imposed on sugar produced in countries where the difference between the rate of duty or other taxation to which foreign sugars are subject and that imposed on the home product exceeds 6 fr. per 100 kilos for refined sugar and 5 fr. 50 centimes for other sugar, the duty being limited to half such excess. Such special duties were imposed from time to time by notifications on sugar produced in Austria-Hungary, Germany, France, Denmark, the Argentine Republic, and Russia. Section 8-B of the Act, in pursuance of which these special duties were imposed, expired on the 31st August 1903, but an amending Act, passed on the 28th August 1903, authorised the continuance, until the 31st March 1904, of the duties which had been imposed under that section. By a further Act passed on the 25th March 1904, the same section was revived and continued in force with effect from the 1st April 1904. The additional and special duties were, however, remitted by notification in respect of sugar produced after the 31st August 1903 in countries which were parties to the Brussels Sugar Convention of 1902. These countries are Belgium, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. The duties have also been remitted in respect of sugar produced in Russia with effect from 1st September 1908. The countervailing duty on Chilian sugar was remitted in November 1909. Special duties are, however, still chargeable on sugar imported from Denmark and the Argentine Republic.

By Act I of 1906 the rates of import duty on ordinary spirits were raised from R6 to R7 per imperial gallon, on liqueurs from R6 to R10, and on perfumed spirits from R8 to R11.

By Act II of 1908 the rate of duty on ale, beer, porter, cider, and other fermented liquors was raised from one anna to two annas per imperial gallon.

By Act VIII of 1910 the duty on all sorts of liquors and on petroleum was raised, unmanufactured tobacco was made dutiable, specific rates were imposed on silver and on both manufactured and unmanufactured tobacco, and alkaloids of opium were made subject to the same duty as opium.

Export duties.—The general rate of export duty from 1859 to 1867 was 3 per cent. Many articles were subject to taxation in 1859, but the list was gradually reduced until, in 1867, it consisted of cotton manufactures, indigo, rice, wheat, and other grains, tanned and dressed hides and skins, lac, oils, seeds, spices, and shawls. The list was then further gradually reduced, until finally rice alone remained in 1882, this being the only dutiable export at present, besides rice-flour, which has been subject to duty since August 1893.

A customs duty at the rate of a quarter of a pie (one forty-eighth of an anna) per pound has also been levied, from the 1st April 1903, on all tea produced in India and exported from any customs port to any other

Customs revenue.—The revenue from the import and export duties in the three quinquennial periods ending 1896-97, 1901-02, and 1906-07, and in the years 1907-08, 1908-09, and 1909-10 is stated below (in rupees). The great expansion of the export duties in the three years 1902-03 to 1904-05 was due to the large rice crops in Burma, of which an unusually large proportion was exported to foreign countries as a result of good harvests in India and consequent smaller demand for Burmese rice.

INCOME TAX

[TABLES 1 TO 11, PAGES 153 TO 161]

(Figures supplied by the Local Governments and Administrations)

The Income Tax Act, II of 1886, came into operation on the 1st April 1886. It took the place of various local Acts under which annual licenses were required for the exercise of trades, dealings, or industries. The net revenue obtained from the taxation imposed under those Acts, which were in force in the provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, and the Panjab, was, in the last year of their existence, R47,28,000; in the first year of the operation of the Income Tax Act the net revenue realised was R1,27,75,100. The proceeds of the tax increased steadily from year to year at an average rate of 3 per cent annually up to the end of 1902-03. With effect from the 1st April 1903 the taxable minimum of income was raised from R500 to R1,000 by the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903. The tax is now levied at the rate of four pies in the rupee on incomes of R1,000 but less than R2,000, and five pies in the rupee on incomes of R2,000 and over (2·08 and 2·6 per cent respectively). The proceeds of the tax on incomes of R500 but less than R1,000 were, in 1902-03, nearly 38 lakhs of rupees or 18 per cent of the total. The net decrease in the proceeds of the tax in the year 1903-04 was 14 per cent. The revenue obtained from incomes of each of the descriptions specified in the Schedule of the Act, and the proportion of each, were in 1907-08, 1908-09, and 1909-10:

	1907-08		1908-09		1909-10
	R		R		R
I.—Salaries and Pensions	63,18,130	= 28·15 per cent	65,63,672	= 28·51 per cent	68,59,017	= 29·57 per cent
II.—Profits of Companies	28,24,574	= 12·59 „	29,87,479	= 12·97 „	27,92,116	= 12·04 „
III.—Interest on Securities	10,99,250	= 4·89 „	11,62,291	= 5·05 „	11,63,144	= 5·01 „
IV.—Other sources of Income	1,22,02,060	= 54·37 „	1,23,10,225	= 53·47 „	1,23,81,206	= 53·38 „
TOTAL	2,24,44,014	= 100	2,30,23,667	= 100	2,31,95,483	= 100

The variations in these proportions since the Act came into force have been small.

The total collections comprise the actual tax collected in the year and the arrears of previous years. Refunds are not deducted from the figures shewn as "collections" in these tables. They amounted to R82,682 in 1907-08, R91,666 in 1908-09, and R1,36,314 in 1909-10, being about one-third per cent on the total collections. The figures for each province are as follows:—

	1907-08	1908-09	1909-10
	R	R	R
Burma	4,432	7,136	9,904
Eastern Bengal and Assam	1,231	1,247	1,210
Bengal	6,754	8,277	4,316
United Provinces	5,323	6,376	6,739
Panjab	11,495	10,916	18,408
North-West Frontier Province	1,680	737	1,523
Bombay	15,507	20,896	28,110
Central Provinces and Berar	11,507	6,724	6,173
Madras	24,746	28,713	59,929
Ajmer-Merwara	7	644	2

The total number of persons assessed to the tax has always been a very small fraction of the total population. In the first year it amounted to 354,594. In 1902-03 it was 507,041. The result of the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act of 1903 was to reduce the total number of assessees to 237,673 or 47 per cent of the number assessed in 1902-03. In 1906-07 the number rose to 261,981, in 1907-08 to 265,328, in 1908-09 to 280,161, and in 1909-10 to 286,416.

The number of persons assessed to income-tax, exclusive of Government servants assessed on their salaries, in the principal provinces in 1909-10 and the incidence of the tax per head of population were as follows:—

	Number	Incidence per head of population
		a.	p.
Bombay	46,239	4	4·23
Burma	18,182	2	7·81
Bengal	47,715	1	7·44
Madras	44,640	1	1·1
Panjab	23,572	0	11·37
North-West Frontier Province	1,813	0	6·2
Central Provinces and Berar	8,120	0	6·7
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	29,980	0	7·45
Eastern Bengal and Assam	17,983	0	6·36

The collections of the tax in 1909-10 classified according to the amount of annual income were in classes I to IV (annual incomes of R1,000 to R2,000) R48 lakhs, and in classes V to XIII (annual incomes of R2,000 and upwards) R183 lakhs. The first four classes, that is, those paying the rate of four pies in the rupee, contain 178,327 assessees or 65 per cent of the total and return only 21 per cent of the total collections. The other nine classes contain 96,048 tax-payers who pay about 79 per cent of the total collections. The total income on which the tax was assessed, calculated from the amount of tax paid, was in round figures 9,321 lakhs of rupees, equivalent to about £62,200,000. The annual income of the tax-payers in the first four classes is 2,301 lakhs of rupees making an average of R1,290 for each assessee. The total income of the tax-payers in the nine higher classes was 7,020 lakhs of rupees which gives an average of R7,309 for each assessee.

(a) The Act was not enforced in Burma until the 1st April 1888

NOTE.—(1) The figures in these tables do not exactly correspond with those of the Finance and Revenue Accounts, as they are taken from the administration reports, and include in some cases collections made after the close of the financial year

(2) The variations in the figures for 1905-06 of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam are due to the territorial changes in those provinces in 1905

* Under the Income Tax Act, II of 1886, the taxable minimum of income was R500. By the Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903, this minimum was raised to R1,000. Under the original Act the first two classes of incomes were (I) R500 but less than R750 and (II) R750 but less than R1,000. On the passing of the amendment Act of 1903 these two classes were left out. The figures from 1903-04 under the old classes represent collections of arrears of Income Tax assessed in 1902-03

(a) Includes R1,758 for which the details by classes are not available

(b) Includes R9,767 for which the details by classes are not available

(c) Excludes arrear collections R15,590 in 1908-09 and R22,017 in 1909-10 for which the details under each Part are not available

NOTE.—"Other Provinces and Departments of Government" include figures for Ajmer-Merwara, Bangalore, Coorg, Hyderabad, and Port Blair, the collections from the salaries of Government officers in the Military, Marine, Postal, Public Works, and Forest Departments (the last up to 1903-04), and the collections made by the Comptroller, India Treasuries, from the salaries of the officers of the various Departments of the Government of India, and from the interest on securities on account of the subordinate treasuries, together with the tax collected by the Public Works Department on account of the profits of certain Railway Companies

(a) These figures represent the number of persons assessed to income tax in 1902-03 from whom arrears were collected in later years

(b) Includes 117 assessees for Burma, 1,130 assessees for the United Provinces and 1 for Departments of Government for whom information about classes is not available

* See note marked (*) at foot of table No. 9. The figures under 'classes I to IV' include the collections under the old classes I and II up to 1902-03 and small arrear collections for these two classes from 1903-04

† The figures in this column differ in some cases from the sums of the figures in the two preceding columns, as explained in the notes (c) and (d). The sum of the totals in the two preceding columns exceed the sum of the figures in the two 'total' columns in table No. 9 by the figures of collections under Part III (Interest on Securities) shown in tables Nos. 1, 3, and 7. Previous to 1908-09, however, some small differences occurred

(c) Includes £13,245 being deductions on commission paid to thugyis

(d) Includes ₹82,339 in 1901-02, and ₹79,505 in 1902-03, on account of collections by employers under section 9 (2) of the Act, the details of which by classes are not available

NOTE.—"Other Provinces and Departments of Government" include figures for Ajmer-Merwara, Bangalore, Coorg, Hyderabad, and Port Blair, the collections from the salaries of Government officers in the Military, Marine, Postal, Public Works, and Forest Departments (the last up to 1903-04), and the collections made by the Comptroller, India Treasuries, from the salaries of the officers of the various Departments of the Government of India, and from the interest on securities on account of the subordinate treasuries, together with the tax collected by the Public Works Department on account of the profits of certain Railway Companies

* See note marked (*) at foot of table No. 9. The figures under 'classes I to IV' include the collections under the old classes I and II up to 1902-03 and small arrear collections for these two classes from 1903-04

† The figures in this column differ in some cases from the sums of the figures in the two preceding columns, as explained in notes (a), (b), (g), (h), and (i). The sum of the totals in the two preceding columns exceed the sum of the figures in the two 'total' columns in table No. 9 by the figures of collections under Part III (Interest on Securities) shown in tables Nos. 1, 3, and 7. Previous to 1908-09, however, some small differences occur

(a) Includes R10,525 in 1903-04, R6,832 in 1904-05, R6,557 in 1905-06, R5,855 in 1906-07, R6,596 in 1907-08, R5,499 in 1908-09 and R5,022 in 1909-10 being deductions on commission paid to thugyis

(b) Includes R69,915 in 1903-04, R74,772 in 1904-05, R78,918 in 1905-06, R80,643 in 1906-07, R36,894 in 1907-08, R86,323 in 1908-09, and R83,829 in 1909-10 on account of collections by employers under section 9 (2) of the Act, the details of which by classes are not available

(c) Defective in the details

(d) The figures from 1905-06 relate to the provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam as reconstituted in October 1905

(e) Incomplete

(f) Including arrears of previous years realised during the year of report, with effect from 1901-02

(g) Includes R26 354 in 1907-08, R22,373 in 1908-09 and R26,147 in 1909-10 collected on the profits of some railway companies

(h) Includes arrear collections of R594 and R 735 in the Panjab and R 40, R62 and R127 in the North-West Frontier Province in 1907-08, 1908-09, and 1909-10 respectively, the details of which by classes are not available

(i) Excludes arrear collections of R5,910 for which the details under each Part are not available

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The statistics of revenue recorded in this table represent tributes received from Native States, in several cases as a result of exchanges of territory and settlement or claims, and contributions made chiefly in lieu of former obligations to supply or maintain troops, the latter constituting a small return for the duty undertaken by the Supreme Government in ensuring the peace of the country. The figures do not show any important fluctuations from year to year except for arrears and their recovery and the levy of fees on succession (nazarana) in some cases.

The total receipts are less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue. The tributes and contributions amount to nearly 89 per cent, and those for special military forces are over 10 per cent of the total receipts. Fees on succession are on the average nearly 1 per cent.

Madras contributes nearly 51 per cent, India—General, which includes tributes and contributions from amongst others the Udaipur, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kotah, Bhopal, and Jowrah States, nearly 22 per cent, Bombay 16 per cent, and Burma 5 per cent

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The interest receipts in this section do not include interest on public works capital. The most important items included under this head of revenue are the loans and advances made by the Imperial Government to the Presidency Corporations and to Native States, as well as those by the Provincial Governments to mofussil municipalities and cultivators. The amount of the interest accrued on the former comes to about 36 per cent, and on the latter 23 per cent of total receipts. This head also includes the interest on the securities held by the Paper Currency Department which contributes about 28 per cent of the total. There are other minor items, such as interest on securities of provincial funds, on arrears of revenue, and on overdrawn capital of guaranteed railways, which are included under this head of revenue.

The total receipts amount to about 1½ per cent of the total Indian revenue. India—General, which includes the transactions of the Government of India, contributes nearly one half of the receipts, Bombay about a fifth, Bengal a seventh, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh about one-fourteenth, and Madras one-seventeenth.

LAND REVENUE

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 5 AND 6]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section shows the details of land revenue receipts and expenditure. Five years' figures have been given in each table for each province.

The total land revenue, which represents over a quarter of the total revenue of India, is made up on the average of the last five years, chiefly of receipts under the following heads :—

Ordinary land revenue	about 90 per cent
Assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents	,, 3 per cent
Capitation tax	,, 3 per cent
Fisheries and miscellaneous revenue	,, 3 per cent

Receipts from the sale of proprietary right, waste lands, etc., and recovery of survey and settlement charges amounted to less than 1 per cent. Land revenue due to irrigation amounts to about 1⅔ crores of rupees and represents over 5 per cent of the total land revenue, but is deducted therefrom to arrive at the net land revenue.

The ordinary land revenue amounts to nearly 29 crores, of which about 6½ crores are contributed by Madras and the United Provinces each, 4 crores by Bombay, 3 crores by Bengal, 2½ crores by the Punjab and Burma each, and nearly 2 crores each by Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Central Provinces and Berar. The permanent settlement system obtains over the greater part of Bengal and Eastern Bengal, nearly a third of Madras, some districts of the United Provinces, and other scattered tracts.

The year 1906-07 was a normal year and land revenue rose by over 1·80 crores, of which Bombay contributed 63 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 44 lakhs, Madras 43 lakhs, the United Provinces and the Punjab 28 lakhs each. Bengal showed a falling-off of 34 lakhs.

The falling-off of 1·62 crores in 1907-08 is attributable to the suspensions and remissions which were sanctioned on a very large scale consequent on the prevalence of famine. The remissions and suspensions were largest (viz., a crore) in the United Provinces. Bombay comes next with 34 lakhs, and the Punjab and the Central Provinces account for 20 and 11 lakhs, respectively.

In 1908-09 there was a rise in land revenue by 1½ crores owing mainly to large collection of famine arrears. The largest increase took place in the United Provinces (1·25 crores), Burma and Madras standing next with 22·7 lakhs and 4·15 lakhs, respectively.

In 1909-10, agricultural conditions were very good on the whole, and land revenue rose by over 2·06 crores, of which Bombay contributed 64·3 lakhs, the Punjab 52·8 lakhs, the United Provinces 41·7 lakhs, the Central Provinces and Berar 22·3 lakhs, Madras 14·1 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 5·8 lakhs and Bengal 4·5 lakhs.

The falling-off of 49·6 lakhs in 1910-11 is attributable mainly to remissions and suspensions : the United and the Central Provinces are jointly responsible for some 30 lakhs of the stated decrease; Burma accounts for 13·6 lakhs and the Punjab for 8·6 lakhs. Madras, on the other hand, showed an increase of 11·4 lakhs.

Bombay contributes about 97 per cent of the receipts from assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents, and the Punjab over 2 per cent, while the share of Bengal is below 1 per cent.

Nearly the whole of the capitation tax is derived from Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam being the only other province which contributes towards this head to the extent of over 2½ per cent.

Burma is responsible for more than a half of the fisheries and miscellaneous revenue. Bombay, the Punjab, and the United Provinces, contribute from 5 to 8 lakhs each; Eastern Bengal and Assam, Madras, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Central Provinces and Berar follow with shares varying from 1½ to 4 lakhs each.

Land revenue due to irrigation is derived chiefly from Madras, the Punjab, Bombay, and the United Provinces.

The expenditure on land revenue (including district administration) is about 17 per cent of the receipts and represents nearly 5 per cent of the total expenditure.

The detailed items on the five years' average are :—

Charges of district administration	44 per cent
District charges	24 per cent
Allowances to district and village officers	12 per cent
Survey and settlements	12 per cent
Commissions on collections	5 per cent
Management of Government estates and grazing lands	2 per cent

The expenditure on district administration is the highest in Madras which is answerable for 20 per cent. The United Provinces comes next with a share of 18 per cent, Bombay, accounts for about 15 per cent., Bengal and Burma for 11 per cent. each, and the Punjab for 9 per cent, Eastern Bengal and Assam is responsible for 8 per cent and the Central Provinces and Berar for 5 per cent.

Bengal leads with a share of about 21 per cent of the expenditure on survey and settlements, Eastern Bengal and Assam accounts for 20 per cent, Madras for 17 per cent, and the Punjab for about 15 per cent, Burma accounts for 12 per cent, while the Central Provinces and the United Provinces are jointly debited to the extent of about 9 per cent only.

The United Provinces are responsible for 28 per cent of the expenditure under district charges Bombay comes next with 20 per cent; Madras is answerable for 17 per cent, the Punjab 12 per cent, Burma 9 per cent, and the Central Provinces 7 per cent.

Madras is answerable for nearly 62 per cent of the expenditure under "Allowances to district and village officers," Bombay nearly 22 per cent, and the Central Provinces 16 per cent.

FORESTS

[TABLES 1 TO 9, PAGES 9 to 32]

(Compiled from the annual Review of Forest Administration in British India by the Inspector General of Forests)

These tables show statistics regarding State forests only, i.e., lands administered as forests by the Forest Department of the Government of India under legal enactments for the time being in force dealing with forests. There are in British India immense forest areas outside the direct control of the Forest Department, which are managed by district officers, local boards or municipalities, or by private owners, the statistics regarding which are not shown in these tables. Forest areas in Native States also are not taken into account in these tables.

The forests under the direct control of the State are classed as "Reserved," "Protected," and "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands.

The "Reserves" are forests intended to be maintained permanently for the supply of timber, fuel, and other produce, or for the protection of the water-supply or other similar reasons.

The "Protected" forests may be either in a state of transition to reserves or intended to remain permanently in the second class. In the former case it has been found necessary to prohibit within these areas certain acts harmful to the forest until such time as careful examination permits of a decision whether more stringent rules shall be enforced; and in the latter the object in view has been to provide for the more beneficial exercise of rights by local communities.

The "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands are those given over with even fewer restrictions (in some cases to the extent of exemption from the operation of forest law) for the use of the public.

Table No. 1 shows all State forest lands and proportion thereof to total area in British India in each year from 1890-91 to 1909-10. Out of the 245,551 square miles under State management in 1909-10, which is 24·9 per cent of the total area (987,990 square miles) of British India, 96,474 square miles or 9·8 per cent were reserved, 8,814 or 1 per cent were protected, and the remaining 140,263 or 14 per cent were unclassed.

Table No. 2 shows all State forest lands and proportion thereof to whole area in each province in each of the five years ending 1909-10. These provincial statistics show that in 1909-10, the percentage of forest land varied from 1·8 per cent in the North-West Frontier Province and 3·9 per cent in the United Provinces to 31·2 per cent in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 62·1 per cent in the Andamans, and 77·9 per cent in Burma. The largest area of unclassed forests occurs in those provinces where the population is scantiest; in fact Burma claims 113,007 square miles or 80 per cent of the total area under this head, while Eastern Bengal and Assam appropriates the bulk of the balance, i.e., 22,752 square miles or 16·2 per cent.

Table No. 3 shows the progress of working-plans in each province and circle in each official year from 1905-06 to 1909-10. Under the Forest Acts the Provincial Government deputes an officer who compiles a working-plan which regulates the amount and removal of outturn and prescribes the other requisite operations, such as sowing, planting, thinning, and cleaning. Working-plans are generally compiled for periods of 20 to 40 years, after which revision or possibly the introduction of an entirely new system of management will be necessary. Statistics for 1909-10 show that 49,421 square miles or 51·2 per cent of the area of reserved forests are worked under regular plans.

The direct value of forests to the State may be gauged by the financial results of their working as shown in tables Nos. 4 to 7. In 1909-10 the gross revenue collected through the agency of the Department amounted to R2·6 crores and the total expenditure to R1·49 crores, the net revenue being R1·11 crores or R45 per square mile of land under the control of the Forest Department. Some 36 per cent of the total revenue is derived from Burma, while next in importance in this respect come the forests of Madras and Bombay and of the United Provinces and the Central Provinces and Berar. The sale of timber and fuel produced R1·98 crores, minor produce, R20·57 lakhs, and receipts from grazing, R25·51 lakhs. The steady improvement in forest revenue is worthy of note. Between 1890—95 it averaged R1·62 crores. By 1899-1900 the quinquennial average had risen to R1·82 crores, by 1904-05, to R2 crores, and by 1909-10, to more than R2½ crores. During the same period the expenditure had increased from R88 lakhs to R101 lakhs, R116 lakhs, and R145 lakhs, respectively. The proportion of expenditure to gross revenue was in 1909-10 57 per cent, and of this nearly 47 per cent was spent on administration, 47 per cent on working, protection, and improvement, while 3 per cent was expended on the construction of new reserves by settlement and on the demarcation and survey operations.

The net revenue of the State forests has between 1890—1910 risen from R69 lakhs to R111 lakhs, and the yield is, as the result of protection and improvement, more than sufficient to meet increased demands on their produce. It may be added here that timber and other produce from State forests is given free (or at reduced rates) in large quantities to the people resident in the vicinity. In 1909-10 the value of these grants amounted on a very low estimate to about 18 per cent of the gross revenue collected from the State forests.

Table No. 8 shows the total outturn from the forests under the control of the Forest Department in each province. It is generally, for the sake of convenience, classed under timber including fuel, bamboos, and minor produce including grass and grazing, besides all those numerous products found or manufactured in a forest. The total outturn of timber and fuel from State forests amounted, on an average of the five years ending 1909-10, to 235,326,541 cubic feet; the average outturn per square mile varies considerably in the different provinces, being dependent on the intensity of working and the density of the population. The yield of bamboos numbered 192,882,243; of these about one-third was supplied by Burma, Madras, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Central Provinces and Berar coming successively next in the rank of importance. The yield of minor produce from State forests was valued in 1909-10 at R83,11,418, the chief items being grazing and grass, caoutchouc, lac and dyes, cutch and gambier, cardamoms, myrobalans, and other tanning materials.

Table No. 9 shows the results of protection of forests from fire and cattle and of grazing. Fire conservancy operations in British India extended in 1909-10 over 45,768 square miles, which is 50 per cent of total area of reserves. The area closed to grazing amounted to 49,898 square miles, of which 24,531 were in Burma, where cattle are few and vast tracts of waste land are still available outside reserves. The area closed to browsers, principally goats, amounted to 20,210 square miles situated chiefly in Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar. The number of animals grazed were 9,665,364 on payment and 3,816,181 free.

OPIUM

[TABLES 1 TO 18, PAGES 37 TO 60]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts and from special official returns)

BENGAL OPIUM

The region in which the poppy was cultivated in 1910-11 comprised eight districts in Bihar situated in the divisions of Tirhut, Patna, Bhágalpur, and Chota Nagpur, and thirty-one districts in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. The whole Department has, with effect from the 29th September 1910, been under the control of one Opium Agent, with head-quarters at Ghazipur. At Ghazipur and Patna there are Government factories where the crude opium is manufactured into the form in which it passes into consumption. The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium were regulated by Act XIII of 1857 and were under the general control of the Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Revenue of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh and the immediate supervision of the Opium Agent at Ghazipur. The possession, transport, import, and export of opium are regulated by rules framed under section 5, Act I of 1878 (the Indian Opium Act).

Cultivation is permitted only under license granted under the authority of the Opium Agent. The area to be cultivated is fixed by the license, and the cultivator is bound to sell the whole of his production to the Opium Department at the rate fixed by Government. This rate was fixed in 1894-95 at Rs. 6 per ser of 70° consistency. Advances, on which no interest is charged, are given to licensed cultivators at the time of executing the agreement, and from time to time (though ordinarily not more than two advances are given) until final delivery. In March, April, and May the opium is made over to the officers of the Department and weighed and tested, and as soon as possible afterwards each cultivator's accounts are adjusted, and the balance due is paid to him.

After weighment the opium is taken to the Government factories at Patna and Ghazipur, where it is manufactured in two* forms—

(a) opium intended for export to foreign countries, mainly China and the Straits Settlements, departmentally known as "provision" opium, and

(b) opium intended for consumption in various provinces (Madras, Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, Burma, Baluchistan, the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province), departmentally known as "excise" opium.

Provision opium is made up in the form of balls or cakes, each weighing 3·5lb, and is packed in chests, each chest containing seventy cakes, weighing 140½ lb. Bihár opium is generally of 75° and Benares opium of 71° consistency. Excise opium is made up in cubical packets, each weighing one ser, 60 of which are packed in a case. It is of higher consistency than the "provision opium."

Provision opium is sold by public auction in Calcutta. A notification is published annually, about the month of June, stating the number of chests from each agency which will be put up for sale in each month of the next calendar year, and the quantities so notified are not altered without three months' notice. Sales are conducted month by month by the Bengal Board of Revenue. In 1911, 31,440 chests were notified for sale.

The duty levied by the Government on each chest may be taken to be the difference between the average price realised and the average cost.

Under a convention made in 1815, the French Government has the right to purchase not more than 300 chests of opium each year, at the average price realised for the rest of the opium at the sales. This right has been commuted for a money payment, amounting to R8,000 a year, under an agreement which will remain in force until the 31st December 1912. The agreement binds the French Government to take effective steps for the prevention of illicit traffic in opium between French and adjacent British territory.

Excise opium is distributed from the factories, or from the Calcutta warehouse, to the Government treasuries, whence it is issued, on payment, to licensed vendors and druggists only. In the accounts, a sum of R8½ per ser out of the proceeds of this opium is credited under Opium as representing the estimated cost of production. The remainder of the proceeds is credited under Excise.

Eastern Bengal and Assam are supplied from the opium factory at Ghazipur through the Board of Revenue, United Provinces, and issues are made from the district treasuries to licensed vendors. The cultivation of poppy is not permitted in the Madras Presidency, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Baluchistan, and the only licit supply of opium is Bengal excise opium. In the Central Provinces and Berar and in Baluchistan this drug is imported from the Ghazipur factory and supplied to district treasuries, while in the Madras Presidency it is issued to wholesale vendors, at a fixed price, from two central storehouses, one at Tondiarpet (Madras) and the other at Rajahmundry.

* A small quantity of opium for medical purposes is also made at Patna, and morphia and co aine are made at Ghazipur from opium not fit for other purposes

MALWA OPIUM

Malwa opium is almost entirely produced in the undermentioned Native States in the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, together with the Baroda State. In Khairpur (Sind), it is grown in the Khairpur Taluka but production is limited to the requirements of the State. Of British territory, it is grown in Ajmer-Merwara only.

In these States the British Government has no concern with the cultivation of the poppy or the manufacture of opium or its local consumption; nor has it any concern with the export, except that it levies a duty on opium which passes into or through British territory, either for local consumption in British India, or for export by sea to China and other foreign countries. It is this duty, commonly called pass-duty, which constitutes the British revenue from Malwa opium and is credited to opium revenue when the opium is passed out for export by sea. The pass-duty on Malwa opium destined for consumption in British territory is an excise receipt, and stood during 1910-11 at R10 per ser equal to R700 per chest. An arrangement has been made between His Majesty's Government and the Government of China whereby the importation of the Indian Opium into China has to be gradually diminished, and in pursuance of this arrangement the exports of Malwa Opium to China during the calendar years 1908, 1909, 1910, and 1911 have been limited to 15,100, 13,600, 12,100, and 15,580 chests, respectively.

The Government is enabled to raise revenue from Malwa opium because the States in which the drug is produced have no access to the sea, except through British territory. The import of the opium into, or transport through, British territory is prohibited, except on payment of the pass-duty and under passes granted under the authority of the Opium Agents. The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India and the Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara are ex-officio Opium Agents for their respective charges.

For the weighment of the opium, for the issue of necessary passes, and for the recovery of pass fees, Government has established scales maintained by the Opium Agents, the principal scales being located at Indore, Mandisor, Ujjain, and Ratlam in Central India, and at Chitor in Rajputana. There are also scales at some other convenient places, namely, at Ahmedabad in Gujarat, at Dhar, Jaora, and Bhopal in Central India, and at Ajmer and Baran (Kotah) in Rajputana.

The poppy is sown in Malwa in November, the plants flower in the beginning of February, and by the end of March the whole of the opium has been collected by the cultivators and is ready for sale. The village bankers and others, into whose possession the raw opium passes, usually retain it until the end of April. During May and June it is bought by the large dealers, who make it up into balls of about twelve ounces each, and expose it in storehouses to dry for the next two or three months, after which it is ready for the scales. It is ready for export by September; but as considerable dryage takes place during the transport of new opium to Bombay, it is commonly kept back until October. A chest of Malwa opium contains 140 lb in weight. The opium is of 90° to 95° consistency, and is usually packed in half-chests for convenience of carriage.

From October 1897 until May 1904 the rate of pass-duty was R525 at Ajmer, and R500 elsewhere, on each chest of opium weighed for export by sea. This duty was increased by one hundred rupees, under Finance Department Notification No. 2930-A, dated the 6th May 1904. A higher rate of pass-duty is levied at Ajmer, because, these scales being situated in British territory, the opium weighed there is not subject to the dues levied by the Native States. Since 1887-88, however, there have been no exports from the Ajmer Agency, except one chest in 1893-94, 9 chests in 1904, 4 chests in 1906, and 20 chests in 1910.

In connection with the restriction of the exports to China it has lately been decided to levy a duty of R800 per chest on certain chests for whose export in 1912 application has already been made. The right to ship the remainder of the exports of the last mentioned and subsequent years will be sold by auction to the highest bidder at periodical sales to be held by the Collector of Customs in Bombay.

Opium which has been weighed and passed for export by sea from Bombay may, after arrival at Bombay, be diverted for local consumption on payment of a higher rate of pass-duty of R725 per chest when the pass was granted at Ajmer, and of R700 per chest when the pass was granted elsewhere. When opium is weighed directly for local consumption and not for export by sea, the higher duty is charged at once. This duty is an Excise receipt.

The pass-duty on opium weighed for export is generally levied in the form of hundis, i.e., bills of exchange drawn on Bombay and payable at six days' sight, and these must be cashed before the consignee can obtain delivery of the opium. At the Ajmer Agency and at Ahmedabad the duty is paid in cash, or by hundis, or bills payable at sight drawn on Bombay. After weighment of the opium and delivery of the hundi, the opium is transported by railway to Bombay under cover of the pass, the cost of transit being borne by the owner. In Bombay it is received by the Collector of Customs, who is responsible for seeing that it corresponds with the covering pass and who detains it until the hundi has been cashed. The opium is then warehoused, and is at the disposal of the owner for export or for sale locally, subject to the provisions of the Opium Act and the Bombay Opium Rules.

The cultivation of the poppy is prohibited in Coorg and in the Bombay Presidency and the source of supply is Malwa opium.

PUNJAB

The cultivation of the poppy was permitted until 1897 (under license for each crop) throughout the greater part of the Punjab except in the districts of Delhi, Gurgaon, Rohtak, Hissar, the greater part of Karnal, and part of Ferozpur, where it has long been prohibited. The total area cultivated was usually about 10,000 acres, but there were only five really opium-producing districts—Ambala, Simla, Kangra, Shahpur, and Dera Ghazi Khan. In the remaining districts opium was either not extracted, or, if extracted, only a small quantity became available for sale by licensed vendors, the rest being surreptitiously disposed of; and the produce was consumed, in the shape of a drink called post made from poppy-heads, either illicitly or after passing through the hands of licensed vendors. The Government of India prohibited poppy cultivation in the case of most districts of the Punjab from the 1st September 1897, cultivation being now (1910-11) restricted, so far as opium production is concerned, to the Kotkhai tahsil of the Simla district, and the Kulu sub-division of the Kangra district. Cultivation of the poppy, for the production of poppy heads only, is also permitted in the district of Jalandhar and in one tahsil of Hoshiarpur.

An acreage duty was levied during 1909-10 on the cultivation of the poppy, at the rate of R2* per acre in the two opium-producing hill districts and at the rate of R4 per acre in the two poppy-head producing districts of Hoshiarpur and Jalandhar. These rates have since been raised.

A cultivator of opium is not permitted to consume any part of the produce himself. He is bound either to dispose of the standing crop to a license-holder, who extracts the opium and sells it to a licensed wholesale or retail vendor, or to dispose of the produce, either as poppy-heads, or as opium extracted by himself, to a licensed retail or wholesale vendor.

Since the 1st April 1896 a duty of R2 per ser had been levied on the importation into the Punjab of all opium other than Malwa, including opium produced in Kashmir, the Native Hill States, or elsewhere. This rate was raised to R6 per ser with effect from the 1st April 1909. Upon Malwa opium an import duty of R4 per ser was levied until the 31st July 1908; but since that date such imports have been stopped. Apart from locally produced opium and that imported from Kashmir, Afghanistan, and trans-frontier territory to the west of the Indus, the only other source of supply was in 1910-11 Bengal opium which was obtained from the Ghazipur factory and issued to licensed vendors from district treasuries.

BARODA

The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are permitted in Baroda, under a State monopoly for consumption in the State and for export to China. The State has, by agreement, assimilated its retail system and selling prices to those in force in adjacent British districts, and prevents the introduction of Baroda opium into British territory and into the territories of adjacent Native States.

AJMER-MERWARA

In these two British districts, which are surrounded by the Native States constituting the Rajputana Agency, the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium were formerly permitted without restriction, except in the three municipalities of Ajmer, Beawar, and Kekri, and the cantonment of Nasirabad. This course was adopted in consequence of the difficulty of preventing smuggling from the surrounding States. In the three municipalities and in the cantonment of Nasirabad, the license of the Collector was required for the cultivation of the poppy, or the manufacture or sale of opium. The absence of control over the production and disposal of opium in the rural areas, and the freedom of import and export from and to adjacent Native States, afforded ground for the belief that Ajmer-Merwara had become a focus of opium smuggling, and in order to check this illicit traffic, revised Opium Rules were enacted, with effect from the 1st April 1901, to provide adequate control over the production, import, export, transport, and sale of opium throughout Ajmer-Merwara. An import duty of R4 per ser was levied from the 1st April 1904 on Malwa opium brought into Ajmer-Merwara for consumption, and from the 1st April 1905 an excise duty at the same rate was imposed on opium produced in the district. Subsequently, from the 1st April 1908, the levy of the Excise duty was restricted to opium consumed within Ajmer-Merwara and the duty on opium removed for export outside the district was remitted. Poppy cultivation was at the same time prohibited in the Ajmer district, and a maximum limit of 2,500 and 400 bighas was imposed upon the cultivation in the Todgarh and Beawar tahsils, respectively. No area was licensed for the cultivation of poppy in the harvest of 1909-10, but during the year 1910-11, 153 bighas of land were licensed for poppy cultivation in Merwara.

BURMA

Opium is produced in the Shan States beyond British limits, but its cultivation is prohibited throughout Burma, except in the Kachin villages of the districts of Katha, Bhamo, Myitkyina, and Upper Chindwin in Upper Burma. On the drug produced in British territory an excise duty is levied at the rate of 8 annas for each quarter of a pé (one pé = 1·75 of an acre) or fraction thereof, on which the poppy is grown. Land under poppy cultivation is measured by the village headman. The area under poppy is not known, because the localities in which the cultivation is carried on are for the most part beyond the sphere of regular administration. The importation of opium by land from the Shan States into Upper Burma is permitted on payment of a duty of R17 per viss (3·65lb avoirdupois). Neither of these classes of opium may be exported to Lower Burma. Shan or foreign travellers of distinction may, however, import into any part of Burma for the personal use of themselves and their attendants, without payment of duty, Shan or foreign opium in quantities not exceeding 5 tolas for each person.

Under an order issued by the Government of India in February 1898, caravans entering the Myitkyina and Bhamo districts from China or the Shan States are licensed to import for personal use Chinese or Shan opium on payment of a duty equal to the retail price of such opium in the districts in which the license is issued.

Bengal excise opium is procured by Government and stored in the district treasuries, whence it is issued to licensed shops where it may be retailed to persons entitled to possess it, namely, medical practitioners, pharmacists, doctors, tattooers, non-Burmans, and, in Lower Burma, only registered Burmans.

NOTE.—The receipts in Bengal include the cost price of opium manufactured for the Excise Department, namely, the figures in the last column of table No. 2 and the corresponding figures for preceding years. There was, however, one exception in 1871-72, when the cost price 15,49,05? was, by special arrangement, credited to Excise revenue

NOTE.—(1) All opium imported into China reaches it through Hongkong and Shanghai. But smuggling is extensively carried on between Hongkong and the adjacent coast above and below Canton and at other Chinese ports, and the net imports in the Chinese Customs Accounts state imperfectly the consumption of Indian opium.

(2) The figures under the head "Sorts" denote Persian and Turkish opium, chiefly Persian, and boiled opium.

SALT

[TABLES 1 TO 21, PAGES 64 TO 81]

Compiled from figures specially supplied by the Governments of Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bombay, Madras, Burma, the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue and (for Gwalior) by the Agent to the Governor General in Central India and published in their respective reports on the administration of the Salt Revenue

Production

The total quantity of salt produced in India in 1910 was over 40 millions of maunds (1,485,628 tons). This quantity was supplemented by about 13 millions of maunds (483,406 tons) of imported salt, the total quantity produced and imported amounting to nearly 54 millions of maunds (1,969,034 tons). Up to 1909, from two-thirds to three-fourths of the quantity annually consumed was produced in India; but in 1910 the quantity produced (40,441,773 maunds) was almost equal to the quantity consumed (40,565,988 maunds). Importation is practically limited to salt landed in Bengal and Burma from England, Germany, other countries in Europe, Aden, Muscat, Jeddah, and some Egyptian ports on the Red Sea. There is a trifling import by land by trans-Himalayan routes.

The localities in India where salt is produced, and the quantity (maunds) produced in each of the last three years, are:

For some years previous to 1901, and again in 1902 and 1904, the quantity of salt manufactured by Government was less than the quantity produced by private manufacturers. In 1901 and 1903 the quantity manufactured by Government exceeded the quantity manufactured privately. In 1905 the quantities were almost equal. In 1906 and 1907 the quantity of private salt exceeded the quantity manufactured by Government by over one million maunds and in 1908 by nearly two million maunds. In 1909 the quantity of Government salt exceeded the quantity of private salt by 846,486 maunds and in 1910 by 3,785,703 maunds.

Sea salt on the coast of Burma is produced by artificial heat; on the coasts of Bombay, Sind, and Madras by solar evaporation. In Rajputana and Central India the salt is obtained by evaporation from brine deposits at Sambhar and other places. In the Punjab and Kohat, rock salt is obtained from the Salt Ranges and at Mandi, and brine salt from the sources at Sultanpur, near Delhi. More than half of the whole production is represented by sea salt evaporated on the coasts of Bombay and Madras.

Consumption and Revenue

The figures below indicate the progress in consumption in the last twenty-three years:

	Average annual quantity	Average annual duty
	Maunds	₹
1888-89 to 1892-93	33,431,896	8,92,69,704
1893-94 to 1897-98	34,210,675	8,25,80,982
1898-99 to 1902-03	35,678,602	8,67,59,679
1903-04 to 1907-08	39,597,341	6,15,89,957
1908-09	43,017,024	4,32,64,162
1909-10	43,238,237	4,34,85,142
1910-11	40,565,988	4,08,17,010

Administration

The administrative system for the control of production and the collection of the revenue varies in accordance with local conditions and methods of production. Detailed information regarding the salt administration will be found in the 13th issue of the volume of Financial and Commercial Statistics.

Burma

Lower Burma.—Salt is made at scattered points along the coast by the boiling of sea-water and, in a few places, of saline earth, in pots and cauldrons. Manufacture is permitted in ten districts only. In seven of these a system of direct taxation is in force. In the other three, instead of ascertaining the quantity of salt actually produced, the productive capacity of the vessels employed is estimated, and a charge made on each which is supposed to be about equivalent to the duty on imported salt from time to time. The present rate of import duty is one rupee per maund.

In January 1902 the system of direct taxation on output was introduced into the Hanthawaddy and Bassein Districts, the rate of duty being fixed at eight annas a maund. The system was extended to the Myaungmya District in 1903, to the Mergui and Tavoy Districts in 1904, from the 1st January 1905 to the Amherst District, and from the 1st January 1906 to the Kyaukpyu District.

Upper Burma.—In Upper Burma in 1890 a composition duty on the pots or cauldrons used in manufacture was fixed in substitution for previous systems. The duty on salt locally produced is less than the duty imposed on imported salt, viz., R1 per maund, and it is believed that it is not possible to level up the former to the latter without killing the local industry.

Bengal (including Eastern Bengal and Assam)

From the creation of the salt monopoly in 1765, a preventive establishment has been employed for the protection of the revenue for the most part separate from, and independent of, the agency controlling the manufacture and sale of salt.

In Orissa the administration of the Salt Department was made over from the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, to the Commissioner of Excise under the Government of Bengal from October 1897. Advantage was taken of the transfer to create a combined preventive establishment for the whole of Bengal littoral, and the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, was extended from the 9th April 1898 to the districts of the 24-Parganas, Midnapur, Khulna, Backerganj, and Chittagong, Bengal Act VII of 1864 also remaining in force in them. In March 1901 the Act was extended to the districts of Howrah and Noakhali. A proposal for the reorganisation of the Salt Department having been sanctioned by His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in February 1905, preventive operations were started in Chittagong in October 1900 and in Noakhali in October 1905 tentatively for three years. They were also inaugurated on an independent footing in Howrah, where they had been carried on tentatively since January 1902, by a small party under the Inspector of the Tamluk (Terapakia) Circle in the district of Midnapur. There is no preventive establishment for the district of Backerganj. No salt is produced or manufactured in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Salt educed in the process of manufacture at the saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its suburbs is subject to a duty of R1 a maund since the 20th March 1907. The salt preventive establishments in Chittagong and Noakhali were under the control of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, till the 31st March 1910, when they were made over to the Government of Eestern Bengal and Assam.

The following are the descriptions of salt now commonly imported :

Manufactured by solar evaporation : from Bombay, Madras, Ceylon, Jeddah, Muscat, Egyptian Red Sea ports, Aden, and Spain ;—

Manufactured by boiling : from Liverpool and Hamburg ;

Rock salt : from Muscat.

The rate of duty per maund on salt in Bengal has decreased from R3-4 in 1877 to R1 in 1907.

Northern India

The whole Inland Customs Department (now the Department of Salt Revenue in Northern India) is administered by the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, formerly responsible to each of the local Governments and Administrations within whose jurisdictions the customs organisation worked, but now immediately under the Government of India.

The salt works at Sultanpur in the Delhi Division are worked under the supervision of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department, which has also the charge of the mines in the Salt Range in the Punjab, and of a force designated the Internal Branch maintained in Oudh, the Province of Agra, the Punjab, Rajputana, and Bihar, for the supervision of the saltpetre trade, the levy of duty on salt educed from saltpetre, and the control of the manufacture of other saline substances, such as sulphate of soda and carbonate of soda.

The general rates of duty on Rajputana salt have varied between R3 in 1877 and R1 in 1907.

Salt excavated in the Sind Saugor Doab and the Kalabagh mines is subject to a duty of R1 per maund since the 20th March 1907, as also salt from the Kohat mines.

Salt educed in the process of manufacturing saltpetre has always been subject to the ordinary duty.

Sind

There are three salt sources in Sind from which salt is now issued to the public, namely, the Maurypur works and the Saran and Dilyar deposits. The Maurypur works, where salt is manufactured by solar evaporation, were opened in the year 1878, and from these the greater portion of the province is supplied. The works are situated on the Moach plain adjacent to the end of Karachi harbour, from which by channels the brine is obtained, reaching the storage wells by percolation through a richly saline soil which greatly increases the strength of it. In 1884 a depôt for the storage and sale of Maurypur salt was opened at Sukkur. Maurypur salt is supplied free of duty to the State of Khairpur, local manufacture there being suppressed:

SALT—concluded

The Saran and Dilyar deposits were opened in 1879 and 1882, respectively. The salt is formed in a lake from which, when the water dries, salt is excavated and stored. It is supplied to the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages of the districts of Thar and Parkar and Hyderabad.

Bombay

Salt is produced in Bombay for local consumption and for export by land to Central India, Rajputana, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and the Nizám's territories, and by sea to the Malabar Coast of Madras and to Calcutta. Under existing arrangements exports, both by land and sea, pay full excise duty in Bombay, with the exception of those to Travancore and Cochin on which a nominal charge of three pies per maund only to cover cost of establishment at the salt pans, is levied in accordance with a trade convention concluded with Travancore and Cochin in 1865.

Except in Gujarat, the excise system is followed, under which licenses are issued for private manufacture at approved places which are guarded, and whence no removals are allowed, except upon payment of duty, or under credit for payment. In Gujarat, where all the works in British territory are the property of Government, the monopoly system was introduced in 1873-74, and manufacture was concentrated at two places—Kharaghora on the borders of the Runn, and Dharásna on the sea coast of the Surat District. At Kharaghora salt in large crystals is made from brine wells under departmental supervision, bought from the manufacturers as made, stored, and sold at the cost and risk of Government. At Dharásna the salt is ordinary sea-salt and Government merely fixes the price at which it is to be sold without taking it over or interfering directly with manufacture. A small quantity of salt is issued annually free of duty from the works at Kharaghora to certain Native States and Chiefs in pursuance of the arrangements for the establishment of the monopoly.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Bombay Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at 7 annas a maund were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 31 yards in 1910-11.

Madras

There are two systems of salt manufacture in the Presidency, under one of which the salt manufactured is sold to Government only and is disposed of by Government to the trade, whilst under the other Government levies an excise duty, plus a small and varying cess to cover interest on capital cost of works, the property of Government, and the cost of any repairs effected by it on account of the licensees at the time of removal from the factory, and allows the manufacturers to make such arrangements as they please for the disposal of the salt. In both cases the production of salt is only allowed in well-fenced factories and subject to Government supervision, but, except in matters endangering the revenue, little interference is exercised in the details of manufacture under the excise system. The rate paid by Government for its salt varies, but may be taken roughly at an anna and a half per maund. This is only the bare cost of manufacture and does not include cost of works, storage, transport, etc. The duty on salt is ordinarily payable before the salt is removed from the factory, but six months' credit may be allowed to approved merchants on the deposit of security in Government promissory notes and a few other specified kinds of securities.

In Malabar no salt is manufactured, and that region is supplied by imports from Bombay, Goa, and other places.

By agreement the French Government undertakes to prevent the manufacture of salt throughout its possessions in India, and in consideration receives payments annually aggregating ₹4,41,600, and obtains its supply of salt at cost price. The authorities of the French settlements in Madras indent on the nearest British factories for the salt they require and undertake to sell it at the approximate prices charged in British territory. The correspondence is not complete because they sell by measure and not by weight.

Until 1865 the manufacture of salt was a Government monopoly in Travancore and Cochin, the selling price in Travancore being ₹1-1 a maund, and in Cochin annas 12. In that year both the States agreed to adopt the British Indian selling price of salt.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Madras Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at cost price (that is, cost plus cost of transport from the factory) were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 131 such yards in 1910-11.

NOTE.—This table states the quantity of salt actually consumed in each province, and the duty thereon calculated at the rate in operation in each province, except that the figures under Bombay include salt exported to the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Central India, the Central Provinces, Mysore, and the Nizam's Territories. From the 18th March 1903 the general rate of duty was reduced from R2½ to R2 per maund, and in the case of salt manufactured in certain Kohat mines the duty was altered from R2 per Lahori maund to R1½ per Indian maund. A further reduction in the general rate from R2 to R1½ per maund took effect from the 22nd March 1905. The general duty was again reduced from R1½ to R1 per maund with effect from the 20th March 1907. In Burma the rate remains unaltered, namely, R1 per maund

(a) The sums entered under Duty include duty on excised as well as on imported salt. The quantity of the former is not entered in the figure under Quantity, only rough estimates being available

(b) Figures for Eastern Bengal and Assam have been excluded from the 1st October 1905. The quantity actually consumed in the province is not available

(c) Exclusive of 46,706 maunds of salt issued under the credit system

(d) Exclusive of 2,929,191 maunds of salt issued under the credit system

(e) Exclusive of R13,47,626 adjusted under the credit system

[TABLES 1 TO 12, PAGES 83 TO 99]

(Compiled from special official returns)

The stamp revenue is derived from two great classes of stamps—judicial or court-fee stamps and non-judicial or revenue stamps. Judicial or court-fee stamps are provided for by the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870; non-judicial stamps by the Indian Stamp Act, II of 1899. Both these Acts have been amended from time to time by subsequent legislation.

The immediate control of the stamp revenue is vested in the local Governments, subject to the general supervision of the Government of India.

The stamps are manufactured in England, the quantities required for consumption being sent to India on annual indents. They are consigned to the Central Stamp depôts at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, and Karáchi, whence supplies are distributed to local depôts and offices on indent. The Central depôts supply the requirements of the different provinces as shewn below:—

Calcutta	Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Central India, and the Central Provinces and Berar (in regard to stamps for copies).
Madras	Madras Presidency, Coorg, and the treasuries at Bangalore and Travancore.
Bombay	Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), the Central Provinces and Berar (except in regard to stamps for copies which, as stated above, are supplied from the Calcutta Depôt), and Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana.
Rangoon	Burma and the Andamans.
Karáchi	Sind, Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, the Punjab, Rajputana (except Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana, which, as stated above, are supplied from the Bombay Depôt), the Residency treasuries in Kashmir, the Khorasan Agency treasury, and the areas under the jurisdiction of the Political Resident in the Persian Gulf.

In each province there is a Superintendent of Stamps,—(in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Madras he is a member of the Board of Revenue and in the United Provinces, the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue), who ordinarily combines other functions with the function of administering the stamp revenue. Stamps are sold by certain officials (such as postmasters) and by licensed vendors whose business is conducted under rules framed by the local authorities, and to whom stamps are supplied in quantity at various rates of discount.

Two kinds of stamps—adhesive and impressed—are used to denote the payment of duty on instruments; and impressed stamps are again of two classes, namely, impressed sheets, the paper bearing the impression of stamps of varying values engraved thereon, and impressed labels which are affixed to instruments by Government officers empowered to do so. These officers are required, when affixing the labels, to impress them by means of a stamping machine, and also to stamp or write on the face of the label the date of impression, their initials being added when the duty amounts to five rupees and upwards, and their signatures (under the label) when the duty amounts to twenty rupees or more. The centres provided for the purpose of affixing and impressing labels are—the Calcutta, Chittagong, Dacca, Godavari, Timevelly, Malabar, and South Canara collectorates; the Moulmein, Akyab, and Bassein treasuries; the offices of the Superintendents of Stamps at Madras, Bombay, Lahore, Rangoon, Karáchi, Nagpur, and Aden; and the office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

[TABLES 1 TO 14, PAGES 103 TO 137]

(Compiled from special official returns)

During the ten years ending with 1910-11 the net receipts from the excise duties increased from R5,91,61,558 to R9,92,02,107, the increase being at the rate of 68 per cent. The receipts from opium (consumed in India, not exported) rose from R1,01,57,610 to R1,55,56,200, being at the rate of 53 per cent. The chief increase occurred in the net receipts from liquors and from drugs other than opium (including miscellaneous receipts), which rose from R4,90,03,948 to R8,36,45,907, the increase being at the rate of 71 per cent. This large increase is due, not merely to the expansion of consumption, but also to the imposition of progressively higher rates of duty and the increasingly effective control of the excise administration.

Madras contributes the largest proportion of the liquor revenue, about 33 per cent, Bombay and Bengal contributing 21 and 15 per cent respectively.

The revenue from drugs (excluding opium) has risen in the ten years from R61,83,873 to R1,06,96,286, the increase being at the rate of 73 per cent.

The sources of the excise revenue, and the gross revenue obtained from each in 1910-11, are :

	R
Spirits	7,79,63,043
Beer	8,38,667
Opium	1,55,56,200
Intoxicating drugs, other than opium	1,06,96,286
Miscellaneous	3,56,252

The incidence in 1910-11 of excise taxation per head of the population (according to the census of 1911) is :—

The figures formerly given in these tables were revised in 1905, owing mainly to the inclusion of the duty on Malwa opium realised in the Punjab from 1882-83, the exclusion of certain receipts on account of the Excluded Local Funds in the Central India Agencies from 1893-94, and the inclusion of the license and distillery fees and duties realised in the Military Department from 1897-98 and of the excise revenue for Bangalore from 1900-01, which had hitherto been omitted from the head "India, general."

Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for these provinces have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shown under the head of "spirits" and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out from the year 1878-79, except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available.

The tables which follow have been restricted to twenty-five years. For figures for the year prior to 1886-87, the 1st issue of Statistics of British India—Part IV(b) Finance and Revenue—may be referred to.

* Includes Coorg, Central India, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan from 1882-83, and Bangalore from 1900-01. (The figures for Central India have been revised with effect from 1893-94)

† From 1897-98 the figures include license and distillery fees and duties, etc., realised in the Military Department

‡ The increase in 1908-09 is due to the inclusion of receipts in Central India which were credited in former years to the Local Abkari Fund, which was abolished on 1st April 1908

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section gives details of Provincial Rates, which, till 1907-08, included, amongst others, (1) District Local Fund cess, (2) Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, famine assurances, canals, etc., and (3) cess for village services and patwaris. But from 1908-09 onwards the only cess of any importance which is brought into the general accounts is the Public Works cess in Bengal and the districts of Eastern Bengal. The only other large item included in the total is the amount which the Government of the United Provinces appropriates from the local rates for the payment of rural Police in Agra. With a few petty exceptions, namely, the cess levied in Indore at one rupee per chest of Malwa Opium in transit to Bombay and the assessment on Wards' Estates for establishment charges in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the United Provinces, and the Punjab, all the other rates and cesses named below which formerly appeared under this head are now credited to local funds, having been excluded from the general estimates and accounts of the Empire. The total receipts are now less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue.

The District Local Fund cesses on land were imposed in most provinces in 1870 and 1871. They are in most instances collected jointly with the land revenue and rise or fall with it.

Provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, etc., are mostly levied in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

The so-called famine cesses levied in the United Provinces, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces were remitted during 1905-06, and the remissions were partly compensated for by enhanced receipts in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

During 1906-07 the patwari cess in the United Provinces, the Punjab, Ajmer, the Central Provinces, and the Sambalpur district of Bengal was repealed, and the ryotwari village service cess in Madras, the village service cess in Coorg, and the zamindari dâk cess in Bengal and Eastern Bengal were abolished.

In 1907-08 the proprietary estates village service cess was extended to Madras.

The expenditure in 1910-11 on account of establishment and other charges was about R69,000 and was incurred in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

CUSTOMS REVENUE

[TABLES 1 TO 5, PAGES 142 TO 151]

(Compiled from official returns and the customs circulars published by the Government of India)

The first two tables of the series state the amount of duty collected each year, and the others state the rate of duty imposed on all principal articles of merchandise by the schedules of the various Tariff Acts passed since 1882 and thus constitute a history of the legislation respecting customs duties since that year. For the rates for earlier years, the first issue of the Statistics of British India may be referred to.

Import duties.—From 1859 to 1864 the general rate of import duty was 10 per cent, this heavy rate having been imposed as one of the means of redressing the financial position which had been seriously affected by the mutiny of 1857. The rate was found to be so high as to operate in restriction of consumption, and in 1864 it was reduced to 7½ per cent. That rate was allowed to remain until 1875 when it was reduced to 5 per cent. In 1882 the import duties were repealed, the only articles left on the tariff schedule being liquors, arms, opium (the latter giving a nominal revenue, as the duty is meant to be prohibitory), and salt. The last-named article appears at the foot of the first table, but the collections are not included in the total of the customs revenue, as the entire revenue from imported and Indian salt is credited in the public accounts to a separate head (Salt) and is dealt with in another section of this part.

Between 1882 and 1894 the following changes were made in the tariff: the duty on liquors was increased in 1887 and again in 1890, and the duty on salt was increased in 1888; a duty was imposed on petroleum in 1888, and on dry and wet salt-fish imported into Burma from any place beyond the limits of British India in 1893.

In March 1894 the tariff was re-established much as it had stood in 1875: imports generally were subjected to duty at the rate of 5 per cent, but the duty on most classes of iron and steel was fixed at 1 per cent, and a few articles remained exempt from duty, the most important being food-grains, machinery, railway material, coal, and cotton yarn and manufactured goods.

In December 1894 cotton yarn of a certain fineness and cotton manufactures containing such yarn were made dutiable at the general rate of import duty (5 per cent), but a further change was made in February 1896, when cotton yarn and cotton sewing thread were exempted from duty, and the rate of duty on all other cotton goods irrespective of fineness was reduced to 3½ per cent. The imposition of a duty on imported cotton goods was accompanied by the imposition of an equivalent excise duty on cotton goods woven in the Indian mills.

In 1896 the exemption of machinery was restricted to machinery required for certain specified industries, and from time to time additions were made to the list of industries. In 1899 the restriction was removed and all machinery was exempted without reference to the industry for which it was required. In the same year sugar imported from countries which grant bounties on export was charged with an additional duty equivalent to the bounties, and in June 1902 an amendment of the Tariff Act, VIII of 1902, authorised special duties being imposed on sugar produced in countries where the difference between the rate of duty or other taxation to which foreign sugars are subject and that imposed on the home product exceeds 6 fr. per 100 kilos for refined sugar and 5 fr. 50 centimes for other sugar, the duty being limited to half such excess. Such special duties were imposed from time to time by notifications on sugar produced in Austria-Hungary, Germany, France, Denmark, the Argentine Republic, and Russia. Section 8-B of the Act, in pursuance of which these special duties were imposed, expired on the 31st August 1903, but an amending Act, passed on the 28th August 1903, authorised the continuance, until the 31st March 1904, of the duties which had been imposed under that section. By a further Act passed on the 25th March 1904, the same section was revived and continued in force with effect from the 1st April 1904. The additional and special duties were, however, remitted by notification in respect of sugar produced after the 31st August 1903 in countries which were parties to the Brussels Sugar Convention of 1902. These countries are Belgium, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. The duties have also been remitted in respect of sugar produced in Russia with effect from 1st September 1908. The countervailing duty on Chilian sugar was remitted in November 1909. Special duties are, however, still chargeable on sugar imported from Denmark and the Argentine Republic.

By Act I of 1906 the rates of import duty on ordinary spirits were raised from R6 to R7 per imperial gallon, on liqueurs from R6 to R10, and on perfumed spirits from R8 to R11.

By Act II of 1908 the rate of duty on ale, beer, porter, cider, and other fermented liquors was raised from one anna to two annas per imperial gallon.

By Act VIII of 1910 the duty on all sorts of liquors and on petroleum was raised, unmanufactured tobacco was made dutiable, specific rates were imposed on silver and on both manufactured and unmanufactured tobacco, and alkaloids of opium were made subject to the same duty as opium.

By Act VI of 1911 the rates on tobacco, both manufactured and unmanufactured, were reduced.

Export duties.—The general rate of export duty from 1859 to 1867 was 3 per cent. Many articles were subject to taxation in 1859, but the list was gradually reduced until, in 1867, it consisted of cotton manufactures, indigo, rice, wheat, and other grains, tanned and dressed hides and skins, lac, oils, seeds, spices, and shawls. The list was then further gradually reduced, until finally rice alone remained in 1882, this being the only dutiable export at present, besides rice-flour, which has been subject to duty since August 1893.

A customs duty at the rate of a quarter of a pie (one forty-eighth of an anna) per pound has also been levied, from the 1st April 1903, on all tea produced in India and exported from any customs port to any other

Customs revenue.—The revenue from the import and export duties in the three quinquennial periods ending 1896-97, 1901-02, and 1906-07, and in the years 1907-08, 1908-09, 1909-10 and 1910-11 is stated below (in rupees). The great expansion of the export duties in the three years 1902-03 to 1904-05 was due to the large rice crops in Burma, of which an unusually large proportion was exported to foreign countries as a result of good harvests in India and consequent smaller demand for Burmese rice.

NOTE.—In the Financial Accounts the duty collected on Salt is entered under "Salt," not under "Customs." In this volume it is included in the table of the Indian salt revenue

The figures in tables Nos. 1 and 2 represent the total for each year of the revenue credited month by month in the Customs Houses. They differ slightly from those given in the Finance and Revenue Accounts which shew the result of final adjustments

(a) Included in "All other articles"

INCOME TAX

[TABLES 1 TO 11, PAGES 153 TO 162]

(Figures supplied by the Local Governments and Administrations)

The Income Tax Act, II of 1886, came into operation on the 1st April 1886. It took the place of various local Acts under which annual licenses were required for the exercise of trades, dealings, or industries. The net revenue obtained from the taxation imposed under those Acts, which were in force in the provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, and the Punjab, was, in the last year of their existence, R47,28,000; in the first year of the operation of the Income Tax Act the net revenue realised was R1,27,75,100. The proceeds of the tax increased steadily from year to year at an average rate of 3 per cent annually up to the end of 1902-03. With effect from the 1st April 1903 the taxable minimum of income was raised from R500 to R1,000 by the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903. The tax is now levied at the rate of four pies in the rupee on incomes of R1,000 but less than R2,000, and five pies in the rupee on incomes of R2,000 and over (2·08 and 2·6 per cent respectively). The proceeds of the tax on incomes of R500 but less than R1,000 were, in 1902-03, nearly 38 lakhs of rupees or 18 per cent of the total. The net decrease in the proceeds of the tax in the year 1903-04 was 14 per cent. The revenue obtained from incomes of each of the descriptions specified in the Schedule of the Act, and the proportion of each, were in 1908-09, 1909-10 and 1910-11:

	1908-09		1909-10		1910-11
	R		R		R
I.—Salaries and Pensions	65,63,672	= 28·51 per cent	68,59,017	= 29·57 per cent	64,09,739	= 27·92 per cent
II.—Profits of Companies	29,87,479	= 12·97 „	27,92,116	= 12·04 „	25,09,943	= 10·93 „
III.—Interest on Securities	11,62,291	= 5·05 „	11,63,144	= 5·01 „	11,85,451	= 5·16 „
IV.—Other sources of Income	1,23,10,225	= 53·47 „	1,23,81,206	= 53·38 „	1,28,54,031	= 55·99 „
TOTAL	2,30,23,667	= 100	2,31,95,483	= 100	2,29,59,164	= 100

The variations in these proportions since the Act came into force have been small.

The total collections comprise the actual tax collected in the year and the arrears of previous years. Refunds are not deducted from the figures shewn as "collections" in these tables. They amounted to R91,666 in 1908-09, R1,36,314 in 1909-10, and R96,000 in 1910-11 being two-fifth per cent on the total collections. The figures for each province are as follows:—

	R	R	R
Burma	7,136	9,904	12,668
Eastern Bengal and Assam	1,247	1,210	2,477
Bengal	8,277	4,316	8,514
United Provinces	6,376	6,739	5,498

North-West Frontier Province	737	1,523	441
Bombay	20,896	28,110	29,514
Central Provinces and Berar	6,724	6,173	4,184
Madras	28,713	59,929	23,382
Ajmer-Merwara	644	2	20

The total number of persons assessed to the tax has always been a very small fraction of the total population. In the first year it amounted to 354,594. In 1902-03 it was 507,941. The result of the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act of 1903 was to reduce the total number of assessees to 237,673 or 47 per cent of the number assessed in 1902-03. But since then the number has risen slowly but steadily, and in 1910-11 it amounted to 288,559.

The number of persons assessed to income-tax, exclusive of Government servants assessed on their salaries, in the principal provinces in 1910-11 and the incidence of the tax per head of population were as follows:—

		a.	p.
Bombay	48,997	4	6·3
Burma	18,864	2	4·6
Bengal	48,837	1	6·1
Madras	46,585	1	·7
Punjab	24,039	1	·1
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	31,153	0	7·9
North-West Frontier Province	1,777	0	7·7
Central Provinces and Berar	8,859	0	6·5
Eastern Bengal and Assam	18,765	0	5·9

The collections of the tax in 1910-11 classified according to the amount of annual income were in classes I to IV (annual incomes of R1,000 to R2,000) over R48 lakhs, and in classes V to XIII (annual incomes of R2,000 and upwards) over R180 lakhs. The first four classes, that is, those paying the rate of four pies in the rupee, contain 180,892 assessees or 65 per cent of the total and return only 21 per cent of the total collections. The other nine classes contain 95,647 tax-payers who pay about 79 per cent of the total collections. The total income on which the tax was assessed, calculated from the amount of tax paid, was in round figures over 9,243 lakhs of rupees, equivalent to about £61,600,000. The annual income of the tax-payers in the first four classes is 2,316 lakhs of rupees making an average of R1,280 for each assessee. The total income of the tax-payers in the nine higher classes was 6,927 lakhs of rupees which gives an average of R7,242 for each assessee.

(a) The Act was not enforced in Burma until the 1st April 1888

NOTE.—(1) The figures in these tables do not exactly correspond with those of the Finance and Revenue Accounts, as they are taken from the administration reports, and include in some cases collections made after the close of the financial year

(2) The variations in the figures for 1905-06 of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam are due to the territorial changes in those provinces in 1905

The annual returns from which it is prepared were discontinued for two years, and owing to changes of classification in the revised form of the return the collections for recent years are only roughly comparable with those of earlier years

(2) The figures in this table are compiled from Return No. VIII and sometimes differ from those under Part II of tables Nos. I and 3 compiled from Return No. III of the Provincial Income Tax Reports because of the inclusion of refunds and over-collections in Return No. III and their exclusion from Return No. VIII

(a) Includes arrear collections of R34,738 of which details by classes in respect of R14,525 are not available

Notes.—(1) This table is a continuation of table No. 7 of the Eighth Issue of the Volume of Financial and Commercial Statistics (1901). The annual returns from which it is prepared were discontinued for two years, and owing to change of classification in the revised form of the return, the collections for recent years are only roughly comparable with those of earlier years.

(2) The figures in this table are compiled from Return No. VIII and sometimes differ from those under Part IV of tables Nos. 1 and 3 compiled from Return No. III of the Provincial Income Tax Reports because of the inclusion of refunds and over-collections in Return No. III and their exclusion from Return No. VIII.

(a) Includes arrear collections R6,33,978 of which details in respect of R2,08,340 are not available.

* Under the Income Tax Act, II of 1886, the taxable minimum of income was R500. By the Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903, this minimum was raised to R1,000. Under the original Act the first two classes of incomes were (I) R500 but less than R750 and (II) R750 but less than R1,000. On the passing of the amendment Act of 1903 these two classes were left out. The figures from 1903-04 under the old classes represent collections of arrears of Income Tax assessed in 1902-03

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The statistics of revenue recorded in this table represent tributes received from Native States, in several cases as a result of exchanges of territory and settlement of claims, and contributions made chiefly in lieu of former obligations to supply or maintain troops, the latter constituting a small return for the duty undertaken by the Supreme Government in ensuring the peace of the country. The figures do not show any important fluctuations from year to year except for arrears and their recovery and the levy of fees on succession (nazarana) in some cases.

The total receipts are less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue. The tributes and contributions amount to nearly 89 per cent, and those for special military forces are over 10 per cent of the total receipts. Fees on succession are on the average nearly 1 per cent.

Madras contributes nearly 51 per cent, India—General, which includes tributes and contributions from amongst others the Udaipur, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kotah, Bhopal, and Jowrah States, nearly 23 per cent, Bombay 15 per cent, and Burma 5 per cent.

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The interest receipts in this section do not include interest on public works capital. The most important items included under this head of revenue are the loans and advances made by the Imperial Government to the Presidency Corporations and to Native States, as well as those by the Provincial Governments to mofussil municipalities and cultivators. The amount of the interest accrued on the former comes to about 33 per cent, and on the latter 26 per cent of total receipts. This head also includes the interest on the securities held by the Paper Currency Department which contributes about 26 per cent of the total. There are other minor items, such as interest on securities of provincial funds, on arrears of revenue, and on overdrawn capital of guaranteed railways, which are included under this head of revenue.

The total receipts amount to about 1½ per cent of the total Indian revenue. India—General, which includes the transactions of the Government of India, contributes nearly one half of the receipts, Bombay about a fifth, Bengal a seventh, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh about one-twelfth and Madras one-seventeenth.

LAND REVENUE

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 5 AND 6]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section shows the details of land revenue receipts and expenditure. Five years' figures have been given in each table for each province.

The total land revenue, which represents over a quarter of the total revenue of India, is made up on the average of the last five years, chiefly of receipts under the following heads :—

Ordinary land revenue	about 90 per cent
Assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents	,, 3 per cent
Capitation tax	,, 3 per cent
Fisheries and miscellaneous revenue	,, 3 per cent

Receipts from the sale of proprietary right, waste lands, etc., and recovery of survey and settlement charges amounted to 1 per cent. Land revenue due to irrigation amounts to about 1¾ crores of rupees and represents over 5 per cent of the total land revenue, but is deducted therefrom to arrive at the net land revenue.

The ordinary land revenue amounts to nearly 29 crores, of which about 6½ crores are contributed by Madras and the United Provinces each, 4 crores by Bombay, 3 crores by Bengal, 2¼ crores by the Punjab and Burma each, and nearly 2 crores by Eastern Bengal and Assam, and 1¾ crores by the Central Provinces and Berar. The permanent settlement system obtains over the greater part of Bengal and Eastern Bengal, nearly a third of Madras, some districts of the United Provinces, and other scattered tracts.

The falling-off of 1·62 crores in 1907-08 is attributable to the suspensions and remissions which were sanctioned on a very large scale consequent on the prevalence of famine. The remissions and suspensions were largest (viz., a crore) in the United Provinces; Bombay comes next with 34 lakhs, and the Punjab and the Central Provinces account for 20 and 11 lakhs, respectively.

In 1908-09 there was a rise in land revenue by 1¼ crores owing mainly to large collection of famine arrears. The largest increase took place in the United Provinces (1·25 crores), Burma and Madras standing next with 22·7 lakhs and 4·15 lakhs, respectively.

In 1909-10, agricultural conditions were very good on the whole, and land revenue rose by over 2·06 crores, of which Bombay accounted for 64·3 lakhs, the Punjab 52·8 lakhs, the United Provinces 41·7 lakhs, the Central Provinces and Berar 22·3 lakhs, Madras 14·1 lakhs, Eastern Bengal and Assam 5·8 lakhs, and Bengal 4·5 lakhs.

The falling-off of 49·6 lakhs in 1910-11 is attributable mainly to remissions and suspensions: the United and the Central Provinces are jointly responsible for some 30 lakhs of the stated decrease; Burma accounts for 13·6 lakhs and the Punjab for 8·6 lakhs. Madras, on the other hand, showed an increase of 11·4 lakhs.

The falling-off of 29·2 lakhs in 1911-12 is attributable to suspensions and remissions. Owing to absence of timely rain in the northern districts the remissions and suspensions were largest (47·1 lakhs) in the Bombay Presidency, the United Provinces coming next with 14 lakhs. On the other hand Burma showed an increase of 16·6 lakhs, Madras 9·1 lakhs, Central Provinces and Berar 4 lakhs, and the Punjab 3·1 lakhs.

Bombay contributes about 97 per cent of the receipts from assessment of alienated lands less quit-rents, and the Punjab over 2 per cent, while the share of Bengal is below 1 per cent.

Nearly the whole of the capitation tax is derived from Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam being the only other province which contributes towards this head to the extent of about 3 per cent.

Burma is responsible for more than a half of the fisheries and miscellaneous revenue. The Punjab, and the United Provinces, contribute from 5 to 8 lakhs each; Eastern Bengal and Assam, Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Central Provinces and Berar follow with shares varying from 1½ to 4 lakhs each.

Land revenue due to irrigation is derived chiefly from Madras, the Punjab, Bombay, and the United Provinces.

The expenditure on land revenue (including district administration) is about 17 per cent of the receipts and represents nearly 5 per cent of the total expenditure.

The detailed items on the five years' average are :—

Charges of district administration	44 per cent
District charges	24 per cent
Allowances to district and village officers	12 per cent
Survey and settlements	12 per cent
Commissions on collections	5 per cent
Management of Government estates and grazing lands	2 per cent

The expenditure on district administration is the highest in Madras which is answerable for 20 per cent. The United Provinces comes next with a share of 18 per cent, Bombay accounts for about 15 per cent, Bengal for 12 per cent, Burma for 10 per cent, and the Punjab for 9 per cent; Eastern Bengal and Assam is responsible for 8 per cent and the Central Provinces and Berar for 5 per cent.

Eastern Bengal and Assam leads with a share of about 23 per cent of the expenditure on survey and settlements, Bengal accounts for 20 per cent, Madras for 18 per cent, and the Punjab for about 15 per cent, Burma accounts for 10 per cent, while the Central Provinces and the United Provinces are jointly debited to the extent of about 9 per cent only.

The United Provinces are responsible for 27 per cent of the expenditure under district charges; Bombay comes next with 20 per cent; Madras is answerable for 17 per cent, the Punjab 12 per cent, Burma 10 per cent, and the Central Provinces 7 per cent.

Madras is answerable for nearly 62 per cent of the expenditure under "Allowances to district and village officers," Bombay nearly 22 per cent, and the Central Provinces 16 per cent.

FORESTS

[TABLES 1 TO 9, PAGES 9 to 32]

(Compiled from the annual Statistics relating to Forest Administration in British India published by the Government of India and from Provincial Reports on Forest Administration)

These tables show statistics regarding State forests only, i.e., lands administered as forests by the Forest Department of the Government of India under legal enactments for the time being in force dealing with forests. There are in British India immense forest areas outside the direct control of the Forest Department, which are managed by district officers, local boards or municipalities or by private owners, statistics regarding which are not shown in these tables. Forest areas in Native States also are not taken into account in these tables.

The forests under the direct control of the State are classed as "Reserved," "Protected," and "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands.

The "Reserves" are forests intended to be maintained permanently for the supply of timber, fuel, and other produce, or for the protection of the water-supply or other similar reasons.

The "Protected" forests may be either in a state of transition to reserves or intended to remain permanently in the second class. In the former case it has been found necessary to prohibit within these areas certain acts harmful to the forest until such time as careful examination permits of a decision whether more stringent rules shall be enforced; and in the latter the object in view has been to provide for the more beneficial exercise of rights by local communities.

The "Unclassed" or "Public" forest lands are those given over with even fewer restrictions (in some cases to the extent of exemption from the operation of forest law) for the use of the public.

Table No. 1 shows all State forest lands and proportion thereof to total area in British India in each year from 1891-92 to 1910-11. Out of the 243,478 square miles under State management in 1910-11, which is 23·9 per cent of the total area (1,016,282 square miles) of British India, 96,387 square miles or 9·5 per cent were reserved, 8,507 or 1 per cent were protected, and the remaining 138,584 or 14 per cent were unclassed.

Table No. 2 shows all State forest lands and proportion thereof to whole area in each province in each of the five years ending 1910-11. These provincial statistics show that in 1910-11, the percentage of forest land varied from 1·8 per cent in the North-West Frontier Province and 3·9 per cent in the United Provinces to 30·7 per cent in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 62·1 per cent in the Andamans, and 80·7 per cent in Burma. The largest area of unclassed forests occurs in those provinces where the population is scantiest; in fact Burma claims 111,150 square miles or 80 per cent of the total area under this head, while Eastern Bengal and Assam appropriates the bulk of the balance, i.e., 22,416 square miles or 16·2 per cent.

Table No. 3 shows the progress of working-plans in each province and circle in each official year from 1906-07 to 1910-11. Under the Forest Acts the Provincial Government deputes an officer who compiles a working-plan which regulates the amount and removal of outturn and prescribes the other requisite operations, such as sowing, planting, thinning, and cleaning. Working-plans are generally compiled for periods of 20 to 40 years, after which revision or possibly the introduction of an entirely new system of management will be necessary. Statistics for 1910-11 show that 50,183 square miles or 52·1 per cent of the area of reserved forests are worked under regular plans.

The direct value of forests to the State may be gauged by the financial results of their working as shown in tables Nos. 4 to 7. In 1910-11 the gross revenue collected through the agency of the Department amounted to R2·7 crores and the total expenditure to R1·52 crores, the net revenue being R1·22 crores or R50 per square mile of land under the control of the Forest Department. Some 37 per cent of the total revenue is derived from Burma, while next in importance in this respect come the forests of Madras and Bombay and of the United Provinces and the Central Provinces and Berar. The sale of timber and fuel produced R2·14 crores, minor produce, R25·95 lakhs, and receipts from grazing, R24·74 lakhs. The steady improvement in forest revenue is worthy of note. Between 1891—96 it averaged R1·67 crores. By 1900-01 the quinquennial average had risen to R1·87 crores, by 1905-06, to more than R2 crores, and by 1910-11, to more than R2½ crores. During the same period the expenditure had increased from R91 lakhs to R105 lakhs, R123 lakhs, and R147 lakhs, respectively. The proportion of expenditure to gross revenue was in 1910-11 56 per cent, and of this nearly 48 per cent was spent on administration, 48 per cent on working, protection, and improvement, while 2 per cent was expended on the construction of new reserves by settlement and on the demarcation and survey operations.

The net revenue of the State forests has between 1891—1911 risen from R67 lakhs to R121 lakhs, and the yield is, as the result of protection and improvement, more than sufficient to meet increased demands on their produce. It may be added here that timber and other produce from State forests is given free (or at reduced rates) in large quantities to the people resident in the vicinity. In 1910-11 the value of these grants amounted on a very low estimate to about 19 per cent of the gross revenue collected from the State forests.

Table No. 8 shows the total outturn from the forests under the control of the Forest Department in each province. It is generally, for the sake of convenience, classed under timber including fuel, bamboos, and minor produce including grass and grazing, besides all those numerous products found or manufactured in a forest. The total outturn of timber and fuel from State forests amounted, on an average of the five years ending 1910-11, to 238,176,208 cubic feet; the average outturn per square mile varies considerably in the different provinces, being dependent on the intensity of working and the density of the population. The yield of bamboos numbered 195,823,771; of these about one-third was supplied by Burma, and Madras, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the Central Provinces and Berar coming successively next in the rank of importance. The yield of minor produce from State forests was valued in 1910-11 at R95,27,822, the chief items being grazing and grass, caoutchouc, lac and dyes, cutch and gambier, cardamoms, myrobalans, and other tanning materials.

Table No. 9 shows the results of protection of forests from fire and cattle and of grazing. Fire conservancy operations in British India extended in 1910-11 over 48,718 square miles, which is 53 per cent of the total area of reserves. The area closed to grazing amounted to 49,445 square miles, of which 24,788 were in Burma, where cattle are few and vast tracts of waste land are still available outside reserves. The area closed to browsers, principally goats, amounted to 21,302 square miles situated chiefly in Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar. The number of animals grazed were 9,842,124 on payment and 4,150,296 free.

OPIUM

[TABLES 1 TO 18, PAGES 37 TO 60]

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts and from special official returns)

BENGAL OPIUM

The region in which the poppy was cultivated in 1911-12 comprised twenty-nine districts in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. The whole Department has, with effect from the 29th September 1910, been under the control of one Opium Agent, with head-quarters at Ghazipur. At Ghazipur there is a Government factory where the crude opium is manufactured into the form in which it passes into consumption. The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are regulated by Act XIII of 1857 as amended by Act I of 1911, and are under the general control of the Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Revenue of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh and the immediate supervision of the Opium Agent at Ghazipur. The possession, transport, import, and export of opium are regulated by rules framed under section 5, Act I of 1878 (the Indian Opium Act). The Patna opium factory was closed on the 31st December 1911.

Cultivation is permitted only under license granted under the authority of the Opium Agent. The area to be cultivated is fixed by the license, and the cultivator is bound to sell the whole of his production to the Opium Department at the rate fixed by Government. This rate was fixed in 1894-95 at Rs. 6 per ser of 70° consistency. Advances, on which no interest is charged, are given to licensed cultivators at the time of executing the agreement, and from time to time (though ordinarily not more than two advances are given) until final delivery. In March, April, and May the opium is made over to the officers of the Department and weighed and tested, and as soon as possible afterwards each cultivator's accounts are adjusted, and the balance due is paid to him.

After weighment the opium is taken to the Government factory at Ghazipur, where it is manufactured in two* forms—

(a) opium intended for export to foreign countries, mainly China and the Straits Settlements, departmentally known as "provision" opium, and

(b) opium intended for consumption in India and Burma, departmentally known as "excise" opium.

Provision opium is made up in the form of balls or cakes, each weighing 3·515, and is packed in chests, each chest containing seventy cakes, weighing 140$\frac{1}{7}$ lb. It is generally of 71° consistency. Excise opium is made up in cubical packets, each weighing one ser, 60 of which are packed in a case. It is of higher consistency than the "provision opium."

Provision opium is sold by public auction in Calcutta. A notification is published annually, generally about the month of June, stating the number of chests which will be put up for sale in each month of the next calendar year, and the quantities so notified are not altered without three months' notice. Sales are conducted month by month by the Bengal Board of Revenue. 19,900 chests were notified for sale in 1912.

The duty levied by the Government on each chest may be taken to be the difference between the average price realised and the average cost.

Under a convention made in 1815, the French Government has the right to purchase not more than 300 chests of opium each year, at the average price realised for the rest of the opium at the sales. This right has been commuted for a money payment, amounting to ₹8,000 a year, under an agreement remaining in force until the 31st December 1912. The agreement binds the French Government to take effective steps for the prevention of illicit traffic in opium between French and adjacent British territory.

Excise opium is distributed from the factory, or from the Calcutta warehouse, to the Government treasuries, whence it is issued, on payment, to licensed vendors and druggists only. In the accounts, a sum of ₹8$\frac{1}{2}$ per ser out of the proceeds of this opium is credited under Opium as representing the estimated cost of production. The remainder of the proceeds is credited under Excise.

The various provinces are supplied from the opium factory at Ghazipur through the Board of Revenue, United Provinces, and issues are made from the district treasuries to licensed vendors. The cultivation of poppy is not permitted in the Madras Presidency, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Baluchistan, and the only licit supply of opium is Bengal excise opium. In the Central Provinces and Berar and in Baluchistan this drug is imported from the Ghazipur factory and supplied to district treasuries, while in the Madras Presidency it is issued to wholesale vendors, at a fixed price, from two central storehouses, one at Tondiarpet (Madras) and the other at Rajahmundry. The Bombay Presidency and Coorg are also to be supplied with Bengal Excise opium with effect from the 1st April 1912.

* A small quantity of opium for medical purposes is also made at Ghazipur as well as morphia, and codeia which are made from opium not fit for other purposes

MALWA OPIUM

Malwa opium is almost entirely produced in the undermentioned Native States in the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, together with the Baroda State. In Khairpur (Sind) it is grown in the Khairpur Taluka but production is limited to the requirements of the State. In British territory, it is grown in Ajmer-Merwara only.

In these States the British Government does not control the cultivation of the poppy or the manufacture of opium or its local consumption. The import of opium from these States into British India and the transport through British India are prohibited except under passes granted by the Opium Agents, the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India and the Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara, being ex-officio Opium Agents for their respective charges. For the weighment of opium and for the issue of passes scales have been established at Indore, Mandsaur, Ujjain, Ratlam, Dhar,* Jaora, and Bhopal in Central India, and at Chitor, Ajmer, and Kotah in Rajputana.

Malwa opium is imported into the Bombay Presidency for local consumption in British India as well as for exportation by sea to China, a duty, commonly called pass-duty, being levied at the scales before issue of the pass referred to in the previous paragraph. This pass-duty, constituted the British Revenue from Malwa opium : and the rates varied from time to time. From October 1897 to May 1904 the rate was ₹500 per chest. It was increased to ₹600 in May 1904. In 1911, consequent on the introduction of the restrictions on exportation to China in pursuance of the agreement with China, the rate was raised to ₹800 in respect of a certain number of chests due for export in 1912.

In the beginning of 1912, however, the whole system of pass-duty was brought under revision. Consequent on the limitation of the number of chests which might be exported to China, the right to export was sold by auction by the Collector of Customs, Bombay : and in addition to the price bid for the right to export a duty at the rate of ₹1,200 per chest was imposed in respect of the right of importation into Bombay from Malwa. No passes were issued by the Opium Agents except on production of a certificate from the Collector of Customs stating that a right to export had been purchased at an auction sale, and that the purchase-money as well as the pass-duty had been paid. Simultaneously it has been decided to discontinue the importation of Malwa opium for local consumption in the Bombay Presidency, and the Presidency is to be supplied from Ghazipur.

Under the arrangements made between His Majesty's Government and the Government of China the number of chests of Malwa opium which may be exported to China has annually been fixed. This number was fixed in 1908 at 15,100, in 1909 at 13,600, in 1910 at 12,100, in 1911 at 15,580, and in 1912 at 14,560.

MALWA—contd

The enhanced duty is shared between the British Government and the poppy-growing States, the British share being R900 per chest, while the proceeds of the sales of the right to export are equally divided between the British Government and the States concerned.

The poppy is sown in Malwa in November, the plants flower in the beginning of February and by the end of March the whole of the opium has been collected by the cultivators and is ready for sale. The village bankers and others, into whose possession the raw opium passes, usually retain it until the end of April. During May and June it is bought by the large dealers who make it up into balls of about twelve ounces each, and expose it in storehouses to dry for the next two or three months, after which it is ready for the scales. It is ready for export by September; but as considerable dryage takes place during the transport of new opium to Bombay, it is commonly kept back until October. A chest of Malwa opium contains 140 lbs. in weight. The opium is of 90° to 95° consistency, and is usually packed in half-chests for convenience of carriage.

BARODA

The cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium are permitted in Baroda, under a State monopoly, for consumption in the State and for export to China. The State has, by agreement, assimilated its retail system and selling prices to those in force in adjacent British districts, and prevents the introduction of Baroda opium into British territory and into the territories of adjacent Native States.

As a result of the limitation on exports of opium from India to China, exports of Baroda opium have been restricted to a quantity representing seven per cent of the quantity allowed for export from Bombay. The fiscal arrangements applicable to these exports are similar to those prescribed in respect of Malwa opium. Arrangements for weighing and passing such opium have been made at Ahmedabad in Gujarat.

PUNJAB

The cultivation of the poppy was permitted until 1897 (under license for each crop) throughout the greater part of the Punjab except in the districts of Delhi, Gurgaon, Rohtak, Hissar, the greater part of Karnal, and part of Ferozpur, where it has long been prohibited. The total area cultivated was usually about 10,000 acres, but there were only five really opium-producing districts—Ambala, Simla, Kangra, Shahpur, and Dera Ghazi Khan. In the remaining districts opium was either not extracted, or, if extracted, only a small quantity became available for sale by licensed vendors, the rest being surreptitiously disposed of; and the produce was consumed, in the shape of a drink called post made from poppy-heads, either illicitly or after passing through the hands of licensed vendors. The Government of India prohibited poppy cultivation in the case of most districts of the Punjab from the 1st September 1897, cultivation being restricted in 1910-11, so far as opium production is concerned, to the Kotkhai tahsil of the Simla district, and the Kulu sub-division of the Kangra district. Cultivation of the poppy, for the production of poppy heads only, is also permitted in the district of Jalandhar and in one tahsil of Hoshiarpur.

An acreage duty was levied during 1909-10 on the cultivation of the poppy, at the rate of R2* per acre in the two opium-producing hill districts and at the rate of R4 per acre in the two poppy-head producing districts of Hoshiarpur and Jalandhar. These rates have since been raised.

A cultivator of opium is not permitted to consume any part of the produce himself. He is bound either to dispose of the standing crop to a license-holder, who extracts the opium and sells it to a licensed wholesale or retail vendor, or to dispose of the produce, either as poppy-heads, or as opium extracted by himself, to a licensed retail or wholesale vendor.

Since the 1st April 1896 a duty of R2 per ser had been levied on the importation into the Punjab of all opium other than Malwa, including opium produced in Kashmir, the Native Hill States, or elsewhere. This rate was raised to R6 per ser with effect from the 1st April 1909. Upon Malwa opium an import duty of R4 per ser was levied until the 31st July 1908; but since that date such imports have been stopped. Apart from locally produced opium and that imported from Kashmir, Afghanistan, and trans-frontier territory to the west of the Indus, the only other source of supply is Bengal opium which with effect from the year 1910-11 obtained from the Ghazipur factory and issued to licensed vendors from district treasuries.

AJMER-MERWARA

In these two British districts, which are surrounded by the Native States constituting the Rajputana Agency the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium were formerly permitted without restriction, except in the three municipalities of Ajmer, Beawar, and Kekri, and the cantonment of Nasirabad. This course was adopted in consequence of the difficulty of preventing smuggling from the surrounding States. In the three municipalities and in the cantonment of Nasirabad, the license of the Collector was required for the cultivation of the poppy, or the manufacture or sale of opium. The absence of control over the production and disposal of opium in the rural areas, and the freedom of import and export from and to adjacent Native States, afforded ground for the belief that Ajmer-Merwara had become a focus of opium smuggling, and in order to check this illicit traffic, revised Opium Rules were enacted, with effect from the 1st April 1901, to provide adequate control over the production, import, export, transport, and sale of opium throughout Ajmer-Merwara. An import duty of ₹4 per ser was levied from the 1st April 1904 on Malwa opium brought into Ajmer-Merwara for consumption, and from the 1st April 1905 an excise duty at the same rate was imposed on opium produced in the district. Subsequently, from the 1st April 1908, the levy of the Excise duty was restricted to opium consumed within Ajmer-Merwara and the duty on opium removed for export outside the district was remitted. Poppy cultivation was at the same time prohibited in the Ajmer district, and a maximum limit of 2,500 and 400 bighas was imposed upon the cultivation in the Todgarh and Beawar tahsils, respectively. No area was licensed for the cultivation of poppy during the year 1911-12.

BURMA

Opium is produced in the Shan States beyond British limits, but its cultivation is prohibited throughout Burma, except in the Kachin villages of the districts of Katha, Bhamo, Myitkyina, and Upper Chindwin in Upper Burma. On the drug produced in British territory an excise duty is levied at the rate of 8 annas for each quarter of a pé (one pé = 1·75 of an acre) or fraction thereof, on which the poppy is grown. Land under poppy cultivation is measured by the village headman. The area under poppy is not known, because the localities in which the cultivation is carried on are for the most part beyond the sphere of regular administration. The importation of opium by land from the Shan States into Upper Burma is permitted on payment of a duty of ₹17 per viss (3·65lb avoirdupois). Neither of these classes of opium may be exported to Lower Burma. Shan or foreign travellers of distinction may, however, import into any part of Burma for the personal use of themselves and their attendants, without payment of duty, Shan or foreign opium in quantities not exceeding 5 tolas for each person.

Under an order issued by the Government of India in February 1898, caravans entering the Myitkyina and Bhamo districts from China or the Shan States are licensed to import for personal use Chinese or Shan opium on payment of a duty equal to the retail price of such opium in the districts in which the license is issued.

Bengal excise opium is procured by Government and stored in the district treasuries, whence it is issued to licensed shops where it may be retailed to persons entitled to possess it, namely, medical practitioners, pharmacists, doctors, tattooers, non-Burmans, and, in Lower Burma, only registered Burmans.

NOTE.—The receipts in Bengal include the cost price of opium manufactured for the Excise Department, namely, the figures in the last column of table No. 2 and the corresponding figures for preceding years. There was, however, one exception in 1871-72, when the cost price R15,49,050 was, by special arrangement, credited to Excise revenue

(a) Includes R20,535 being the allowances of a delegate to the International opium conference at Hague, and miscellaneous expenditure

NOTE—(1). All opium imported into China reaches it through Hongkong and Shanghai. But smuggling is extensively carried on between Hongkong and the adjacent coast, above and below Canton and at other Chinese ports, and the net imports in the Chinese Customs Accounts state imperfectly the consumption of Indian opium.

(2) The figures under the head "Sorts" denote Persian and Turkish opium, chiefly Persian, and boiled opium.

(a) Includes figures for Ningpo (a Central Port) up to 1896.

(b) Shows figures for the port of Shanghai only up to 1896.

(c) Includes figures for Wenchow and Hangchow (Central Port) up to 1896.

SALT

[TABLES 1 TO 21, PAGES 64 TO 81]

Compiled from figures specially supplied by the Governments of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Bombay, Madras, Burma, the Chief Commissioner of Assam, the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, and (for Gwalior) by the Agent to the Governor General in Central India, and published in their respective reports on the administration of the Salt Revenue.

Production

The total quantity of salt produced in India in 1911 was over 33 milions of maunds (1,225,513 tons). This quantity was supplemented by about 16 millions of maunds (584,016 tons) of imported salt, the total quantity produced and imported amounting to 49 millions of maunds (1,809,529 tons). From two-thirds to three-fourths of the quantity annually consumed is generally produced in India. Importation is practically limited to salt landed in Bengal and Burma from England, Germany, other countries in Europe, Aden, Muscat, Jeddah, and some Egyptian ports on the Red Sea. There is a trifling import by land by trans-Himalayan routes.

The localities in India where salt is produced, and the quantity (maunds) produced in each of the last three years, are :

For some years previous to 1901, and again in 1902 and 1904, the quantity of salt manufactured by Government was less than the quantity produced by private manufacturers. In 1901 and 1903 the quantity manufactured by Government exceeded the quantity manufactured privately. In 1905 the quantities were almost equal. In 1906 and 1907 the quantity of private salt exceeded the quantity manufactured by Government by over one million maunds and in 1908 by nearly two million maunds. In 1909 the quantity of Government salt exceeded the quantity of private salt by 846,486 maunds and in 1910 by 3,785,703 maunds. In 1911 the quantity of private salt exceeded the quantity manufactured by Government by 735,878 maunds.

Sea salt on the coast of Burma is produced by artificial heat ; on the coasts of Bombay, Sind, and Madras by solar evaporation. In Rajputana and Central India the salt is obtained by evaporation from brine deposits at Sambhar and other places. In the Punjab and Kohat, rock salt is obtained from the Salt Ranges and at Mandi, and brine salt from the sources at Sultanpur, near Delhi. More than half of the whole production is represented by sea salt evaporated on the coasts of Bombay and Madras.

Consumption and Revenue

The figures below indicate the progress in consumption in the last twenty-four years :

Administration

The administrative system for the control of production and the collection of the revenue varies in accordance with local conditions and methods of production. Detailed information regarding the salt administration will be found in the 13th issue of the volume of Financial and Commercial Statistics.

Burma

Lower Burma.—Salt is made at scattered points along the coast by the boiling of sea-water and, in a few places, of saline earth, in pots and cauldrons. Manufacture is permitted in ten districts only. In seven of these a system of direct taxation is in force. In the other three, instead of ascertaining the quantity of salt actually produced, the productive capacity of the vessels employed is estimated, and a charge made on each which is supposed to be about equivalent to the duty on imported salt from time to time. The present rate of import duty is one rupee per maund.

In January 1902 the system of direct taxation on output was introduced into the Hanthawaddy and Bassein Districts, the rate of duty being fixed at eight annas a maund. The system was extended to the Myaungmya District in 1903, to the Mergui and Tavoy Districts in 1904, from the 1st January 1905 to the Amherst District, and from the 1st January 1906 to the Kyaukpyu District. The rate of duty was raised to ten annas a maund from 1st January 1911.

Upper Burma.—In Upper Burma in 1890 a composition duty on the pots or cauldrons used in manufacture was fixed in substitution for previous systems. The duty on salt locally produced is less than the duty imposed on imported salt, viz., R1 per maund, and it is believed that it is not possible to level up the former to the latter without killing the local industry.

Bengal

In October 1897 the administration of the Orissa Salt Department was made over from the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, to the Commissioner of Excise under the Government of Bengal. Advantage was taken of the transfer to create a combined preventive establishment for the whole of Bengal littoral, and the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, was extended from the 9th April 1898 to the districts of the 24-Parganas, Midnapur, Khulna, Backerganj, and Chittagong, Bengal Act VII of 1864 also remaining in force in them. In March 1901 the Act was extended to the districts of Howrah and Noakhali. A proposal for the reorganisation of the Salt Department having been sanctioned by His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in February 1905, preventive operations were started in Chittagong in October 1900 and in Noakhali in October 1905 tentatively for three years. They were also inaugurated on an independent footing in Howrah, where they had been carried on tentatively since January 1902, by a small party under the Inspector of the Tamluk (Tamapakia) Circle in the district of Midnapur. There is no preventive establishment for the district of Backerganj. No salt is produced or manufactured in the province, except that educed in the process of manufacture at the saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its suburbs which is subject to a duty of R1 a maund since the 20th March 1907. In consequence of the territorial re-distribution on the 1st April 1912, the administration of the Orissa Salt Department was made over to the Commissioner of Excise and Salt under the Government of Bihar and Orissa.

The following are the descriptions of salt now commonly imported :

Manufactured by solar evaporation : from Bombay, Madras, Ceylon, Jeddah, Muscat, Egyptian Red Sea ports, Aden, and Spain ;

Manufactured by boiling : from Liverpool and Hamburg ;

Rock salt ; from Muscat.

The rate of duty per maund on salt in Bengal has decreased from R3-4 in 1877 to R1 in 1907.

Bihar and Orissa

From the creation of salt monopoly in 1765, a preventive establishment has been employed for the protection of the revenue, for the most part separate from and independent of the agency controlling the manufacture and sale of salt.

The control of the Salt Department in the saliferous tract of Cuttack, Balasore and Puri in the Orissa Division was previous to the year 1897 under the Government of the Madras Presidency. There were at that time two Government factories for the manufacture of salt in this area, both on the Chilka Lake within the limit of the Puri district. These factories were closed and manufacture of salt discontinued in Orissa with effect from the 1st October 1897 and the control of the Salt Department in Orissa was transferred to the Bengal Government from that date. With the creation of the new Province in 1912 the control of the Salt Department in Orissa has been made over to the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bihar and Orissa.

The control of the Salt Department in the Bihar Districts rests with the Commissioner of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department, and figures for Bihar are included under Northern India. Saltpetre is the principal variety of salt manufactured in this part of the country.

No salt is manufactured in, or imported direct from foreign countries into, Chota Nagpur, and no figures for consumption within Chota Nagpur are available.

There is no direct import from foreign countries into Orissa. Salt imported from foreign countries into Calcutta is re-imported into the bonded warehouses at Chandbally, duty on such salt being paid in Calcutta.

Northern India

The whole Inland Customs Department (now the Department of Salt Revenue in Northern India) is administered by the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, formerly responsible to each of the local Governments and Administrations within whose jurisdictions the customs organisation worked, but now immediately under the Government of India.

The salt works at Sultanpur in the Delhi Division are worked under the supervision of the Northern India Salt Revenue Department, which has also the charge of the mines in the Salt Range in the Punjab, and of a force designated the Internal Branch maintained in Oudh, the Province of Agra, the Punjab, Rajputana, and Bihar, for the supervision of the saltpetre trade, the levy of duty on salt educed from saltpetre, and the control of the manufacture of other saline substances, such as sulphate of soda and carbonate of soda.

SALT—concluded

The general rates of duty on Rajputana salt have varied between R3 in 1877 and R1 in 1907.

Salt excavated in the Sind Saugor Doab and the Kalabagh mines is subject to a duty of R1 per maund since the 20th March 1907, as also salt from the Kohat mines.

Salt educed in the process of manufacturing saltpetre has always been subject to the ordinary duty.

Sind

There are three salt sources in Sind from which salt is now issued to the public, namely, the Maurypur works and the Saran and Dilyar deposits. The Maurypur works, where salt is manufactured by solar evaporation, were opened in the year 1878, and from these the greater portion of the province is supplied. The works are situated on the Moach plain adjacent to the end of Karachi harbour, from which by channels the brine is obtained, reaching the storage wells by percolation through a richly saline soil which greatly increases the strength of it. In 1884 a depôt for the storage and sale of Maurypur salt was opened at Sukkur. Maurypur salt is supplied free of duty to the State of Khairpur, local manufacture there being suppressed.

The Saran and Dilyar deposits were opened in 1879 and 1882, respectively. The salt is formed in a lake from which, when the water dries, salt is excavated and stored. It is supplied to the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages of the districts of Thar and Parkar and Hyderabad.

Bombay

Salt is produced in Bombay for local consumption and for export by land to Central India, Rajputana, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and the Nizam's territories, and by sea to the Malabar Coast of Madras and to Calcutta. Under existing arrangements exports, both by land and sea, pay full excise duty in Bombay, with the exception of those to Travancore and Cochin on which a nominal charge of three pies per maund only to cover cost of establishment at the salt pans, is levied in accordance with a trade convention concluded with Travancore and Cochin in 1865.

Except in Gujarat, the excise system is followed, under which licenses are issued for private manufacture at approved places which are guarded, and whence no removals are allowed, except upon payment of duty, or under credit for payment. In Gujarat, where all the works in British territory are the property of Government, the monopoly system was introduced in 1873-74, and manufacture was concentrated at two places—Kharaghora on the borders of the Runn, and Dharásna on the sea coast of the Surat District. At Kharaghora salt in large crystals is made from brine wells under departmental supervision, bought from the manufacturers as made, stored, and sold at the cost and risk of Government. At Dharásna the salt is ordinary sea-salt and Government merely fixes the price at which it is to be sold without taking it over or interfering directly with manufacture. A small quantity of salt is issued annually free of duty from the works at Kharaghora to certain Native States and Chiefs in pursuance of the arrangements for the establishment of the monopoly.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Bombay Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at 7 annas a maund were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 31 yards in 1911-12.

Madras

There are two systems of salt manufacture in the Presidency, under one of which the salt manufactured is sold to Government only and is disposed of by Government to the trade, whilst under the other Government levies an excise duty, plus a small and varying cess to cover interest on capital cost of works, the property of Government, and the cost of any repairs effected by it on account of the licensees at the time of removal from the factory, and allows the manufacturers to make such arrangements as they please for the disposal of the salt. In both cases the production of salt is only allowed in well-fenced factories and subject to Government supervision, but, except in matters endangering the revenue, little interference is exercised in the details of manufacture under the excise system. The rate paid by Government for its salt varies, but may be taken roughly at an anna and a half per maund. This is only the bare cost of manufacture and does not include cost of works, storage, transport, etc. The duty on salt is ordinarily payable before the salt is removed from the factory, but six months' credit may be allowed to approved merchants on the deposit of security in Government promissory notes and a few other specified kinds of securities.

In Malabar no salt is manufactured, and that region is supplied by imports from Bombay, Goa, and other places.

By agreement the French Government undertakes to prevent the manufacture of salt throughout its possessions in India, and in consideration receives payments annually aggregating R4,41,600, and obtains its supply of salt at cost price. The authorities of the French settlements in Madras indent on the nearest British factories for the salt they require and undertake to sell it at the approximate prices charged in British territory. The correspondence is not complete because they sell by measure and not by weight.

Until 1865 the manufacture of salt was a Government monopoly in Travancore and Cochin, the selling price in Travancore being R1-1 a maund, and in Cochin annas 12. In that year both the States agreed to adopt the British Indian selling price of salt.

Fish-curing.—In order to reduce the hardship caused by the interference of the preventive operations of the Madras Salt Department with the use of illicit salt and salt earth for fish-curing, yards for fish-curing at which salt is sold at cost price (that is, cost plus cost of transport from the factory) were established at all important fishing centres along the coast; there were 132 such yards in 1911-12.

NOTE.—This table states the quantity of salt actually consumed in each province, and the duty thereon calculated at the rate in operation in each province, except that the figures under Bombay include salt exported to the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Central India, the Central Provinces, Mysore, and the Nizam's Territories. From the 18th March 1903 the general rate of duty was reduced from R2½ to R2 per maund, and in the case of salt manufactured in certain Kohat mines the duty was altered from ₹2 per Lahori maund to R1½ per Indian maund. A further reduction in the general rate from R2 to R1½ per maund took effect from the 22nd March 1905. The general duty was again reduced from R1½ to R1 per maund with effect from the 20th March 1907. In Burma the rate remains unaltered, namely, R1 per maund

† Includes Orissa up to 1910-11, and excludes Eastern Bengal from 1st October 1905 to 31st March 1911 figures for that tract for that period not being available

‡ Figures up to 1910-11 included under Bengal

(a) The sums entered under Duty include duty on excised as well as on imported salt. The quantity of the former is not entered in the figure under Quantity, only rough estimates being available

(b) Exclusive of 46,706 maunds of salt issued under the credit system

(c) Exclusive of 2,929,191 maunds of salt issued under the credit system

(d) Exclusive of R13,47,626 adjusted under the credit system

(e) Exclusive of R41,06,716 adjusted under the credit system

[TABLES 1 TO 13, PAGES 83 TO 100]

(Compiled from special official returns)

The stamp revenue is derived from two great classes of stamps—judicial or court-fee stamps and non-judicial or revenue stamps. Judicial or court-fee stamps are provided for by the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870; non-judicial stamps by the Indian Stamp Act, II of 1899. Both these Acts have been amended from time to time by subsequent legislation.

The immediate control of the stamp revenue is vested in the local Governments, subject to the general supervision of the Government of India.

The stamps are manufactured in England, the quantities required for consumption being sent to India on annual indents. They are consigned to the Central Stamp depôts at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, and Karáchi, whence supplies are distributed to local depôts and offices on indent. The Central depôts supply the requirements of the different provinces as shewn below :—

Calcutta	Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Central India, and the Central Provinces and Berar (in regard to stamps for copies).
Madras	Madras Presidency, Coorg, and the treasuries at Bangalore and Travancore.
Bombay	Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), the Central Provinces and Berar (except in regard to stamps for copies which, as stated above, are supplied from the Calcutta Depôt), and Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana.
Rangoon	Burma and the Andamans.
Karáchi	Sind, Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, the Punjab, Rajputana (except Abu, Anadra, and the connected areas in Rajputana, which, as stated above, are supplied from the Bombay Depôt), the Residency treasuries in Kashmir, the Khorasan Agency treasury, and the areas under the jurisdiction of the Political Resident in the Persian Gulf.

In each province there is a Superintendent of Stamps,—(in Bengal and Madras he is a member of the Board of Revenue, in the United Provinces, the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue and in the Punjab, the Financial Commissioner), who ordinarily combines other functions with the function of administering the stamp revenue. Stamps are sold by certain officials (such as postmasters) and by licensed vendors whose business is conducted under rules framed by the local authorities, and to whom stamps are supplied in quantity at various rates of discount.

Two kinds of stamps—adhesive and impressed—are used to denote the payment of duty on instruments; and impressed stamps are again of two classes, namely, impressed sheets, the paper bearing the impression of stamps of varying values engraved thereon, and impressed labels which are affixed to instruments by Government officers empowered to do so. These officers are required, when affixing the labels, to impress them by means of a stamping machine, and also to stamp or write on the face of the label the date of impression, their initials being added when the duty amounts to five rupees and upwards, and their signatures (under the label) when the duty amounts to twenty rupees or more. The centres provided for the purpose of affixing and impressing labels are—the Calcutta, Chittagong, Dacca, Godavari, Tinnevelly, Malabar, and South Canara collectorates; the Moulmein, Akyab, and Bassein treasuries; the offices of the Superintendents of Stamps at Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Karáchi, Nagpur, and Aden; and the offices of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh and the Financial Commissioner in the Punjab.

The various classes of stamps with their values are :—

Unified postage and revenue stamps	Half-anna and one anna
Foreign bill stamps	from 2 annas to 6 rupees
Share-transfer stamps	„ „ „ „ 10 „
Special adhesive stamps	„ „ „ „ 1,000 „
Hundi stamped paper	„ „ „ „ 15 „

Adhesive court-fee stamps	„ 1 anna „ 6 „
Impressed „ „	„ 10 rupees „ 1,000 „
Stamps for copies	„ 2 annas „ 2 „

EXCISE

[TABLES 1 TO 15, PAGES 104 TO 139]

(Compiled from special official returns)

During the ten years ending with 1911-12 the net receipts from the excise duties increased from R6,30,12,984 to R10,76,45,795, the increase being at the rate of 71 per cent. The receipts from opium (consumed in India, not exported) rose from R1,08,17,526 to R1,57,46,775, being at the rate of 45 per cent. The chief increase occurred in the net receipts from liquors and from drugs other than opium (including miscellaneous receipts), which rose from R5,21,95,458 to R9,18,99,020, the increase being at the rate of 76 per cent. This large increase is due, not merely to the expansion of consumption, but also to the imposition of progressively higher rates of duty and the increasingly effective control of the excise administration.

Madras contributes the largest proportion of the liquor revenue, about 32 per cent, Bombay and Bengal contributing 20 and 9 per cent respectively.

The revenue from drugs (excluding opium) has risen in the ten years from R66,85,846 to R1,13,85,744, the increase being at the rate of 70 per cent.

The sources of the excise revenue, and the gross revenue obtained from each in 1911-12, are :

	R
Spirits	8,56,47,641
Beer	9,23,828
Opium	1,57,46,775
Intoxicating drugs, other than opium	1,13,85,744
Miscellaneous	4,01,157

The incidence in 1911-12 of excise taxation per head of the population (according to the census of 1911) is :—

Bombay	1	0	6·53
Burma	0	11	0·95
Madras	0	11	7·41
Central Provinces and Berar	0	10	5·72
Bengal	0	4	8·52
Bihar and Orissa	0	4	7·02
Assam	0	10	7·66
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	0	3	9·3
Punjab	0	5	1·15
North-West Frontier Province	0	1	6·38

The incidence per head in all British India was about 7 annas and 6 pies.

Of the excise revenue of Bengal nearly 34 per cent was contributed by Calcutta. The cities of Bombay and Madras yielded 21 and 7 per cent respectively of the revenue of those provinces.

Below are stated the rates of excise duty on liquors, opium, and other drugs levied in each province during 1911-12 :

(In Baluchistan only Government Excise opium is allowed to be sold and the difference between the cost price (R8-8-0, and the selling price (at present R16 a ser) is reckoned as duty and classified in the accounts as "gain on sale proceeds of excise opium").

The figures formerly given in these tables were revised in 1905, owing mainly to the inclusion of the duty on Malwa opium realised in the Punjab from 1882-83, the exclusion of certain receipts on account of the Excluded Local Funds in the Central India Agencies from 1893-94, and the inclusion of the license and distillery fees and duties realised in the Military Department from 1897-98 and of the excise revenue for Bangalore from 1900-01, which had hitherto been omitted from the head "India, general."

Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for these provinces have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shown under the head of "spirits" and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out from the year 1878-79, except in the case of Allahabad, where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available.

The tables which follow have been restricted to twenty-five years. For figures for the years prior to 1886-87, the 1st issue of Statistics of British India—Part IV(b) Finance and Revenue—may be referred to.

NOTE.—Until 1903-04 receipts on account of license fees for tari and opium in the United Provinces were included under the head "Miscellaneous receipts." The figures for the United Provinces in Tables Nos. 1, 1—A, 2, 2—A, 3, 3—A, 3—A, 4, 4—B and 14 have now been revised and receipts on account of license fees for tari are shown under the head of "spirits" and those for opium license fees under the head of "opium." The revision has been carried out, except in the case of Allahabad where the receipts prior to 1901-02 are not available

* Includes Coorg, Central India, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan from 1882-83; and Bangalore from 1900-01. (The figures for Central India have been revised with effect from 1893-94)

† From 1897-98 the figures include license and distillery fees and duties, etc., realised in the Military Department

‡ The increase in 1908-09 is due to the inclusion of receipts in Central India which were credited in former years to the Local Abkari Fund, which was abolished on 1st April 1908

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

This section gives details of Provincial Rates, which, till 1907-08, included, amongst others, (1) district Local Fund cess, (2) provincial cesses for expenditure on roads, schools, famine assurances, canals, etc., and (3) cess for village services and patwaris. But from 1908-09 onwards the only cess of any importance which is brought into the general accounts is the Public Works cess in Bengal and the districts of Eastern Bengal. The only other large item included in the total is the amount which the Government of the United Provinces appropriates from the local rates for the payment of rural Police in Agra. With a few petty exceptions, namely, the cess levied in Indore at one rupee per chest of Malwa Opium in transit to Bombay and the assessment on Wards' Estates for establishment charges in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the United Provinces, and the Punjab, all the other rates and cesses named below which formerly appeared under this head are now credited to local funds, having been excluded from the general estimates and accounts of the Empire. The total receipts are now less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue, and amount to Rs. 82,30,195.

The District Local Fund cesses on land were imposed in most provinces in 1870 and 1871. They are in most instances collected jointly with the land revenue and rise or fall with it.

The so-called famine cesses levied in the United Provinces, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces were remitted during 1905-06, and the remissions were partly compensated for by enhanced receipts in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

During 1906-07 the patwari cess in the United Provinces, the Punjab, Ajmer, the Central Provinces, and the Sambalpur district of Bengal was repealed, and the ryotwari village service cess in Madras, the village service cess in Coorg, and the zamindari dāk cess in Bengal and Eastern Bengal were abolished.

In 1907-08 the proprietary estates village service cess was extended to Madras.

The expenditure in 1911-12 on account of establishment and other charges was about R85,000 and was incurred in Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

CUSTOMS REVENUE

[TABLES 1 TO 5, PAGES 144 TO 153]

(Compiled from official returns and the customs circulars published by the Government of India)

The first two tables of the series state the amount of duty collected each year, and the others state the rate of duty imposed on all principal articles of merchandise by the schedules of the various Tariff Acts passed since 1882 and thus constitute a history of the legislation respecting customs duties since that year. For the rates for earlier years, the first issue of the Statistics of British India may be referred to.

Import duties.—From 1859 to 1864 the general rate of import duty was 10 per cent, this heavy rate having been imposed as one of the means of redressing the financial position which had been seriously affected by the mutiny of 1857. The rate was found to be so high as to operate in restriction of consumption, and in 1864 it was reduced to 7½ per cent. That rate was allowed to remain until 1875 when it was reduced to 5 per cent. In 1882 the import duties were repealed, the only articles left on the tariff schedule being liquors, arms, opium (the latter giving a nominal revenue, as the duty is meant to be prohibitory), and salt. The last-named article appears at the foot of the first table, but the collections are not included in the total of the customs revenue, as the entire revenue from imported and Indian salt is credited in the public accounts to a separate head (Salt) and is dealt with in another section of this part.

Between 1882 and 1894 the following changes were made in the tariff: the duty on liquors was increased in 1887 and again in 1890, and the duty on salt was increased in 1888; a duty was imposed on petroleum in 1888, and on dry and wet salt-fish imported into Burma from any place beyond the limits of British India in 1893.

In March 1894 the tariff was re-established much as it had stood in 1875: imports generally were subjected to duty at the rate of 5 per cent, but the duty on most classes of iron and steel was fixed at 1 per cent, and a few articles remained exempt from duty, the most important being food-grains, machinery, railway material, coal, and cotton yarn and manufactured goods.

In December 1894 cotton yarn of a certain fineness and cotton manufactures containing such yarn were made dutiable at the general rate of import duty (5 per cent), but a further change was made in February 1896, when cotton yarn and cotton sewing thread were exempted from duty, and the rate of duty on all other cotton goods irrespective of fineness was reduced to 3½ per cent. The imposition of a duty on imported cotton goods was accompanied by the imposition of an equivalent excise duty on cotton goods woven in the Indian mills.

In 1896 the exemption of machinery was restricted to machinery required for certain specified industries, and from time to time additions were made to the list of industries. In 1899 the restriction was removed and all machinery was exempted without reference to the industry for which it was required. In the same year sugar imported from countries which grant bounties on export was charged with an additional duty equivalent to the bounties, and in June 1902 an amendment of the Tariff Act, VIII of 1902, authorised special duties being imposed on sugar produced in countries where the difference between the rate of duty or other taxation to which foreign sugars are subject and that imposed on the home product exceeds 6 fr. per 100 kilos for refined sugar and 5 fr. 50 centimes for other sugar, the duty being limited to half such excess. Such special duties were imposed from time to time by notifications on sugar produced in Austria-Hungary, Germany, France, Denmark, the Argentine Republic, and Russia. Section 8-B of the Act, in pursuance of which these special duties were imposed, expired on the 31st August 1903, but an amending Act, passed on the 28th August 1903, authorised the continuance, until the 31st March 1904, of the duties which had been imposed under that section. By a further Act passed on the 25th March 1904, the same section was revived and continued in force with effect from the 1st April 1904. The additional and special duties were, however, remitted by notification in respect of sugar produced after the 31st August 1903 in countries which were parties to the Brussels Sugar Convention of 1902. These countries are Belgium, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. The duties have also been remitted in respect of sugar produced in Russia with effect from 1st September 1908. The countervailing duty on Chilian sugar was remitted in November 1909. Special duties were chargeable on sugar imported from Denmark and the Argentine Republic up to 31st March 1912: they were subsequently withdrawn as from 6th April and 27th July 1912 respectively.

By Act I of 1906 the rates of import duty on ordinary spirits were raised from R6 to R7 per imperial gallon, on liqueurs from R6 to R10, and on perfumed spirits from R8 to R11.

By Act II of 1908 the rate of duty on ale, beer, porter, cider, and other fermented liquors was raised from one anna to two annas per imperial gallon.

By Act VIII of 1910 the duty on all sorts of liquors and on petroleum was raised, unmanufactured tobacco was made dutiable, specific rates were imposed on silver and on both manufactured and unmanufactured tobacco, and alkaloids of opium were made subject to the same duty as opium.

By Act VI of 1911 the rates on tobacco, both manufactured and unmanufactured, were reduced.

Export duties.—The general rate of export duty from 1859 to 1867 was 3 per cent. Many articles were subject to taxation in 1859, but the list was gradually reduced until, in 1867, it consisted of cotton manufactures, indigo, rice, wheat, and other grains, tanned and dressed hides and skins, lac, oils, seeds, spices and shawls. The list was then further gradually reduced, until finally rice alone remained in 1882, this being the only dutiable export at present, besides rice-flour, which has been subject to duty since August 1893.

A customs duty at the rate of a quarter of a pie (one forty-eighth of an anna) per pound has also been levied, from the 1st April 1903, on all tea produced in India and exported from any customs port to any other

Customs revenue.—The revenue from the import and export duties in the four quinquennial periods ending 1896-97, 1901-02, 1906-07 and 1911-12, and in the years 1910-11 and 1911-12 is stated below (in rupees). The great expansion of the export duties in the three years 1902-03 to 1904-05 was due to the large rice crops in Burma, of which an unusually large proportion was exported to foreign countries as a result of good harvests in India and consequent smaller demand for Burmese rice.

INCOME TAX

[TABLES 1 TO 11, PAGES 155 TO 164]

(Figures supplied by the Local Governments and Administrations)

The Income Tax Act, II of 1886, came into operation on the 1st April 1886. It took the place of various local Acts under which annual licenses were required for the exercise of trades, dealings, or industries. The net revenue obtained from the taxation imposed under those Acts, which were in force in the provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, and the Punjab, was, in the last year of their existence, R47,28,000; in the first year of the operation of the Income Tax Act the net revenue realised was R1,27,75,100. The proceeds of the tax increased steadily from year to year at an average rate of 3 per cent annually up to the end of 1902-03. With effect from the 1st April 1903 the taxable minimum of income was raised from R500 to R1,000 by the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903. The tax is now levied at the rate of four pies in the rupee on incomes of R1,000 but less than R2,000, and five pies in the rupee on incomes of R2,000 and over (2·08 and 2·6 per cent respectively). The proceeds of the tax on incomes of R500 but less than R1,000 were, in 1902-03, nearly 38 lakhs of rupees or 18 per cent of the total. The net decrease in the proceeds of the tax in the year 1903-04 was 14 per cent. The revenue obtained from incomes of each of the descriptions specified in the Schedule of the Act, and the proportion of each, were in 1909-10, 1910-11 and 1911-12:

	1909-10		1910-11		1911-12
	R		R		R
I.—Salaries and Pensions	68,59,017	= 29·57 per cent	64,14,945	= 27·93 per cent	68,40,649	= 28·49 per cent
II.—Profits of Companies	27,92,116	= 12·04 „	25,09,943	= 10·93 „	25,32,230	= 10·55 „
III.—Interest on Securities	11,63,144	= 5·01 „	11,85,451	= 5·15 „	12,11,310	= 5·05 „
IV.—Other sources of Income	1,23,81,206	= 53·38 „	1,28,54,031	= 55·99 „	1,34,19,531	= 55·91 „
TOTAL	2,31,95,483	= 100	2,29,64,370	= 100	2,40,03,720	= 100

The variations in these proportions since the Act came into force have been small.

The total collections comprise the actual tax collected in the year and the arrears of previous years. Refunds are not deducted from the figures shewn as "collections" in these tables. They amounted to R1,36,314 in 1909-10, R96,000 in 1910-11 and R1,07,055 in 1911-12, being two-fifth per cent on the total collections. The figures for each province are as follows:—

	1909-10	1910-11	1911-12
	R	R
Burma	9,904	12,668	10,771
Assam			467
Bengal	5,526	10,991	4,673
Bihar and Orissa			3,832

Bombay	28,110	29,514	36,367
Central Provinces and Berar	6,173	4,184	3,231
Madras	59,929	23,382	25,252
Ajmer-Merwara	2	20	5,509

The total number of persons assessed to the tax has always been a very small fraction of the total population. In the first year it amounted to 354,594. In 1902-03 it was 507,041. The result of the Indian Income Tax (Amendment) Act of 1903 was to reduce the total number of assessees to 237,673 or 47 per cent of the number assessed in 1902-03. But since then the number has risen slowly but steadily, and in 1911-12 it amounted to 300,232.

The number of persons assessed to income-tax, exclusive of Government servants assessed on their salaries in the principal provinces in 1911-12 and the incidence of the tax per head of population were as follows:—

	Number	Incidence per head of population
		a.	p.
Bengal	48,312	4	7·8
Burma	51,579	3	11·4
Bombay	19,390	2	4·7
Madras	47,865	1	1·2
Punjab	25,222	1	0·5
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	31,770	0	8·1
North-West Frontier Province	1,894	0	8·2
Central Provinces and Berar	9,739	0	7·5
Assam	4,436	0	8·7
Bihar and Orissa	16,887	0	5·8

The collections of the tax in 1911-12 classified according to the amount of annual income were in classes I to IV (annual incomes of R1,000 to R2,000) about R50 lakhs, and in classes V to XIII (annual incomes of R2,000 and upwards) over R189 lakhs. The first four classes, that is, those paying the rate of four pies in the rupee, contain 187,380 assessees or 65 per cent of the total and return only 21 per cent of the total collections. The other nine classes contain 100,337 tax-payers who pay about 79 per cent of the total collections. The total income on which the tax was assessed, calculated from the amount of tax paid, was in round figures over 9,670 lakhs of rupees, equivalent to about £64,530,000. The annual income of the tax-payers in the first four classes is 2,398 lakhs of rupees making an average of R1,280 for each assessee. The total income of the tax-payers in the nine higher classes was 7,262 lakhs of rupees which gives an average of R7,238 for each assessee.

* Under the Income Tax Act, II of 1886, the taxable minimum of income was ₹500. By the Income Tax (Amendment) Act, XI of 1903, this minimum was raised to ₹1,000. Under the original Act the first two classes of incomes were (I) ₹500 but less than ₹750 and (II) ₹750 but less than ₹1,000. On the passing of the amendment Act of 1903 these two classes were left out. The figures from 1903-04 under the old classes represent collections of arrears of Income Tax assessed in 1902-03

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The statistics of revenue recorded in this table represent tributes received from Native States, in several cases as a result of exchanges of territory and settlement of claims, and contributions made chiefly in lieu of former obligations to supply or maintain troops, the latter constituting a small return for the duty undertaken by the Supreme Government in ensuring the peace of the country. The figures do not show any important fluctuations from year to year except for arrears and their recovery and the levy of fees on succession (nazarana) in some cases.

The total receipts are less than one per cent of the total Indian revenue. The tributes and contributions amount to nearly 88 per cent, and those for special military forces are over 11 per cent of the total receipts. Fees on succession are on the average nearly 1 per cent.

Madras contributes nearly 51 per cent, India—General, which includes tributes and contributions from amongst others the Udaipur, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kotah, Bhopal, and Jowrah States, nearly 23 per cent, Bombay 14 per cent, and Burma 5 per cent.

(Compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The interest receipts in this section do not include interest on public works capital. The most important items included under this head of revenue are the loans and advances made by the Imperial Government to the Presidency Corporations and to Native States, as well as those by the Provincial Governments to mofussil municipalities and cultivators. The amount of the interest accrued on the former comes to about 30 per cent, and on the latter 28 per cent of total receipts. This head also includes the interest on the securities held by the Paper Currency Department which contributes about 24 per cent of the total. There are other minor items, such as interest on securities of provincial funds, on arrears of revenue, and on overdrawn capital of guaranteed railways, which are included under this head of revenue.

The total receipts amount to about $1\frac{1}{5}$ per cent of the total Indian revenue. India—General, which includes the transactions of the Government of India, contributes nearly one half of the receipts, Bombay about a fifth, Bengal an eighth, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh nearly one-eleventh and Madras about one-seventeenth.
